Committee Begins Review

by Greg Starcher

Filling the position of Head Football Coach is the awesome task facing the screening committee selected for that purpose. The screening committee will review applications from over 25 individuals. Serving on the screening committee are: Mr. Jesse Lilly, Director of Athletics at GSC; Dr. Randy Hunt, Chairman of GSC's Division of Physical Education; Dr. Gary Snyder, President of GSC's Faculty-Administrative Organization; Dr. James Shaver, a Weston dentist, and Phillip Reale, a Glenville lawyer, member of the Glenville State College Board of Directors; Ken Davis of Parkersburg will be the Alumni Representative, and Mary Ware of Summersville will serve as the student representative.

Members of the screening committee were selected to represent a cross-section of the college community. The members were selected by President Simmons, Athletic Director Jesse Lilly, and Dr. Bruce Flack, Vice-president of Academic Affairs.

The screening committee was scheduled to meet Tuesday, Jan. 20, to begin review of applications to determine which candidates will be invited for interviews.

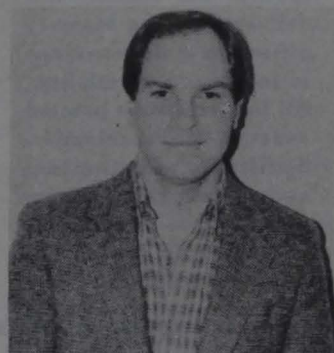

The committee will make its recommendations to President Simmons, after the interviews. A new head football coach is expected to be named by Feb. 1.

New Faces on Campus

Doyle Hupp

by Tinya Harl

One of the new additions to the Glenville State College Faculty family, is Mr. Doyle Hupp. He is a 1982 alumni of GSC, with a degree in Land Surveying.

Mr. Hupp is a native of Grantsville, where he and his wife and 3 children reside, so he is very familiar with this "neck of the woods."

Mr. Hupp will be here for this semester only--he is temporarily replacing Mr. Rick Sybolt (who is away on a sabbatical), in the Land Surveying department.

Prior to accepting his position here at GSC, Mr. Hupp was employed with Smith Land Surveying Co., here in Glenville, since his graduation in 1982. He plans to return after this semester. When Mr. Hupp was asked "If GSC offered you a permanent position next year, would you accept?" He said he was undecided at this time. Teaching this semester would give him the opportunity to decide what he would like to do with his future.

John Mark Spears

by Cindy Houston

Mr. John Mark Spears is GSC's new petroleum engineering instructor in the Forestry Department at Eberle Hall. An article in the JPT (that's the Journal of Petroleum Technology) inspired Mr. Spears to give teaching a whirl.

He received his Bachelor of Science degree from WVU and has had five years of hands-on, field experience. This qualified Mr. Spears for the position and he joined us

Born in Texas, Mr. Spears comes to us after spending much time in a few of the major petroleum producing states. He is a member of the Society of Petroleum Engineers, and says he enjoys his job here at GSC.

Georgina Fogel

by Harriet Whipkey

There's a new face in The Division of Business this semester. Georgina Fogel was born in Budapest, Hungary and received her B.S. in International Business Management from The University of Economics in Budapest in 1978. She came to the United States in 1979 and worked in New York City for a time.

Fine Arts Update

According to Linda McKown of the GSC Public Relations office, some dates have been quoted concerning the construction of the Fine Arts Complex.

The demolition contract called for the site to be cleared by January 15. Though this particular area is a little behind schedule, the contract bids on construction should be assigned to a construction company by March 15. President Simmons is hoping to hold a groundbreaking ceremony by April 15.

There are no plans to convert the auditorium in the Administration Building into office space. The auditorium will be left as it is for speakers and rehearsals and the lighting equipment will be left intact.

"It Seems to Me..."

In his state of the state address Governor Moore described higher education as "probably the greatest single area of neglect" in West Virginia. He included in his budget $8.9 million in new spending to increase college and university employee salaries (half for the faculty and half for the staff).

At the same time, Governor Moore asked for $25 million to build a new football stadium at Marshall University but failed to fund by $2 million the cancer center proposed for West Virginia University. In this so-called 'year of education,' how is it possible to fund a 25 million dollar stadium when there are so many more important projects needing funded? The fans at Marshall don't even fill the current 17,000 seat stadium there. Why do they need a 30,000 seat stadium?

The proposed $8.9 million for college employee salaries would be used mainly for the purpose of bringing salaries up to minimum levels already set by the legislature. Under the governor's proposal, many college teachers will receive less than a five-percent raise. This is a far cry from the ten-percent raise for state elementary and secondary school teachers.

Under the current proposal, West Virginia's ranking compared to pay scales in other states will drop. To avoid this prospect, the legislature needs to include more money for college and university employee salaries and find a more equitable distribution formula.

If this is truly to be a 'year of education' in West Virginia the first thing the legislature should do is throw out the stadium proposal and use the money for projects that are useful to education. These projects should include the cancer center at WVU and a more reasonable pay raise proposal for college faculty members.

