Judging Completed

Hardwork and effort paid off as banners and floats were judged, on Saturday, September 27 at the annual GSC Homecoming parade.

In the banner contest, 6th floor Williams and Scott Wings won first place. They will be receiving a $50 cash prize. Sigma Sigma Sigma won second place. They will receive a $25 cash prize. Baptist Campus Ministry won the third place prize of $15.

Delta Zeta won first place for having the best float. The Queen's court won second place. PBL placed third. All winners received a trophy.

Figures Released

Glenville State College President William K. Simmons has released the unofficial enrollment figures for the first semester of the 1986-87 academic year. Enrollment comparisons between fall 1985 and 1986 show the total headcount to have increased 15.9% while the full-time equivalent has increased 14.1%.

GSC, in addition to the main campus in Glenville, maintains the Parkersburg Center on the Parkersburg Community College campus, the new Nicholas County Center in Summersville, and extension classes in five Central West Virginia counties.

The figures show the main campus headcount is up 66 from 1195 to 1261. The Parkersburg Center is up 20 from 235 to 255, and the Nicholas County Extension is up 197 from 350 to 547.

The FTE (Full-Time Equivalent) figures show the main campus enrollment up 58 from 1132 to 1189. The Parkersburg Center is up 23 from 106 to 129, and the Nicholas County Extension up 111 from 128 to 239.

The headcount and FTE figures are the largest in GSC history. Dean of Records and Admissions, Mack K. Samples reported the record headcount enrollment of 1,998 in 1981 has now been surpassed; 1986 headcount enrollment is 2,063, and increase of 65 over the 1981 figure.

Is GSC Civilized?

Webster defines a civilized person as one who is "in line with the standards of self control, uprightness and impartial consideration of common needs...that are essential to social harmony and security." In other words, one who is considerate of others.

It seems that few people on the GSC campus fit this definition. Pop and beer cans litter the campus from Pickens Hall to the deepest part of the Nature Center. The viscera of pay phones in Wagner Wing are ripped from their shells and left dangling from their faces. The breezeway at LBH is a virtual quagmire of tobacco juice.

Girls hanging from the railings of 6th floor Scott Wing have loud conversations with men in the courtyard (so lady-like). Guys at LBH still make lewd comments to women as they pass.

I realize that the persons responsible for these things mean no harm to anyone; they just don't think of the end result of what they do. The guy at LBH who says, "Hey, baby, wanna get funky with me in the bushes?" to every girl who passes, doesn't wonder if he scares her, he just wants to make his friends laugh. The girls on the 6th floor don't consider that all their noise is keeping the people who pulled the all-nighter from taking naps to recover. The guy who spits in the breezeway doesn't think that the girl he would kill to go out with might have to walk through the mess he left on her way to class.

This campus would be a lot easier to live on if we would all ask ourselves, "What would I think if I saw someone doing what I'm doing right now?"

Didja ever feel guilty? Oh, I don't mean those little pangs of guilt you experience from minor infractions. I mean those deep, dark, "wish I'd never been born" anguishes from having really messed up. Well, I've been on that road. And if you're on that road now, as one sojourner to another, I can tell you that there is HOPE.

Sometimes we are our own enemies. We ask God to forgive us, and then we fail to accept that forgiveness, or to forgive ourselves. But God does not want us to be miserable and inhibited. God

Ladd Joins Faculty

The new instructor of Geography in the Dept. of Social Science is Mr. Alan Ladd. A native of West Virginia, Mr. Ladd was born in and grew up in Huntington. He attended college in Vermont at the Norwich University Military College and graduated in 1970 with a Bachelors degree in government.

In 1970 he entered the Marine Corps as an officer in the infantry serving from 1970-1975. Mr. Ladd served with the Second Marine Division at Camp Lejeune North Carolina, traveling in and out of the U.S. to countries such as Cuba and Norway to name a few.

Mr. Ladd entered Marshall University in 1975 and received his masters degree in geography in 1984 and his masters degree in political science in 1985. For the past three years Mr. Ladd has been teaching part time in the Social Science Department of Marshall University. Presently, Mr. Ladd is an officer of the Marine Corps Reserve and is unmarried.

Mr. Ladd reports so far that he is "fascinated by the college." He remarked, "I can't find anything wrong with the school. I love it!"

Two different areas in particular are pleasing to the new instructor. "It's so much smaller (than Marshall). When you need to get something done, there's no red tape involved."

"Also, the students are much more cooperative and enthusiastic. They seem to be much more interested in learning. I am pleasantly surprised by these attitudes."

