MD Week Is Successful

Muscular Dystrophy Week turned out to be quite a success. At the Awards Ceremony that was held at 6 p.m. on Monday, November 14, in the Vandalia Room, Lou Ellen Wentz, chairman for M.D. Week, reported that $833.15 has been deposited.

The Lift-a-thon was held on Tuesday. The winner in the men's division with the best lift and best percentage was Allen Smith who weighed in at 140 lbs. and bench pressed 310 lbs. In the women's division, Anita Osburn won with the best percentage and best leg press with 390 lbs. She weighed in at 140 lbs. Mel Jackson brought in the most money, raising $41.60. Steve Gregori coordinated the Lift-a-thon, and it was sponsored by Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity.

Steve Carper took first place in the video tournament held on Wednesday. Second place was taken by Dwayne Booth.

The Walk-a-thon was held on Thursday. First place winner went to Julian Sulgit

Comedy To Open Wednesday

The play, California Suite, a comedy by Neil Simon will be held on Wednesday and Thursday, November 16 and 17 in the auditorium.

The play deals with Suites 203 and 204 of a California hotel and its barrage of guests.

The first guests, played by Mike Dotson and Kristina Bush, are a middle-aged divorced couple who bicker about which one is going to end up with their teenage daughter.

The next visitors are a happily married husband and wife, Gary Ross and Kelli King, who are on their first vacation in California. The husband arrived a day earlier than his wife, got drunk and picked up a hooker, played by Pam McVey. The hooker is still in bed when the wife gets there which leads to an amusing situation.

The third visitors are another couple with a rather unique relationship. Diana, played by Kelly Davis, is an Oscar nominated actress married to a gay antique dealer. It's awards night and the outcome of the awards presentation and a bout with alcohol make for a lot of fun.

The fourth and final guests are two couples vacationing together, something they have done before. Mort and Beth Hollander (Tim Mace and Tammi Igo), play a game of tennis with Stu and Gert Franklyn (Tim Pittman and Mitzi Whited) and Beth breaks her ankle. The Franklyns use this to their advantage and continue playing and winning the game. This is the straw that broke the camel's back and what evolves from the situation should be a lesson on why friends should not vacation together.

California Suite is being used as the fall production of this season's GSC theatre. It is unique in that the four different parts are directed by four different members of the Speech 331 class. Part one is directed by Jack Kalmar, part two: Mark Kozlowski; part three: Randy Harper and part four Joe Stephens.

109 Students To Receive Degrees

The Office of Academic Affairs, under the leadership of Dr. Bruce C. Flack, has released the list of prospective graduates from GSC who will be receiving their degrees in December.

A total of 109 degrees will be conferred. Ninety-eight are bachelor degrees, and 11 are associate degrees.

Nearly half of these will be Bachelor of Arts in Education, as 53 students in this field are expected to graduate. There will be 22 Bachelor of Arts in Business Administration degrees conferred, six Bachelor of Arts degrees, five Bachelor in Social Work degrees, one Bachelor of Science degree, and 11 Regents Bachelor of Arts degrees. In addition, there will be eight Associate in Arts degrees conferred and three Associate in Science degrees.

Following is a list of those students expected to graduate and their field of study.

Intervisitation To Be Debated

Not too long ago, intervisitation between members of the opposite sex in residence halls was practically non-existent. You've heard the story--doors open, feet on the floor at all times, etc.

Well, times have changed, and so has the intervisitation policy at GSC. The current policy (more conservative than at some colleges and more liberal than at others) allows intervisitation in the residence halls four days out of seven for various time periods.

Many students do not agree with the policy at GSC. It is looked on as both too strict and too free. Whatever the opinion is on the hours of intervisitation, it is an issue which is debated annually on campus.

This year, the governing boards of Louis Bennett and Pickens Halls are attempting to formulate a survey to find out exactly how students feel about intervisitation. After it is distributed, voted upon, and tabulated, the survey will be presented to the appropriate administrative officials for further action.

