Comedy to be Presented

They are as different as night and day. They, in the words of one, have absolutely "no future as neighbors." In fact, they have nothing that could even be remotely construed as similar--that is, on the surface. Underneath these obvious differences, they have a lot in common. They are simply A Coupla White Chicks Sitting Around Talking.

Directed by Tim Mace, the play deals with the accidental relationship that occurs between Maude Mix (played by Paige Deitz) and Hannah Mae Bindler (played by Lisa McHenry). The friction starts when Hannah Mae and her "lug" Carl Joe move into the house behind Maude and her husband, Tyler. The sparks fly when Hannah Mae walks into Maude's kitchen uninvited, unexpected, and unwelcome. The play really burns when Carl Joe walks in without Hannah Mae.

See it, believe it on Wednesday, February 5 at 8 p.m. Admission is $1.

Second Well Opened

I. L. Morris Well Service of Glenville began drilling of the second gas well on the GSC campus Monday, January 27. The new well will be located on Mineral Road above the college student housing trailers. Students of GSC's petroleum engineering classes will be videotaping the operation as a class project.

Ron Maxey, director of the Petroleum Engineering program at GSC, will have students from four of his petroleum engineering classes on location as different events take place. Those students will be expected to be at the location at whatever time the events occur and under whatever weather conditions exist at the time.

Money for the well project was awarded by the West Virginia Board of Regents. They awarded the contract for the drilling and completion into the

Congratulations to Richard Nichols for having the highest GPA of the actives and to Matt Cornett for the highest GPA of the associates.

Check the Chi board for this week's events.

We love ya, Ladies!

The GSC Literary Society held their monthly meeting on Jan 23. President Paul King called the meeting to order. The book discussed was Charlotte Bronte's, JANE EYRE. After a rousing hour of debate and discussion the meeting was closed. Next month's book will be INHERIT THE WIND. A special thanks to the Bookstore for ordering these books. Everyone is invited to attend these discussions. If interested see Wayne DeRosset for information.

There will be a GSC Week committee meeting on Thursday, January 30 in the Little Theatre. Everyone please try to attend.

Rehearsals Continue

Godspell rehearsals are going quite well, according to David Sindledecker, director of this spring's musical. Jenny Morris, musical director of the show, has the cast performing the songs by memory and ready to be choreographed.

Eric Chico, resident prestidigitator, is currently relaying a bit of his knowledge in the field of magic to train Chris Montgomery to work with a dancing cane for the show.

Many other surprises are in store for the audience.

Fairmont resident, Sharene Sindledecker, will serve as choreographer for Godspell. Ms. Sindledecker will bring a charge of energy and choreographical elements to the stage unavailable in Glenville.

Godspell set construction will begin when the set for A Coupla White Chicks Sitting Around Talking is struck.

Reverently Speaking . . .

Baptist Campus Ministry

Patience is a very hard thing to acquire. Many people each day face a situation that requires patience. It seems the things most wanted in life take the most time to get. For instance: a runner trains him or herself toward one goal, to win the race. This goal is often hard and painful to reach and some days the runner may not want to train because of the long tiresome workouts. He or she must work and work hard, though it seems forever to reach their goal.

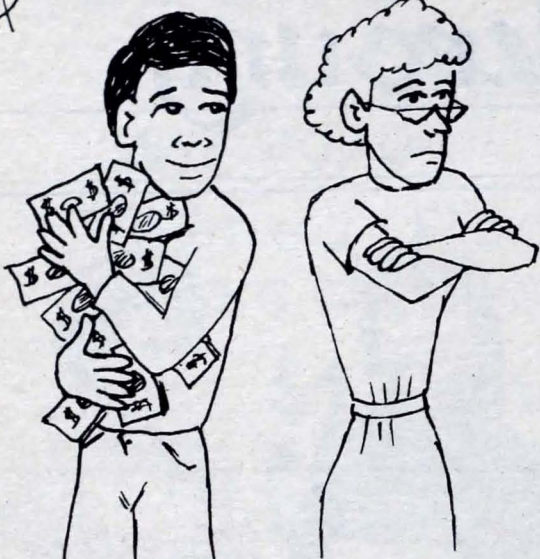

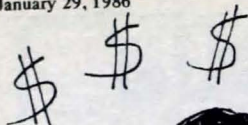

Christ wants us to run his race, but sometimes we get lazy or just plain tired and neglect Christ. Sometimes we get tired of waiting on the Lord. We must put ourselves aside and wait upon the Lord. Christ said that if we did that, he would renew our strength. And by renewing our strength we shall, in the end, come out victorious through Jesus Christ. (Isaiah 40:31)

Join us Wednesday nights at 9 p.m. at the First Baptist Church for B.C.M.