Due to his military background, Ladd runs his classes in more rigid fashion than most instructors. No cuts are allowed, nor is the student allowed to bring tobacco or snacks to class or slouch in his chair. "I thought some of the students would run off, but they didn't," he stated. "In fact, I've picked up a couple students."

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I consider myself no more than an humble student of English who listens to approximately an hour of news a day. I do not pretend to mire my mind in a porridge of political issues, so please forgive these questions which may seem, to some, insane.

My simple mind has difficulty comprehending certain issues in our world. For instance -- why did an ICBM missile accidentally launch in Arkansas recently? Yes, I know an electrical storm caused a power surge which launched the missile da, da, da, and so on. I'm sorry, Mr. Weinberger. That's frightening to me. Why is a method of teaching grammar that has never worked getting so much support when a better method comes along? Why can Doug Flutie make $3,000,000 in one year, when a Ph. D. at Glenville State College would need a 120 year long career to accumulate that amount? Why had I never been made to read The Declaration of Independence until English 316? Why is Nicholas Daniloff getting so much attention when Terry Anderson, an American, AP reporter, has been held hostage in Beirut for months? Why does China's welfare system discourage fecundity and ours encourages it? If our welfare people are so hungry, why are so many of them fat?

I don't know, it's hard to decide which issues to worry about. Can any one of you out there relieve my ignorant state and give me peace of mind?

Lisa J. McHenry

Dear Editor,

I was really surprised when I went to the homecoming thuse on Friday in the gym. The number of students that showed up was really disappointing. Rain or shine, the Pioneer football team still needs the support of the school.

Also, the band did a great job, the football players were there getting anxious for the homecoming game, even some important members of the college were there representing the administration, but where were the cheerleaders? I can understand homecoming week is hectic and packed with activities but I thought it was very poor of the cheerleaders not to put in an appearance. A thuse is not a thuse without spirit leaders! What else are the cheerleaders supposed to do but support the team and be at functions to raise morale, get the team anxious to play ball, and get the crowd excited. One thing the cheerleaders should think about is without teams there would be no cheerleaders.

One cheerleader was there along with some students that did show up and I'm sure the team really appreciated their support.

A Concerned Student

The new hours for the Curriculum Lab (002 CH) are as follows: Monday Thursday 11:00-3:00, Friday 11:00-1:00.

The 1986 WVIAC Track Champions, The Glenville State College Pioneers, will sponsor a Dance on tomorrow (Thursday) night from 8-11 p.m. in the Ballroom. There will also be an Airband contest.

Reflections

wants us to be happy, healthy, whole, productive, and truly free.

When we were little, we memorized that God so loved the world that he gave his only son... (John 3:16), but most of us fail to remember that the 17th verse reminds us that God did not send his son into the world to condemn the world, but that we might have life. And God wants us to have abundant life.

If you would like to discuss these matters more fully, look me up. I know GUILT, but I like to talk GRACE.

BIBLE STUDY: (Wednesdays 9:00 p.m.) Tonight our theme is freedom. Our lesson is Galatians 4-5. Next week, Father Lang from the Good Shepard Catholic church will be our study leader as we finish Galatians. On October 15, we will begin studying the book of REVELATIONS.

RAINBOW CHAPEL (Sundays 9:00 p.m.) This Sunday our guest speaker will be the Rev. Fred Villinger from the Trinity United Methodist Church.

Pioneers Hold Off Yellow Jackets, 6-5

by Jesse Skiles

Saturday, West Virginia State's Yellow Jackets had 13 first downs compared to only three for our Pioneers. They outrushed Glenville 178 to 53 and outpassed them 75 to 30. Sounds like a Yellow Jacket rout, right? Wrong. Riding the big-play tactics of the Pioneer defense, Glenville managed to pull off a 6-5 Homecoming victory.

Performing well in the clutch, the Pioneer defense gave a little but never did break, continually turning back Yellow Jacket threats. It is perhaps poetic justice that the Pioneers won a game in such a manner after losing so many close ones over the past two seasons. It may also be just that back returner Eric Mitchell was the hero; Eric had been returning admirably, despite Glenville's 0-3 start.

All of the scoring occurred within a 2:10 span of the second quarter. State opened the scoring at 14:02 of the quarter when they blocked a Randy Rhodes punt and managed a safety to go up 2-0. The Yellow Jackets then took the ensuing free kick and marched to another score. At 12:06 of the quarter, Kevin Smith booted a 35-yard field goal to give State a 5-0 lead.

This is when Mitchell entered center stage. He fielded the following kickoff at the six and dazzled the crowd with a 94-yard coast-to-coast jaunt. He started up the middle, but one broken tackle and one thrifty cut later and he was off to the races.

