Choir Concert Scheduled

This year the music world celebrates the 300th anniversary of the birth of Johann Sebastian Bach and George Frederick Handel. Both of these men were born in 1685. The Glenville State College Concert Choir in its concert on Sunday night will highlight music of these two men. From Handel the Choir will sing "Hallelujah, Amen" from Judas Maccabaeus; and from Bach the Choir will sing "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" and his "Motet No. VI, Praise the Lord, all Ye Nations," a setting of Psalm 117.

Besides these three numbers, the Choir will sing "Awake! the Dawn

Day is Near" from Richard Wagner's Der Meistersinger von Nurnberg, and from The Sicilian Vespers by Giuseppe Verdi, "The Waltz Barcarolle."

Members of the class in Choral Conducting (Music 376) will be featured in the program. They will conduct: "Holiday Song" by William Schuman; "Sing Praises" by Lloyd Pfausch, "Praise to the Lord, the Almighty" by Hugo Distler; "How Lovely Are the Messengers" by Felix Mendelssohn; and "Ye Followers of the Lamb," a Shaker Song arranged by Edwin Ferguson. ## Pugh, Trew Finish Internship Glenville State College's participants in the Frasure-Singleton Student Legislative Program, Doretta Pugh and John Trew, returned from their March 17-22 trip to the state capitol with a new perspective on West Virginia's government.

During her stay, Doretta worked with Charles Jordan, a Democrat from Randolph County. Doretta attended meetings of the Senate and Finance Committee of which Mr. Jordan was a member. As part of her duties, Doretta answered correspondence from Mr. Jordan's constituents. She felt her assignment to Mr. Jordan was fortunate in that his ties to the finance committee related to her major in accounting.

John was assigned to work with Walton Shepherd, a delegate from the 23rd district. Mr. Shepherd is co-chair of the Judiciary Committee and is also on the Education Committee. John attended these meetings as well as Senate sessions. As part of his duties, John made calls to Washington, D.C. for Mr. Shepherd.

Both Doretta and John expressed amazement at the amount of work the legislators do. Doretta said there were times that the legislators would work all night and would go home in the morning for showers before returning to work with no sleep. John pointed out that often the evening hours were filled with meetings and interviews. He believes that the legislators don't make enough money for what they do.

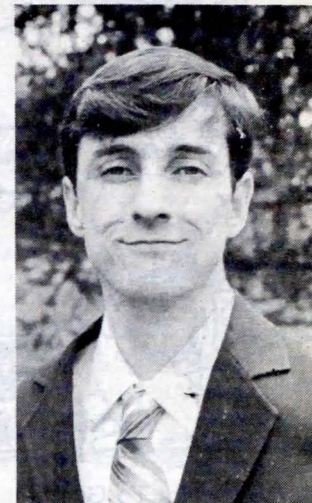

Scheduling for the Fall 1985 semester began last Monday and will continue through Friday. Students wishing to pre-register should see their advisors.

These candidates, local chapter members and advisors will travel to Concord College on Friday, April 26 for State Competition and elections at the annual State PBL Conference.

President Simmons To Be Evaluated

On April 30 and May 1 the President of Glenville State College, Dr. William K. Simmons, will be evaluated by the Board of Regents. The evaluation is a policy of the Board of Regents as well as a state law.

President Simmons has already completed a self-analysis to the Board of Regents and will complete his evaluation after a team of evaluators visit Glenville. Susan Cherneko, assistant to the Chancellor, will be the coordinator of the team and evaluation. Also on the team are as follows: Dr. John Saunders, President of the West Virginia Board of Regents and Chairman for the evaluation team; Dr. Clarence Maze Jr., President of Richard Bland College in Virginia; and Dr. Gordon Olson, President of Minot State College in North Dakota. This team will be on campus approximately two days and will meet with different representative groups on campus and discuss the perceptions these groups have on the way President Simmons is fulfilling the duties and responsibilities of President. These duties range from exercising effective leadership to developing a competent administrative organization and staff, as well as many others.

After the two day evaluation on campus, the team will hold an exit interview with President

Simmons. They will submit their summary report to the President and allow him to correct and respond to the report. Afterwards, the President will have a scheduled meeting with the Board President and personal committee. President Simmons commented, "I will certainly share the results of this evaluation with the campus when they are complete, which will be in the Fall."