Inside Student Congress

Congress would like to remind you of the upcoming student forum on February 6, 1986 at 8 p.m. in Pickens Hall main lounge. Everyone is encouraged to attend. Anyone interested in helping plan GSC Week, the next meeting is Thursday at 3 p.m. in the Little Theater.

Student Congress is looking into the cafeteria service. We are pursuing suggestions and offering new ideas to upgrade current service. With the beginning of the winter months, students are wanting more hours available in the gym to practice basketball. They are also interested in extended hours for the pool. Congress has set up a committee to check into current hours.

Lottery: Yea or Nay

The West Virginia Lottery officially opened on January 9, 1986 at 12:15 p.m. Since then, sales of these scratch and win cards have exceeded the estimated goals. Many people have claimed their prize, which fall anywhere between $2.00 and $5000.00, and they all seem to be going back for more.

But, along with those who are loyal followers of the lottery, there are those who are against this legalized form of gambling in our state. Many churches and organizations have come out against the lottery, first asking for support when the lottery was voted upon and again when it was first opened to the state.

Others took the stand that the Lottery would aid our state in that the monies made could be put to use in aiding our high unemployment. The issue became highly debated across the state.

The Glenville State College Mercury is taking a poll of students to find out their feelings on the subject.

Please fill out the ticket below and drop it in the designated box at LBH Office or Pioneer Center Lobby by 12:00 pm, Monday, February 3, 1986. The staff would appreciate your help and the result will be announced in next week's paper.

Lexicographics

Yes folks, I agree—lexicographics is a rather lengthy title for a short column. But look at it this way, it is appropriate. The English language is a culmination of Latin, Greek, German, Anglo-Saxon, French, Spanish, and a bit of Arabic thrown in (for good measure, of course). Undoubtedly we would be much better off today had we been able to adhere to one language, but thanks to those enterprising Babylonians, here we are today with so many different languages on this planet it would be virtually impossible for one brain to master more than a fraction of them. Most words that intimidate us because they seem to be at least a mile long are really several small words of any of several different origins.

Pneumonoultramicroscopicsilicovolcanokoniosis. Really. With a rather involved array of prefixes and suffixes, this 45-letter word can be put on the table and dissected to reveal a condition you may (or may not) have heard of. First, try it yourself, then read further. Have you figured it out? Start with pneumo: pertaining to the lungs; ultra: beyond; micro: small; scopio: to look at; silico: element (silicon) found in quartz, flint and sand; volcano: (guess); koni: dust; osis: indicates illness. The biopsy shows a disease of the lungs caused by extremely small particles of volcanic ash and dust.

Seventy percent of our English language is composed of Latin, with new technologies arising and developing even more words derived from Latin roots. But do not fret if you do not speak Latin. You probably know more than you realize simply by looking at prefixes and suffixes of other words of which you already know the meaning.

Remember, divide those words. It will give a new view of what the word means by seeing where it came from. It will help you remember the word and make it less formidable. Also, it will improve your spelling.

*vituperate-(v) to abuse or censure severely.

**lexicographer-(n) [Latin and Greek, from lexicon + Grk graphos=grapher]: an author or compiler of a dictionary.

*last week's word

**this week's word

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I am a resident of Louis Bennett Hall. In order to come back to school last semester I had to replenish $40.00 of my room deposit. This was after four semesters. Forty dollars for four semesters comes to ten dollars a semester in damages.

I feel that these damages are controllable. The resident assistants seem to do a good job of catching some of the people doing the damage, but the judicial board does not make examples of these people. If stiffer penalties were observed and created then the recurrence of damages probably would not occur. Why is it that the election of officers is by a popular vote? Why can't the house director appoint people to serve on this board?

The last two years the judicial board has been very weak in dealing with violators, it is no wonder the resident assistants have so many complaints. Just the other day a person nominated for an office was "wrote up" (sic) for throwing snowballs, this person is a senior and knows the policy for such childish activities, but he will still be on the ballot.

In closing, I must say that judicial board sure leaves themselves with dirty faces in the end, because they set the precedent.

Concerned Resident of Louis Bennett Hall

Reverend Steve Hutchison, a representative from the Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary in Philadelphia will be on campus Thursday, January 30. Reverend Hutchison will be in the Student Union area and would like to talk with any student interested in a seminary educational experience.