Exit Eric Mitchell, enter the Pioneer defense. From that point on, the defense put the clamps on the speedy Jackets. Besides shutting down the running game, the Pioneers also limited State to only six pass completions in fifteen attempts. This was due in part to fine secondary play, and also to an intense pass rush led by freshman Aaron Woodhouse. Woodhouse turned in a sterling performance that included twelve tackles and four quarterback sacks.

Woodhouse however, was not the only Pioneer defender to turn in the big play. Laurence Colley made a crucial block of a Yellow Jacket field goal attempt in the fourth quarter while Bill Dunn and John Lipscomb also did their parts with an interception and a sack respectively.

Offensively, the Pioneers were led by freshman halfback Gordon Stevens who had 51 yards on 20 carries. Glenville also received a fine performance from punter Randy Rhodes, who will join Mitchell on the highlight film as a result of his 61-yard punt.

The Pioneers will resume action this week against the West Liberty Hilltoppers. Kickoff will be at 1:30 on West Liberty's campus. Glenville will be attempting to avenge last year's Homecoming loss at the hands of the Hilltoppers.

As the storm swirled around Pioneer Stadium, the Pioneer defense swarmed State quarterback Keith Franklin.

Layhew: WVIAC Tackle Leader

by Jesse Skiles

Todd Layhew is one heckuva player...it's as simple as that. Todd also has the statistics to prove his value. Last season, he led the Pioneers with over 100 tackles. This year Todd not only leads the Pioneers but leads the West Virginia Conference in defensive efficiency.

Layhew says that he enjoys the statistics, but just wants to win. "The way our defense is designed, I'm oftentimes left free. Mainly, I just have to read the proper keys and go to the ball," Layhew said. The sophomore continued his modesty by saying, "I couldn't get all my tackles without the defensive line. They are the guys busting heads up front. The fans don't really realize it and it doesn't always show up on the stat sheet, but that is where games are won or lost."

One guy on the Pioneer defensive line is Todd's big brother Donn, someone whom Todd has a tremendous amount of respect for. "I'm so thankful that he was here when I came in as a freshman. He has always been there for me to go to and it's something that I really appreciate," Todd said. Donn's all-conference season in 1985 has also set a pretty good example for his little brother to follow.

Todd is a very versatile athlete. In high school, he also excelled as a running back and a kicker. When talking about his versatility, Todd continued to be an extremely modest individual. "There are things that I do well, but there are also things that I need to work on. My pass coverage is something that I must improve. I have worked hard at it, but we haven't really faced a passing team yet," Layhew elaborated.

As it stands though, his modesty cannot hide his super performances game in and game out. He is simply a nice guy who is the best tackler in the league. Four weeks ago I called Donn Layhew Mr. Consistency, and if I had to pen a name on little brother Todd it would be easy...Mr. Modesty.

The next time you catch a Pioneer game, keep an eye on number 26...if you can. Todd is truly "all over the field."

Dawkins Wins Pioneer 10k

by Steve Keenan

Two members of the Glenville State College cross country team claimed the first two places Saturday in the first annual Pioneer 10K Road Run.

Jay Dawkins pulled away from his teammate Andy Jarrell in the final quarter mile to win the race in a driving rain. Dawkins' time for the 6.2-mile course was 32:17, while Jarrell was clocked in 32:23. It marked the first time Dawkins had beaten Jarrell this fall.

Steve Keenan held off a late-charging Bubby Dent to claim third place. Keenan was timed at 33:23, while Dent was less than a second behind him. Jesse Skiles, a GSC harrier, rounded out the top five with a 36:54 finish.

A total of 20 runners braved the rainy conditions to start the race sponsored by Student Congress. No women were entered.

Following is a list of runners by age division:

14-under: Sean Hunt (10th overall), 41:29; James Sharp (19th overall), 56:42.

15-19: Andy Jarrell (2nd), 32:23; Jason Chapman (15th), 46:46.

20-24: Jay Dawkins (1st), 32:17; Steve Keenan (3rd), 33:23; Bubby Dent (4th), 33:24; Jesse Skiles (5th), 36:54; Berry Crutchfield (11th), 42:16; Shawn Shockey (17th), 50:12.

25-29: P.K. Coon (7th), 41:08; Jeff Roberts (9th), 41:28; Jerry Carper (13th), 43:11.

30-39: Max Powell (6th), 39:18; Randy Hunt (12th), 42:21; Nasir Assar (18th), 55:10.

40-over: James Bailey (8th), 41:18; Ernest Doll (14th), 45:19; James Hilgenburg, Jr. (16th), 49:47.

