Editorial Topics Previewed

Being an editor is a very demanding, yet enjoyable, job and one of the most difficult tasks is to write an editorial each week that sparks the readers' attention. THE AMERICAN HERITAGE DICTIONARY defines the word editorial as "an article in a publication expressing the opinion of its editors or publishers." This week instead of voicing my opinion on one specific campus related topic, I prefer to mention a few of the ideas that have wandered through my head to write editorials on:

1. the new scoreboards in the gym. Where did the money come from - or were they donated?
2. the new construction at the President's home. Is this really a needed construction on campus?
3. the debated topic of intervisitation. Would it work to poll the students again on the issue of lengthening the hours?
4. the very strict attendance policy at Glenville State College.
5. the lack of respect regarding the sport of cheerleading on this campus.

I might investigate the previously mentioned ideas and write on them in the upcoming weeks. As for now I'll end my editorial with a sigh of relief that it is completed.

LADIES UP MARK TO 9-3

The Lady Pioneers improved their mark to 9-3 on the season by winning two of three key conference match-ups last week.

The GSC gymnasium was the site of the Ladies' only loss of the week where they fell to Wheeling College by a score of 74-64 last Tuesday night. The two teams went into the game locked in a tie for second place in the West Virginia Conference standings.

Despite the final score, several GSC players turned in good performances. Kim Maynard paced the Ladies with 17 points and 12 rebounds. Tina Burkhamer also netted 17 points, while Janice Hensley scored 14 and pulled in a team high 16 caroms. Rhonda Hicks was also in double figures with 12 points, and Cathy Starcher provided a defensive spark with 5 steals.

Thursday night's home clash with Fairmont State College saw the Lady Pioneers climbing back into the win column as they defeated the Lady Falcons 68-58 in the two teams' first meeting of the year.

Tina Burkhamer was once again the top GSC scorer as she burned the nets for 24 points. Janice Hensley tallied 19 points and as many rebounds, as she continued to play very well for the Ladies. Head coach Tim Carney was also pleased with the play of senior co-captain Kim Maynard, who scored 17 against Fairmont.

Coach Carney took his show on the road Saturday night as the squad travelled across the state to battle Shepherd College. The coach commented that he was "pretty concerned" going into the game, but his team put his fears to rest as the Ladies came away with a 75-69 victory.

Janice Hensley headed the list of four GSC scorers in double figures by pumping in 22 points. Following Hensley closely with 21 markers was Maria Lothes who hit five of six free throws in the final two minutes of the game to seal the win. Tina Burkhamer had 19 points and Kim Maynard had 11 in the win. Cathy Starcher was the only other Lady Pioneer to score as she added two points to the team's total. Glenville had 38 rebounds to Shepherd's 34, led by Lothes with 12 and Hensley with 10. Maynard also handed out five assists.

The Ladies took their 7-2 conference record to Alderson-Broadus Monday evening and will take on West Virginia State tonight in a 5:30 p.m. home contest.

Janice Hensley's tough defense has been a major factor in the Lady Pioneers' success this season.

PIONEERS WIN THREE STRAIGHT

Rich Moore powers to the basket in the Pioneers' 74-67 victory over Fairmont.

The Pioneers built an impressive three-game winning streak last week by winning their first two games of a four-game home stand.

Last Wednesday saw fourth-place Fairmont State bringing a six-game winning streak into Glenville, only to have it ruined by a 74-67 Pioneer victory.

Glenville controlled the entire first half of the game, and held a 35-26 lead at halftime. Fairmont battled back in the second period, however, and cut the GSC lead to only two points at 66-64 with just two minutes remaining to play. Elvin Addison hit two three-point goals in the stretch for Fairmont, as both teams fought for the lead in the closing minutes. A missed Fairmont free throw gave Glenville a 68-65 lead with 39 seconds on the clock, but the Falcons had drawn to within one when Richard Moore converted both ends of a one-and-one situation at the foul line to build the Pioneer lead to 70-67. With 13 seconds remaining,

Moore hit two more free throws to put the game almost out of reach, and Matthew Bullett's dunk at the buzzer provided the final margin of victory.