When voting on a matter such as this, various factors should be considered. Intervisitation is used as a time to study with friends, as a time for social activity, etc., and many people are involved. Individual freedom is important, but so is the privacy of others. So, when voting, weigh all of the factors, then decide. Remember, you have to live with these people.

From The Wesley Foundation

The Wesley Foundation will be open on Friday for students who need to wait for rides beyond the time the dorms close. Please feel free to wait with us!

The Family Entertainment Night movie this week is: "Snoopy, Come Home." Please come and enjoy it with us.

Need a place to store your plants during vacation? Leave them at the Wesley Foundation on Friday, the 18. They will be cared for and watered during your vacation. Please attach your name and room number to each plant pot...and plan to pick them up on Monday, the 28.

We're proud to cooperated with international students at GSC and the Glenville Rotary Club in a "Festival Day for International Peace and Understanding." The purpose of the festival is to provide an opportunity by which the campus community and the Glenville community can be made aware of other cultures. The festival will be held in the Wesley Foundation on Tuesday, November 29. The festival will feature media presentations on international efforts (2-4 p.m.); a session on the involvement of the United States in the Middle East, focusing particularly on the recent development in Lebanon (4-5 p.m.); opportunities to meet with international students of GSC and several secondary students staying in the Glenville area (5-6 p.m.); and a buffet, which will feature a sampling of foods from other nations and cultures (6:30-7:30 p.m.). Please plan to join us at any or all of the sessions.

Tau Kappa Epsilon
The Iota Omega Chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon held its weekly meeting Sunday, November 13. Plans were discussed for the Red Carnation Ball which will be held December 16. All fraters are reminded to carry out their duties for the Red Carnation Ball. We also voted on the new OD's. Congratulations girls! You're all in so far. Final initiation will be December 4.

There will be a dance in the Pioneer Center ballroom Thursday, November 17. There will be music, pop and two to three kegs of refreshments, and also something new, a pepper-eating contest. All are invited to come over and party for the last time before vacation.

All fraters are also urged to hand in their arrow money.

Finally, congratulations to fraters Byron Brooks and Greg Lambert for their win Saturday and the great second place finish. Could the Pioneers be one of the "beasts in the East"?

Phi Beta Lambda
Phi Beta Lambda held its regular business meeting on Thursday, November 10.

Plans were made for Free Enterprise Week, December initiation, and our Christmas party.

The drawing for our cash giveaway will be Thursday, November 17. Everyone should turn in his tickets to the Division of Business before 12:00 on that day.

Have a nice break and a happy Thanksgiving.

Sigma Sigma Sigma
The Delta Alpha Chapter of Tri Sigma Sorority met for their weekly meeting on Monday, November 14 in the Sigma lounge. Members were reminded of the Panhellenic meeting Thursday in the Little Theatre.

Pledges are sponsoring a pool party on November 30. All Sigma sisters are invited. A secret sister week is being planned for December 5-9. A Christmas party will be held for secret sisters to be "discovered" on December 13.

Sisters of the Week were the Food Pantry crew: Susan, Kellee, Cyndi, Louella, Pam, and Kassie. Cultured Pearl Award goes to Arnie Headley and Susan Smith.

Chi Beta Phi
Chi Beta Phi, the honorary math and science fraternity, will hold its initiation ceremony Thursday at 6 p.m.

The Chi Beta Phi Fraternity is for anyone interested in math and science and other related fields. The Alpha Iota Chapter is sponsored by Dr. Mildred Disko and officers are: David Husk-President; David Sypolt-Vice-President; and Frank Crum-Secretary.

There are two types of memberships available--national and associate. The requirements for national membership are a 2.8 GPA and 20 hours in math/science courses. Associate memberships are for anyone interested in the fields and promoting the activities of the Chi Beta Phi Chapter.