Sean Hunt, Chapman, Dent, Coon, Powell and Bailey were Age Group Winners. Dawkins was the first GSC student finisher, while Keenan was the first GSC alumni finisher.

Volleyballers Complete Busy Week

by Jesse Skiles

Coach Kay Chico's Glenville State volleyball team had a busy week last week, participating in ten matches. Eight of these were played in a volleyball-packed weekend.

Glenville opened play last week with a tri-match against Concord and West Virginia Wesleyan in Buckhannon. Although Glenville bowed to Concord, they shut down Wesleyan for the squad's first victory of the season, 15-13, 15-13.

This was followed by a conference round-robin tournament over the weekend. In this tourney the Pioneers managed to win only one of eight matches. This was a three-game victory over the University of Charleston, 12-15, 15-9, 15-2. In two of the losses, Glenville pushed opponents to a decisive third game (Concord and Salem).

Coach Chico once again had mixed feelings about the matches. "We improved our play from Friday to Saturday...our girls just got physically tired," Chico said. The team is not real deep, so one can understand how so many matches could take its toll on the players.

Jesse's Place

What a weekend! Homecoming '86 was certainly a success, at least from where I'm sitting. This Homecoming not only had the usual super dance plus fraternity alumni, but there was also a hard fought Pioneer victory and my fiancée wearing a crown.

Homecoming is also a time to renew some old friendships, and a few of my renewals made me feel pretty old. I chatted with former Pioneer football player Mark Montgomery, who is now the youngest head football coach in the state. The 23-year-old has led Clear Fork to an early-season 3-1 record and a state ranking. One of the stars on his team is Shannon Vanoy, the brother of Pioneer receiver Danny Vanoy.

I also spoke with my former roommate and former Lady Pioneer Assistant Coach Mark Kozlowski. He is now the "Voice of the Webster County Highlanders." Koz and Roddy Brown (also a GSC alumnus) are doing the Webster games on a local cable channel.

Homecoming is really neat, and this may very well be my last one here in Pioneerland, so I'm pretty happy things went well and I was able to chat with some past friends.

I feel old.

Drive successful

Rev. Karen J. Frank of the Wesley Foundation extends thanks to all those who volunteered their time and those who donated blood in the September 23 Blood Drive. A goal of 90 pints was established for Gilmer County. One hundred and three pints of blood were given September 23. Nineteen people gave blood for the first time. Congratulations on a job well done!!

The next blood drive is scheduled to be Tuesday, December 2, from 12 noon to 6 p.m. Plan to attend and bring a friend!

Eclipse Fair Held

Friday, October 3, 1986 is going to be a very special day for students in astronomy and physical science classes at Glenville State College. These students will be engaged in an in-depth study and survey of the partial solar eclipse (60% of total) occurring for about four hours that day.

Several experiments will be conducted that day. The data from these experiments will be used by the students to better study the eclipse and to draw conclusions about the exact midpoint of the eclipse. It will definitely prove to be an adventurous, fun-filled day for these science classes, observers, and for anyone else who would like to take part in the Solar Eclipse Fair.

What Was Your Hardest Adjustment?

Several students on the GSC campus were recently asked, "What is the hardest adjustment you've had to make since coming to GSC?" Here are some of their answers:

Traci Chapman-freshman: "Trying to get my studies done without my parents backing me up."

Tracy Romine-freshman: "Getting used to not picking up any good radio stations."

Darrell Forren-freshman: "Doing laundry and having to pay a bundle for it."

Steve Shumate-freshman: "I never had to study in high school and these classes are tough."

Linda McFaughlin-sophomore: "Adjusting to a small town and learning, again, to use my time out of school wisely."

Pat Ireland-junior: "As an Air Force retiree, I had to shift from being a supervisor to life as a student."

Denise Elkins-senior: "Trying to find people who were like me; compatible friends. I didn't want to change ME."

E.M. Griffith-freshman: "Getting up at 5:00 a.m. and getting ready by 6:00 to drive from Webster Co. for an 8:00 class."

Traci Smiley-sophomore: "Because I am from New England, I had to adjust to the ways of the people from WV; mannerisms, speech (accents and meanings)."

Connie Skidmore-junior: "Trying to manage my time. Some classes are only offered on certain days which means re-arranging your personal life around the classes. This is hard to do when you work full time and have a family."

Sherry McDaniels-junior: "The most difficult aspect of returning to school was dealing with my feelings of guilt due to not being home full time. I felt I was neglecting my daughter and husband. I had to learn to relax and realize that it is okay to be a little bit selfish."

Ron Jones-junior: "Trying to find the time to sleep with the responsibilities of school added to all the responsibilities at home and being a father."