The Mercury staff will sell valentine messages to be printed in the February 12 edition. Valentines will cost $.50 each with a three-line limit. Orders may be placed by calling ext. 290 or contacting any staff member by Friday, February 7.

Starting on January 26, the library will be open on Sunday from 2 p.m.-10 p.m. Statistics will be maintained during the spring term to determine whether a continuation will be justified for the fall of 1986.

line to the I.L.Morris Well Service. The project is to be completed by May 9, 1986 at the cost of $200,669.07.

Dr. William K. Simmons, president of Glenville State College, acknowledged the interest of other state institutions in the success of the well projects at GSC. The first gas well at GSC was drilled at the cost of $185,000 and produced $63,000 of credits from December 1984 thru June 30, 1985. Also, December of 1985 was the first month of the current fiscal year that GSC has had a gas bill.

The second well will be utilized in the same manner as the first. The savings in utility costs will be used to fund the new facility opening in Summersville. Dr. Simmons stated that these wells not only benefit the GSC campus, but also help to provide jobs and educational opportunity in Nicholas County. Funds may also be used to build the revenue accounts for the dormitories.

Dr. Simmons said any benefits earned from the wells beyond the needs of GSC, he would suggest to the Board of Regents that they be used to offset utility costs at other institutions.

All May graduates are reminded that the deadline for ordering graduation announcements is Monday, February 3, 1986.

Pioneers Give UC a Scare But Bow 77-71

Glenville's basketball squad threw a very real scare into the league-leading University of Charleston Golden Eagles before finally bowing 77-71. The loss dropped the Pioneers to 6-11 overall and 4-7 in the WVIAC. The loss was Glenville's second of the week as they lost at Tech earlier in the week, 76-63. They grabbed one victory on the week, and that was at Alderson-Broaddus, 76-61.

Tex Williams' University of Charleston squad came into Glenville as the number one team in the conference, but had to hold on furiously to get out of town with a victory. The Pioneers stayed close in the first half and trailed only 35-31 at the half. With a little over 12 minutes remaining, the Pioneers had bounced back to take a 45-43 lead. It was then that the Golden Eagles made the game's decisive run; over the next five minutes they outscored the Pioneers 13-2 to take a commanding 56-47 lead. The Pioneers were able to cut the deficit to 71-68 in the game's final minute with the aid of three three-point field goals by Matt Bullett. The Golden Eagles, however, managed to hit their free throws late, and ice the game.

Glenville coach Gary Nottingham stated that "we followed our game plan, but we failed to do a few things that a team must do for a major upset." He elaborated on this point by citing some key turnovers plus some lapses defensively.

Nottingham stressed that it was a team effort, but did credit some important individual performances. Primarily the inside scoring of Kenny Taylor, the rebounding of Rudy Watts, and defensive play of Paul Grier on Charleston's much heralded Keith Tyler. Tyler only had two points at the half and never really got his offensive game cranked up.

At this point, Nottingham feels that the team must do some important things to turn the season around. He feels that they must get more pride in their team defense, and must improve their play at home. Right now the Pioneers are 1-7 at home, a record Nottingham terms as "ridiculous." It was just two years ago that Glenville was 11-1 at home, and last year they were 7-5.

Monday night the Pioneers played at Fairmont, and tonight they will host the Battlers of Alderson-Broaddus. They will close out the week Saturday at Davis and Elkins.

Chapman and Sumner Win Contest

Glenville students Jesse Chapman and Tammi Sumner are the winners of the Mercury Super Bowl Contest. They ended in a victorious tie, defeating 69 other contestants.

Chapman, from Gilmer County High School, was only four points off the actual score in his 45-7 prediction. He showed good foresight by saying, "It will not be close at all" when he gave me his prediction.

Sumner, from Parkersburg South, predicted a 42-10 Bear victory. This was also four points off the actual score. She could have won the contest outright had the Bears not scored a safety in the game's final minutes.

These winning contestants will split the $10 prize. Hopefully, the Mercury will sponsor a similar contest for the NCAA basketball final.

Intramural News

The intramural department would like to welcome everyone back. Last semester was a big success with well over one-third of the on-campus population participating in the program. There are many activities planned for this semester. As of now we are planning a swim meet, lap swimming, tennis, golf and a softball league, along with many other activities.

Starting today anyone interested in signing up for racquetball may do so. It is a challenge tournament and trophies will be awarded to first-place finishers along with points which go toward the overall championship. We feel that one-third of the on-campus population is not a big increase from last year and that each and everyone on campus should get involved. If you have any questions, please contact Jimmie Dean at Louis Bennett Hall, Jesse Lilly at the Division of Physical Education, or Janice Loughner. Once again, let's all get involved.