Students who are members of the Teacher Education Committee are requested to attend a meeting at 12:30 on Tuesday, November 29, in the Verona Mapel Room of the Pioneer Center.

Certificates may be picked up in the MERCURY office for those recently honored by inclusion in WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES.

There will be a student recital for 14 music majors on Thursday, November 17 at 7 p.m. in the Little Theatre. An honors recital will also be held on December 4.

There will be a Kappa Delta Pi meeting on Thursday, November 17, 1983 at 4 p.m. Plans for the Christmas party and fall banquet will be discussed. All members are urged to attend.

Letter to the Editor

Students and Faculty of Glenville State College:

We would like to extend our appreciation for your support during Muscular Dystrophy Week. Without your support, it would not have been possible to raise the money for "Jerry's kids." The time and hard work on your part not only brought us to our goal of raising money for neuromuscular disease research, but also reflects the friendliness and caring of our campus. Thank you all for your support and cooperation.

Special thanks goes to: Bill Stackman, Joe Drahnak, Shelly Morris, Steve Gregori, Jimmy Boggs, Kellee Booth, Lucie O'Brien, Bill Curry, Ms. Mysliwicz, Shirley Williams, Julian Sulgit, Delton Sigley, Mark Martin, Jamie Martin, Kim Honaker, Dr. Hymes, Genice Bell, Leah Blair, Anita Stephenson, Mitzi Whited, Lambda Chi Alpha, Tau Kappa Epsilon, Theta Xi, Sigma Sigma Sigma, Delta Zeta, SEA, Forestry Club, PBL, Media Center, Randy Atkinson, Terry Mullooly, Carol Sidwell, MERCURY, and all participants.

Sincerely,

Athlete's Addition

Congratulations and good luck are in store this week for the accomplishments of the football team and the upcoming journey for the harriers to Wisconsin.

Frank Vincent's gridmen have just finished their best season in a decade. The Pioneers closed out their season with five straight wins to notch second place in the conference.

The defense, presently ranked fourth in the nation, has proved all season long just how tough those guys can be. Glenville averaged only 13 points a game on offense, but thanks in a large part to the defensive eleven's ability to hold opponents to less than 10 points per week, they managed to win six games.

A 12-hour trip is in store for James Hilgenberg's cross country runners. The three-time West Virginia Conference champions will be off to Kenosha, Wisconsin this evening. This is the third trip to the national meet at Wisconsin for most of the seniors on this year's team. This race will be the last and will close out the astonishing cross country career of Larry Taylor.

One last note: the men's varsity basketball squad will play their first home game on Saturday, November 19. They will play Ohio Dominican in the Physical Education Building. If at all possible, one should try to attend the contest to help support the cagers.

Training Course To Be Decided

The long push for an athletic training curriculum at GSC finally seems to be near an end. Pending approval from the GSC curriculum committee this week and the West Virginia Board of Regents in December, the program will go into effect in the fall, 1984 semester.

As it stands now, the curriculum for those entering the athletic training field will consist of 15 hours for physical education majors and 31 hours for non-physical education majors. Students entering the program as freshmen will take first aid and health in their first semester and then enter into the following sequence: Introduction to Athletic Training (3 hours); Human Nutrition (3 hours); Training Room Modalities, a class designed for students to learn treatments and modalities used in sports medicine, accompanied by a lab (4 hours); Developing and Implementing Training and Conditioning Programs, which offers instruction in setting up strength programs for specific sports for off-season, pre-season, and during the season (2 hours); and Care and Prevention of Athletic Injuries (3 hours). While working through this sequence, the student must complete 800 hours of practical work under the supervision of the trainer either with specific sports or in the training room.

QB Metheny Earns Honor

Senior quarterback Jeff Metheny received WVC Offensive Player of the Week honors for his accomplishments on the grid iron two weeks ago.