Debby Wills-sophomore: "Trying to utilize my time so I could study, take care of my children, cook, clean, and keep my car running."

Alice Williams-sophomore: "Sitting down to study after six years of being out of school. Only now I do it with children!"

Professor Returns

by Steve Keenan

Charles Scott expected a letter informing him whether or not he had earned a spot in the Fulbright Teacher Exchange Program.

Instead, he answered his phone around 7 p.m. one evening, and the voice on the other end explained to Scott that he had indeed earned the honor of participating in the prestigious year-long teacher exchange program administered by the United States Information Agency.

Scott's caller turned out to be David Webster, an instructor at the Southport College of Art and Technology in Southport, a resort city of 90,000 in Northwestern England. From August 1985 to July 1986, Scott and Webster simply switched

Faculty Contributes

How does a college teacher spend his spare time? Six Glenville State College faculty members recently gave some of that spare time to help county school systems with the in-service days prior to the opening of the 1986-87 public school year.

Public school systems are required to offer in-service, continuing education hours to teachers. These school systems depend heavily upon state college and university faculties for those hours.

Dr. Joe Evans traveled to Elkins High School, Hurricane High School, and John Adams Junior High School in Kanawha County for three different sessions in Science and Comprehensive Test of Basic Skill, Inquiry Teaching, and Enhancing Questioning.

Mrs. Sharon Kraus went to Point Pleasant High School and Pleasants County Middle School for sessions of Coping With Stress.

Mr. Jim Meads traveled to John Adams Junior High for single and team-teaching sessions with Joe Evans in Enhancing Questioning.

Dr. Lowell Peterson presented a science workshop at Parkersburg Community College and Dr. Craig Etchison took Writing as a Classroom Activity to Doddridge County High School.

WV International Film Festival:

Filmmakers to Visit Campus

One of America's best reviewed, young film directors, Eagle Pennell, and the visiting director of this year's West Virginia International Film Festival, Mark Rance, will be on the Glenville State College campus October 16, 1986 at 2:00 p.m. in the college auditorium.

Mr. Pennell and Mr. Rance will be in the state from October 12-19 as guests of the West Virginia International Film Festival in Charleston. They hope to create an annual event, bringing filmmakers to West Virginia to get a personal perspective on current cinema.

Born and raised in the small west Texas town of Andrews, Pennell, a self-taught filmmaker, completed his first film at the age of 25. After leaving the University of Texas (Austin) Pennell was impressed with watching Tobe Hooper make an independent feature "sort of in the middle of nowhere." That film was "The Texas Chainsaw Massacre," but the major influences Pennell cites are Frank Capra for that filmmaker's interest in the "common man" and John Ford for both the way that director tells stories and his "instinctive" manner of shooting.

Pennell worked as a cameraman for four years during which time he shot a number of commercials and completed his own documentary of rodeos. His first dramatic film was a short, "Hell of a Note," in which Lou Perry and Sonny Davis - the two leads of "The Whole Shootin' Match" - appeared for the first time. They also star in Pennell's most recent film, "Last Night at the Alamo."

Eagle Pennell and Mark Rance, a director in his own right, are being brought to the Glenville campus by the Cultural Affairs Committee.

Parking Poses Problems

Parking -- this topic has been cussed, discussed, argued over, whined about, and editorialized ad nauseum but no solutions have been found for the lack of parking places on campus.

There are several factors contributing to the problem. First, for the 473 legal parking places available on campus, there have been 735 permits issued so far. Of the available spaces, one is reserved for campus police, eight are reserved for college-owned vehicles, forty-three are reserved for faculty, and two are reserved for the handicapped.

Second, no one knows where they can park. Yes, Virginia, you can park behind the library, and by the P.E. Building, and Firestone Lodge, and Pickens Hall, and Clark Hall, and the lot by the President's house, and by the Pioneer Center. However, you cannot park by the Administration Building because that lot is reserved for faculty; nor can you park in any space marked reserved for handicapped, college-owned vehicles, or police; nor can you park outside designated areas (unless you are the campus police, then you can park on the sidewalk or, if you drive a college-owned vehicle, in which case you can park in the 2 handicapped places).

My advice to those of you who complain about not being able to find a parking place is get here long enough before class to check all the lots and be willing to walk from Pickens to Clark Hall; you may not be able to park by the door every time. Try forming carpools. If you still have trouble, complain to the administration; it's their job to serve you!

West Liberty Rally Tops Pioneers

by Jesse Skiles

Glenville State's Pioneers put together another strong effort Saturday, but again came away with a heartbreaking defeat. Despite leading 9-0 at the half, GSC succumbed to a second half West Liberty rally and bowed 17-9.