The Collegiate 4-H Club is having a meeting on Thurs., April 25 at 5 p.m. in the Wesley Foundation. All members are urged to attend. Interested new members welcomed.

To Go Or Not To Go

Students Face Decision

A question facing many GSC seniors, especially native West Virginians, is whether or not to stay in West Virginia to seek work after graduation. We wonder, should we stay in our home state and do our part to help revive one of the worst state economies in the nation, or should we follow our ambitions to employment beyond the state's borders where greater and more immediate material success is often possible?

Conservatives with strong family and/or social ties in West Virginia will, of course, argue that we, as the newest generation to enter the work force, owe our state a certain allegiance. They feel that we have an obligation to stay in West Virginia so that the state can benefit from, among other things, our tax money. In the 1984 elections, candidates pleaded with voters to help bring about incentives to keep our "new generation" of workers here. Citizens of West Virginia, then, are certainly feeling the recent push to try to influence us, as college graduates, to help our state bring about economic recovery by living and working in West Virginia.

Many of us, however, are looking for bigger and better opportunities than this state has to offer. States such as North Carolina, Florida, and Texas, to name a few, are in the process of rapid economic growth and thus are opening up more and higher paying jobs with better opportunities for advancement. Also, progressive attitudes in these states offer for many a much more attractive lifestyle than one can find amidst the often backwards attitudes held in much of West Virginia.

The choice, then, is up to the individual, based on his or her own personal needs and goals. To stay in West Virginia may be good for the state's economy, but how many of us can be satisfied with the limited opportunities available here? If "Mountaineer Pride" is enough to live on, then life in West Virginia can be very satisfying; but for those of us who are ready to expand our horizons, the rest of the world is opening up vast new opportunities and experiences for this year's college graduates to face.

Football Squad Having Good Spring

Coach Frank Vincent's Pioneer football team has been enjoying a good spring so far, and will wind up its spring practices this week.

Coach Vincent is very pleased with the progress this spring of the 40 members of his team, noting that the squad is working extremely hard, the players' attitudes are good, and they are hitting as hard as ever.

After losing a good deal of his starters on both offense and defense, the coach is faced with the problem of filling vacancies occupied last year by players with three or four years of experience. He particularly noted the loss of All-Americans Byron Brooks and Mike Payne, saying that "This year, we'll really feel the losses of our seniors, and we need to plug some holes on offense and defense, and our players are working hard to plug these gaps."

The coach also pointed out that he would like to see GSC produce another All-American player this year, as no West Virginia Conference school has ever had back-to-back All-Americans.

Because of the loss of so many of his regulars, Vincent has had to make some changes in much of his offense. He stated that the quarterbacks and running backs are playing very well, and the offensive line is blocking extremely well.

Vincent concluded by saying of his team that "We're having a good spring — we've still got a long way to go, but we're heading in the right direction."

Marsha Shrader goes for a ringer as she competes in the women's horseshoe tournament during GSC Week.

Thinclads Ready For WVC Meet

The GSC track squad travelled to California, Pennsylvania, last Saturday to compete in the University of California, Pa., invitational. The meet was a non-scoring team meet, in which only individuals scored and no team points were awarded.

In field events, three Pioneers came away with points. Dave Darst fired the shot put 48 feet 11 inches to take third place in that event while placing fifth in the discus. In the long jump, Shawn Miller hit a jump of 21 feet, 6 inches to take second. Miller also took third in the triple jump. Finally, Mark Alderidge took fourth place in the pole vault with a leap of 12 feet, 6 inches.

On the track, Shawn Shockey took fifth and John Harris took sixth place in the 400 meter intermediate hurdles, while Todd Raines placed seventh in the 5000 meter run. Harris also took points in the 400 meter run, pulling in third place. The Pioneer mile relay team scored a fifth place finish.

Among the schools competing at the meet were Pitt, Slippery Rock, Frostburg, and Indiana University of Pa. (IUP). The Pioneers will travel to IUP next Saturday in preparation for the West Virginia Conference meet, which will be held May 4 and 5 at Laidley Field in Charleston.