Ladies Winning On Road, Go to 8-5

The Lady Pioneers of Coach Tim Carney continue to play well despite having only seven players on their roster. The team has now won three out of four games on their current road swing and have won seven out of their last nine overall.

Last week the Ladies captured two out of three contests. They defeated Alderson-Broadus, 63-57, lost to Tech 60-56, and downed West Liberty 69-58. Their record is now 8-5 overall and 7-2 in the conference.

As indicated by the scores, you can see that the Ladies are playing well defensively. Carney said, "we are playing some great defense right now. . . we're getting good play out of everybody.." West Liberty, for example, was held to only 36.9% shooting from the field.

The West Liberty game was one in which everything fell into place for the Ladies.

After losing to WV Tech last Wednesday (by squandering a 6-point lead in the last three minutes), this was a particularly crucial game for them. Everybody pitched in on the winning effort; sharp-shooter

Tina Burkhamer racked up 30 points, Janice Loughner had 12 rebounds, and Niki Randolph handed out eight assists. Carney was also pleased with the play of Kim Fox, who was instrumental in breaking the West Liberty press.

The Ladies continue this week with some important league games. Monday night they travelled to Fairmont, and tomorrow night they play host to Davis & Elkins.

Jesse's Place

First off, I would like to thank everyone who responded to my MERCURY Super Bowl Contest. Seventy-one entries was certainly a lot more than I expected.

Secondly, I may be opening a can of worms. Several athletes have commented to me on the difficulty of performing both football and track here at GSC, so I wanted to examine this issue. Unfortunately, everyone I attempted to talk to requested that I hold off a week on the story. It's obvious that both sides want to make certain they say what they want to say. In 'both sides,' I am referring to the coaching staff and the athletes.

Personally, I can not understand why we would spend so much money on a new track if we are not going to make some sort of commitment to cross country and track. Of course, I am speaking as a runner and my opinion is very biased. Hopefully, next week we can hear more on this issue from Coaches Paul Barnes and Frank Vincent. Perhaps my view is wrong.

Taylor: Pioneers' Working Class Hero

As the Glenville State Pioneers begin down the home stretch of the 1985-86 season, senior Kenny Taylor is rising on the all-time GSC list in two categories. As of press time, he was 17th on the all-time scoring list and is 11th on the all-time rebounding list. He has 1,189 points and 628 rebounds.

When informed of where he stood in the record books, Taylor said he was somewhat surprised, but was very honored. He cited the possibility of moving into the top ten on the rebounding list as a good motivational factor. When asked about moving into the record books, he said, "I would just want everyone to remember that Kenny Taylor was a player who worked hard and did his job. that's all."

Taylor commented on this year's team by saying, "We have yet to completely jell. . .we still feel that we can come back and make this a good year. . .we just have to start playing 40 minutes of basketball instead of 35." Taylor himself had to play early in the year with 25 stitches in his finger. He is truly a hard worker who will long be remembered by the Pioneer faithful.

Upcoming Pioneer Games

- Jan. 19 A-B (H)
- Feb. 1 D & E (A)
- Feb. 5 W.Liberty (A)
- Feb. 8 Wheeling (A)
- Feb. 10 D & E (H)

All seniors planning to participate in commencement exercises must be measured for caps and gowns before February 1, 1986. Measurements will be taken in the Alumni Office in the Pioneer Center.

A Josten's representative will be on campus Thursday, January 30 from 10 a.m. - 3 p.m. to take orders for class rings. Orders may be placed with the representative in the Student Union. A $10 deposit is required.

Skills Test Required For Ed. Majors

If you entered a program in teacher education at Glenville State College in the fall of 1985 or later, you are in the "new" program and must meet the West Virginia Department of Education requirements for certification to teach.

One of the requirements is the Preprofessional Skills Test (PPST) in reading, writing, and math, a second requirement is the ACT (American College Testing) test in speaking. Both tests are required for admission to teacher education if you are in the "new" program.

The registration procedure is as follows: please register for the tests by February 28, 1986 (to register for the test, see Patty Dugger, in Clark Hall 102, Monday through Friday, 8-4, for registration forms); plan to take the PPST on Saturday, April 12, 1986; plan to make an appointment to take the ACT-Speaking component from Monday-Wednesday, April 7-9, 1986; and plan for the payment of a total of $40 testing fee payable at registration (applications for emergency loans of $40 can be obtained from the Office of Student Services).