Andy Pfefferkorn and Mark Szklennik accounted for the first half Glenville points. Pfefferkorn scored on a one-yard plunge, while Szklennik connected on a 43-yard field-goal. This boot was only two yards shy of being the longest field goal in Glenville history.

West Liberty came storming back in the second half behind the arm of quarterback Doug Karas. Karas hit on nine aeriels in the second half for 150 yards, as the Hilltoppers mounted a 17-9 lead.

Glenville quarterback Mitch Pantak helped lead a Pioneer charge late in the game with passing of his own. The Pioneers came up empty, however, and the game ended as a 17-9 West Liberty win.

This week the Pioneers will invade Salem to face the 0-4 Salem Tigers. Over the past couple of years, the Pioneers have played the Tigers very well despite their nationally ranked squads. Last year the Pioneers led 14-9 at the half, but ended up losing 42-20.

Glenville is now 1-4 overall and 1-2 in the conference. This Saturday's game will be at Salem's Catalano Stadium with the kickoff scheduled for 1:30.

Jesse's Place

This Saturday the Pioneer football team will be traveling to Salem to face Corky Griffith's 0-4 Tigers. To many, this may not seem like that big of a game, but to others it is certainly a game of interest.

Griffith and Pioneer mentor Frank Vincent were at one time rival coaches in the Kanawha Valley Conference. This will be their first meeting since back in October of 1979 when Vincent's Charleston High Mountain Lions lost to Griffith's Dupont Panthers, 10-7. At that time I was merely a skinny sophomore on the DuPont squad.

Simply put, there is no one person in this world that I respect more than Corky Griffith. As far as being a motivator, teacher, and friend all in one, nobody can compare and probably never will.

While at DuPont, Griffith had a 91-31 record and the Panthers made the Class AAA Championship game three times. I'm sure that it is just killing him suffering through a rebuilding season at Salem.

I can remember well a very stimulating lecture he gave us before the Charleston game on the little things that need to be done to beat a Frank Vincent-coached team. I wonder if the Tigers are getting that same lecture this week.

Cujo: A Man of Versatility

by Jesse Skiles

In three years at Glenville, Tim Cugini has bounced all over the Pioneer interior line, performing well at several positions. Through victories as well as defeats, "Cujo" has been a mainstay on the Pioneer defense.

Back in 1984, Cugini came to Glenville as a standout recruit from Timken High School in Canton, Ohio. As an offensive tackle at Timken, he was an All-County performer and also earned All-Northeast Ohio honors.

Cugini broke into the starting lineup midway through his freshman year in a 38-12 victory at WV Wesleyan. He continued to start at guard for the remainder of the year at the Pioneers finished 6-3.

When 1985 rolled around, Frank Vincent was in search of a center and Cugini was moved. He spent the entire season as starting center and says that it was quite an experience. "I hated it...I never really adjusted to making the snap plus firing out. It takes someone special to play center," Cugini said.

This season he was moved back to guard, but was moved to tackle for the West Liberty game. "Cujo" was pleased with this move and elaborated, "I felt comfortable at tackle. I have no idea why they moved me there, but I'm glad."

Cugini says that he really enjoys being an offensive lineman. "I love to block for backs, especially when I have always had guys behind me like Andy Pfefferkorn, who really run hard," Cugini said.

Cujo says that his parents are also a key source of motivation. "My mom and dad come to every game, home or away. They're really great," Cugini said. Whether at center, guard, or tackle, he will continue to prosper on the interior of the Pioneer offense.

Golfers Shoot Well in Wooster

by Jesse Skiles

Glenville's golf team played in their third fall tournament over the weekend in Wooster, Ohio.

It was a fairly successful trip for Tim Carney's squad as the team finished sixth in the eighteen team field.

Mike Dynda led the way for Glenville in the two-day tournament by firing a 75-77-152. He was followed by Bob Sowards 75-81-156, Parker Long 79-79-158, Jeff Wine 83-78-161, Bill Forrest 84-82-166, and Mark Wanstreet 91-89-180. The Pioneers carded a team score of 793, only 23 strokes behind victorious Gannon College.

Coach Carney was happy with the scores and remarked that it was the best overall team performance so far this fall. "We kept it under an 80-average for both days and that is something that we strive for," Carney said. The Pioneers were in fifth place after the first day of competition.

The golfers will be closing the fall schedule this Friday and Saturday. They will be traveling to the Malone Invitational in Canton, Ohio.

Volleyballers Take One of Five

by Jesse Skiles

Glenville State's volleyball team ventured to Athens, West Virginia Saturday to participate in the Concord Invitational. Coach Kay Chico's squad came away with one victory out of five matches in the tournament.