The Pioneer signal caller ran for 70 yards and connected on 13 of 18 passes for 133 more yards in the air. He also was personally responsible for both of Glenville State's two touchdowns in their 14-7 win, one on a first quarter touchdown run and the other coming in the third quarter on a ten yard pass.

The West Preston native's outstanding day came against the nation's number one defense, Concord.

Ladies Fall In Scrimmage

"It was a learning experience. . . we weren't too fundamentally sound and found our weaknesses that we need to work on." After last Sunday's scrimmage with highly-touted Pitt-Johnstown, this is what GSC student assistant women's basketball coach Mark Kozlowski had to say.

The Lady Pioneers played even with their nationally-ranked opposition for most of the first half. Host Pitt-Johnstown then proceeded to gradually work on the female cagers until the final buzzer, outscoring the ladies, 82-49.

The next contest for the ladies is next Wednesday at Elon, South Carolina for a two-day tournament.

Pacing Glenville in the scoring department were Kim Maynard with 12 points and Bunny Taylor netting 11 points. Jewell Rankin hit on four baskets, Tina Burkhammer and Maria Lothes each scored five points, and Sonja Bailey and Janice Hensley both scored four points.

"Our offense ran well when we stayed with the play that was called. We broke their man-to-man press," claimed Kozlowski, "but then sometimes we took a bad shot, percentage-wise."

Due to an ailment in the family, head coach Tim Carney was unavailable for comment on the results of the scrimmage.

Pioneers Trample Tech 14-10

One quick early score in the first quarter and another late in the third stanza, along with one of the nation's stingiest defenses, was all Glenville State College needed to up end West Virginia Tech, 14-10, for their fifth straight win.

Set up by senior defensive back Scott Taylor's interception, the Pioneer offensive unit drove 73 yards in only five plays, climaxing on Jeff Metheny's one-yard run. This score with only 4:13 gone in the game was highlighted by halfback Byron Brooks' 63-yard run to the Tech seven yard line.

Midway through the second quarter the Golden Bears evened the score at 7-7. Host Tech received a Glenville fumble on the Pioneer 20-yard line which set up the seven yard scoring pass.

A 12 play, 66-yard scoring drive nearing the end of the third quarter proved to be the game winner. Brooks went over from two yards out to give the Pioneers a 14-7 lead.

A few minutes later Tech tacked on a field goal to end the scoring.

This victory clinched second place in the West Virginia Conference grid standings for the season. The Pioneers finished their season 6-2-1 overall, 6-2 in conference play. The five game winning streak is the longest for Glenville since the 1973 championship team.

Brooks led the way on the ground with 124 yards last Saturday finishing him up with 94 yards total for this season. Quarterback Metheny hit on seven of eleven passing attempts for 60 yards. Sophomore John Trew and Greg Lambert led all receivers with two receptions each.

Glenville's defense, second in the conference and perhaps in the nation, limited Tech to 132 yards of total offense, eighty-nine yards coming on the ground in 44 attempts, and the other 43 coming in the air.

Runners Journey To Kenosha

For the third time in as many years, the GSC cross country team, under head coach James Hilgenberg, will be travelling to Kenosha, Wisconsin for the national cross country meet.

The five-mile course on the University of Wisconsin-Parkside campus will be fielding roughly 36 teams and almost 400 runners.

Hilgenberg feels, "It is a great honor to be able to go, but it also takes on a great deal of responsibility. There are about 200 teams across the nation that compete in NAIA cross country, but only 36 of those teams may proceed to Wisconsin. It is a great honor indeed."

The harriers leave Wednesday and spend the night in Dayton, Ohio. Thursday they will reach Kenosha and stretch out and loosen up. Friday will be a tour of the course with the race coming Saturday starting at 11:00 in the morning.

Last year Glenville finished 30th out of the nation's 36 best teams. As far as placing this Saturday, Hilgenberg indicates, "If we run the best race that we all can, then there will be no reason for disappointment, whether we do better or worse than last year."