For the game, Rudy Watts hit 10 of 13 shots from the floor and a perfect six-for-six at the line to lead the Pioneers with 26 points. Following Watts were Steve Morris with 17 and Rich Moore with 15. Glenville had its lowest shooting percentage of the season, hitting on 22 of 45 attempts for 48%.

Shepherd College was the next on the list for the Pioneers, and the Rams lost their 13th game of the season as GSC posted an 85-81 win in Saturday night's contest.

Five Pioneers hit double figures in the game, led by Rich Moore with 21 points. Matthew Bullett had one of his best games of the season in scoring 17 points, followed by Steve Morris and Rudy Watts with 15 each and Steve Linville with 10.

Watts also led the GSC board work, hauling in 14 rebounds while Linville grabbed 10.

Outstanding field goal percentages was once again the key for the Pioneers as they connected on 26 of 40 shots for 65% from the floor. Head coach Gary Nottingham was very pleased with the turnaround his team made defensively last week in holding Fairmont to only 32% and Shepherd to 44% from the field. "We're gaining confidence and showing more consistency," the coach said, praising each member of his squad for their improved efforts.

Waynesburg College (Pa.) took on the Pioneers Monday night (results were not available at press time). Waynesburg came into the game at 9-3 and boasting a record of being the 13th winningest small college in the nation over the past five years. Glenville's next game will be at 7:30 tonight against Davis & Elkins.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Your editorial in the January 23 GLENVILLE MERCURY is in error on the statement that Glenville State College has not cancelled classes due to inclement weather. All GSC evening classes, on campus as well as off-campus, were cancelled due to the extremely cold temperatures on Monday, January 21. Classes at extension sites and at Glenville's Parkersburg Center, locations which do not have resident students, have already been cancelled several times this semester because of bad weather.

College officials are aware of the problems that result from holding classes during the winter months, and will close classes when conditions warrant. Our faculty understands the difficulties that commuting students face during harsh weather, and do not penalize them for absences due to poor driving conditions.

None of us enjoy venturing to campus on cold, snowy mornings. But we can find solace in the fact that the cold days will soon pass and the warming breezes of spring will end our discontent.

Sincerely,
Bruck C. Flack
Vice-President for Academic Affairs

THUMBS UP

To Jesse Lilly for purchasing the intramural scoreboards and half-court divider.

To Joann Santiago and Sharon Smith for recently being inducted into the National Honor Society of Forest Technology.

To Mike Payne for being named by the American Football Coaches Association to the Kodak All-American Team for College Division I.

To the campus police for doing such a great job.

Special recognition goes to John Hayner and other bus drivers for driving the bus to all the activities sponsored by the college.

To Bill Stackman for writing the booklet on alcohol awareness.

THUMBS DOWN

To the fans at basketball games who ignore the rule of "no food or drinks permitted in the gym."

To the person who tried to teach a water fountain to fly.

Burlesque Show To Be Held

What is burlesque? The word brings different reactions from different people. Webster defines burlesque as any broadly comic or satirical imitation or parody. Whatever burlesque means to you, you won't want to miss "The Hunky Panky Burlesque Show," making its debut on the Glenville State College campus tomorrow (Thursday) night at 8:00 p.m. in the college auditorium. Billed as "a blushing burlesque musical," the show features a combination of baggy pants comics, dazzling costumes, beautiful dancing girls, and toe tapping music in a show produced by Esther Eagles and Associates of New York, NY. The program was fully written and supervised by Sal St. George, and features a cast of ten performers, including: CUTIE PIES - Susan Avanzato, Amy Devere, Peggy Lamb, Judy Montero, and Linda Spadanuta; THE MALE ENSEMBLE - George Ghossn and Steve Bradley; STRAIGHT MAN - Mickey Sharkey; TOP BANANA - Sal St. George.

So bring the whole family out to see this timeless form of comedy on the Glenville State College campus. Admission is free for students, faculty, and staff members with ID, and $1.00 for all others.

"A show so tastefully done that even your grandmother would enjoy."

The GSC Week Committee will meet Jan. 30 at 3:30 in the Little Theatre. Students, faculty and staff are urged to get involved in the formation of activities. Will Clark and Diane Bach are in charge of this year's week-long festivities.