Glenville's victory came over Berea (KY) in a tightly played match that took three games to decide a victor. Glenville opened with a 15-11 victory in game one and fell 15-1 in game two, but recovered to take the match 15-11. This was Glenville's fourth match of the tournament.

King College (TN) was the first opponent for Chico's squad and Glenville bowed, 15-7, 15-1. This was followed by a hard fought three match loss to Concord 15-8, 14-16, 15-2. The other defeats were to Mars Hill (NC) 15-1, 15-3, and Rio Grande (OH) 15-5, 15-3.

The volleyball squad is now 3-14 overall. Their conference slate now stands at 2-10.

Intramural Jogging begins Monday Oct. 13. Sign up in the Phys. Ed. Office or see Coach Lilly.

Runners Win State Invitational, Raise Record to 13-1

by Steve Keenan

Despite missing the services of top runner Andy Jarrell, the GSC cross country team cruised to yet another triumph over the weekend.

Glenville placed its five scoring runners in the top seven to record a low team score of 20 points and defeat four other teams at the West Virginia State College Invitational. The meet was contested at Camp Virgil Tate Saturday.

Jay Dawkins took individual honors with a time of 29:51 over the hilly 5-mile course. Tom Clark placed second in 30:01. Chris Shockey was fourth in 30:42, Jim Kelly was sixth in 31:23, and Jeff Trippett was seventh in 31:38. A first-time runner for the Pioneers, John Fitzpatrick, placed 15th with a time of 35:50.

GSC's Lori Barker continued to run well in the women's division. The freshman nabbed second place with a 3-mile time of 24:08. With an injury still sidelining teammate Andrea Davisson, Barker has been the Pioneers' only female participant of late.

The Pioneer men had an easy day of it in the team race. GSC scored 20 points (15 is a perfect score.) Morehead tallied 54, West Virginia State 66, West Virginia Tech 115, and West Virginia Wesleyan 95. The showing improved Lou Geary's squad to 13-1 overall and 7-0 in the West Virginia Conference.

GSC travels to Fairmont Saturday for an invitational meet which should offer some stiff competition. The Pioneers will once again have the services of Andy Jarrell, who missed due to testing, and Jesse Skiles, who has been slowed by illness.

Barker Experiencing GSC Running Glory

by Steve Keenan

College freshmen have to make adjustments. Sometimes it's even more difficult for student-athletes, since they have to juggle study time with practice time, not to mention all other aspects of life away from home.

Lori Barker, a freshman member of the Glenville women's cross country team, has had to endure these changes in lifestyle and locale, and so far she seems to be handling things well.

Barker, a 1986 graduate of Midland Trail High School where she placed third in the state track meet in both the 1600 and 3200 meters, has established herself as a force with which to reckon in the West Virginia Conference this fall.

She's placed second in two meets, sixth in one meet, and tenth in one meet. Only one girl, West Virginia State's Crystal Neal, has beaten

Lori Barker

Barker in competition among WVC females. Barker and Neal, along with a couple of girls from West Liberty, figure to be fighting it out for the number one position at the conference meet.

Barker is training more than ever (the 34 miles she recorded last week was her highest total ever), and she feels she's becoming a stronger runner. Plus, Barker has to get used to running without a full team to back her up.

Andrea Davisson, Lori's only teammate, has been out with an injury, so Barker has competed in two meets as GSC's lone female. "It would make it more fun if we had a team. We would push each other more," she said.

Morning runs are a big aid in her training, Barker feels. She is one of a group which runs four miles nearly every morning at 6 a.m. "I like the morning runs," she stated. "In high school, I wasn't even thinking about getting up at 6 a.m., much less running."

The male runners have helped a lot, Barker says. "They made me feel right at home, and training with

Woodhouse Honored

Aaron Woodhouse, Glenville's standout freshman defensive lineman, received WVIAC Player of the Week honors for his exploits in the victory over West Virginia State. He is the first Pioneer to attain Player of the Week in two years.

Woodhouse had eight tackles and four assists in the game plus four quarterback sacks. He is a 6'3", 230 pound defensive end from Portsmouth, Virginia. He led a Pioneer defense that shut down the Yellow Jackets for a 6-5 win, and a convincing defensive performance.

places. Webster came to Glenville and took over Scott's car, home and classes, while Scott returned the favor and assumed Webster's surroundings.

It was a year Charles Scott won't be likely to forget in the near future.

In addition to teaching Webster's classes, which included projects set up by course tutors in general art and design education, Scott and his wife Janet got to experience European culture first-hand.

They were treated to hearing and attempting to decipher numerous dialects. They had time to sample the multitude of small shops catering to nearly every whim. During a spring vacation of approximately two and one-half weeks, the Scotts traveled to the Republic of Ireland, and they took a ferry from Dover, England to Oostende, Belgium. From there, they drove through Belgium, France, Luxembourg, Switzerland, Germany, and the Netherlands.

All in all, the Scotts drove 15,000 miles throughout the United Kingdom, visiting such places as Wales, Scotland, Northern Ireland, and the Outer Hebrides. Of course, they had to conquer the British way of driving before they could go anywhere.

"At first, it was hard to get used to driving from the left side of the road. Then, you have to get used to driving in the roundabouts," said Scott. "After a while, it wasn't as bad."

Ohnimgohow...Oldest on Campus Players Celebrate 60th

by Lisa McHenry

On October 8, 1926, a small group of theatre enthusiasts at GSC felt the need to form a theatre-affiliated organization. This auxilliary would help with the production of plays and provide some honor for the participants. Later in that same year the name Ohnimgohow was adopted for the group. This word, in its original Indian meaning, means "the meeting of two rivers."

Translated in theatre language, one might say it meant the confluence of acting and technical work. The first two shows presented by the group 60 years ago were "Goodnight, Station YYYY" and "The Valiant."

This week Ohnimgohow celebrates its sixtieth anniversary. The current membership is planning a Mardi Gras on Wednesday, October 8, from 12 noon to 12 midnight at the amphitheatre. Face painting, dancing, refreshments, and costume contests will all be part of the festivities.

Everyone is encouraged to come and join in the celebration, and we congratulate Ohnimgohow's 60 years of fine contributions to Glenville State College.

A good part of the transportation system that Scott said he'd 'really miss' was the mass transit. "You could pay one pound ($1.45) and ride the bus or train to Liverpool and back."

The Southport College emphasized art in a more professional vein rather than towards the education end, according to Scott, who is a professor of art in his twenty-seventh year at GSC. "They have a different approach. They think more toward professional art," Scott explained. "The students are better off in the arts area over there, but here they're better otherwise academically."

"Overall, it was a very educational and intriguing experience," Scott related. "I've brought back lots of good ideas which my students should enjoy."

As far as going back: "I'd love to go back again. I'd love to live there."

To qualify for the Fulbright program, Scott first submitted a resume then underwent an interview involving five interviewers. Finally, they matched up the applicants with their foreign counterparts.

"The program is a very profitable one," Scott said of the Fulbright, which was initiated in 1961. "GSC faculty members should avail themselves of the opportunity."

Scott, who was West Virginia's only representative last year, urges all GSC faculty to contact him for the information. Application forms and resumes must be submitted no later than October 15.

If quiet, diminutive Lori Barker continues to adjust and improve as she has, she will keep feeling right at home-on the top step of the victory stand.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Last week I wrote in a letter asking a multitude of questions. At the risk of making this section appear as my weekly column, I wish to make another entry.

Of all the comments I heard about my letter last week, I found that most applied to the alleged overweight welfare recipients. I find it interesting that people's ire was raised by such a meaningless observation. Of all the questions asked, that particular question ("If our welfare people are so hungry, why are so many of them fat?") was the most inane subject touched upon. This question was totally lacking in any importance in the face of world events, but I notice that this campus's interest in political issues is much less than its indignation at a pointless, yet mildly offensive question.

How can we let our minds tarry on these levitous nothings when commanding issues could possess our thoughts?

Well GSC, you have proven my dreaded hunch. The trivialities of our lives are apparently all-consuming, while our unstable future is made subordinate to our nonsensical indignation over meaningless matters.

If I may, I'll leave you with one more question. Why is it not until election year that our government begins to worry about drugs and Apartheid?

Lisa J. McHenry

Reverently Speaking

(Matt. 22:37-38) "Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind." This is the first and greatest commandment.

Too many times we put other things before God. We always find time to do the things we want to do from going golfing on a beautiful Sunday morning or watching TV to doing drugs. But when God wants us to live for him or do things for him, we're too busy. Too many people are making alcohol, drugs, or simple activities their God. I just pray that people will wake up and see that what they're doing is wrong.

There is only one God out there and he is ready to come into your heart. All you have to do is accept him and commit yourself to him. Please do that before it's too late.

This week Baptist Campus Ministry is meeting in the basement of the First Baptist Church on Main Street Thursday at 7:30 p.m. We will be watching a film on "His Image My Image" by Josh McDowell. Come on down for some good Christian Fellowship. These meetings will continue every Thursday in October.