Dear Editor,
Dreams are a sense of reality in which some people believe to be life in itself while working hours are just a figment of our subconscious. So it is easy to understand why people say one thing and mean another, its simply because they dreamt it and believe it to be real. This statement is concerning the issue of Athletes being able to choose their sports without the strong influence of their coaches or coach to stick to one sport regardless of the vast talent that they may possess. It is not true that football players are only allowed to play football but Mr. Barnes has a new concept. If you work yourself to death five days a week with matroom exercises and lifting the four remaining days. You can run track right after you finish your workout. So what good is a athlete who is pushed to the outer limits of exhaustion and then has to go to track practice to do relatively the same things. Yes the track team lifts weights three days a week and runs three days. So what is the difference Mr. Barnes, the difference is that you may have dreamt that football players can only be football players because your program is the best. This has hurt the track program but just like your dreams, this isn't reality, you are.

A former football player,
Lloyd Willis

Dear Students,
I would like to officially declare my candidacy for the office of Student Congress President. For the past 2 years I have been on Congress, originally as a dorm representative and the last three semesters as a Student Congress Secretary. As secretary I have had to work closely with 2 presidents of Student Congress. My secretary position has enabled me to make contacts and form channels which I feel that I can use for Congress benefit.

I have other leadership positions around campus including President of the American Chemical Society and President of Chi Beta Phi. I feel my involvement in Student Congress and other various organizations over the past three years as a GSC student has given me experience and ideas to which I can apply to the position of President.

If elected, I know I can fulfill the responsibilities of Student Congress President. I feel that my experiences with various organizations as well as holding my present Student Congress office of secretary makes me more than qualified for the job. As president of Student Congress, I will serve, to the best of my ability, you the GSC student.

Sincerely yours,
Kelly Haynes

The Week of Prayer for Christian Unity was originated in the United States in 1908. This was due to the efforts of two Episcopalian Franciscans: Father Paul Wattson and Sister Lurana White.

Participants from each of the churches active in the Gilmer County Ministerial Association will be leading us in our worship this year. Our campus ministers will also be participating. Karen Frank will be the liturgist and Father Arnold Lang will be the main speaker.

In an age of religious turmoil and denominational factions, let us come together to pray that we may become "One in the Spirit."

Reverently Speaking

"Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding; in all your ways acknowledge Him and He will make your paths straight." Proverbs 3:5-6.

When I was about six, I was learning to swim. I always gripped the pool's edge until my knuckles turned white. But my instructor thought I could learn faster if I let go. So I took a breath, loosened my grip...and just about drowned. The harder I kicked and splashed the faster I sank.

My instructor kept saying, "Don't fight the water, trust it to hold you up." After a few weeks I learned to trust the water to hold me up, and I could even swim the length of the pool.

Learning to trust God is much like learning to swim. The hardest part is simply letting go and trusting God for things such as temptation, death of a close one, or working out problems at home or school. You may agonize over your uncertainties and insecurities. But God is there to support those who can learn to rest in His certainty and security. To you He promises a future and a hope.

BCM meets at 8:00 p.m. on Thursday in the Annex of the First Baptist Church of Glenville.

It seems hard to believe that second semester is in full swing. Those of us in Baptist Campus Ministry would like to send our best wishes to each of you for a prosperous semester. We also want to extend an open invitation for you to be a part of our fellowship which meets every Thursday night at 8:00 in the Baptist Church annex on Main St. (next to the First Baptist Church)

One of the neat things about being in college is that it offers opportunity for new experiences and growth. Being a part of BCM is one way to grow and discover new dimensions in the Lord. Growth begins within you...dare to reach out.

...that ye might be filled with the knowledge of His will in all wisdom and spiritual understanding."

CATCH THE SPIRIT

When we fail to eat a nourishing diet or to get proper exercise we run into trouble. We lose energy. We have accidents, and sometimes we get ill.

When we fail to find intellectual stimulation we tend to become bored or boring. We need to exercise our minds as well as our bodies.

As humans, we are also social beings with emotional needs. We need to feel good about ourselves and others. We need to receive and give love. If not we may become cynical, withdrawn, or depressed, etc.

But we are more than physical, intellectual beings with social/emotional needs. We also have a spiritual dimension. We operate out of a sense of values and relate to a power (God) greater than ourselves. When we neglect our spiritual needs we may lose our sense of purpose or be overcome by a sense of GUILT.

But we are BUSY people. Sometimes we don't have time to exercise, or even eat our meals on a regular basis. And the hurrier we go, the behinder we get. It can all be so overwhelming. In our BUSYNESS we neglect to take care of ourselves. As a consequence we lose more energy. We work twice as hard to get half of the usual work done. And if we are not careful, we can soon find ourselves in a vicious, no-win cycle: No time-No energy-No time, etc.

But there is a solution. First evaluate your situation. Discover the areas of your life that you are neglecting. Plan ways of meeting your needs. Take some of your precious TIME to implement your plans. Time is precious and should not be wasted or misused. Learn to prioritize your time and responsibilities. You may even need to discard some of the less productive and important duties.

When you take care of yourself you will not find any more hours in the day. But you should discover that your work will be done more efficiently and effectively. You should feel better rested and have more energy.

Glenville State College gives us many opportunities to help us meet our various needs. The local churches welcome us to share with them in their journeys of faith. In addition, the Wesley Foundation is available to develop our spiritual dimension. The Rainbows Chapel is open daily for prayer and meditation. Other programs include: Bible study-7:00 - 8:00 p.m. Wednesdays; Sunday School-10:00 - 10:45 a.m. Sundays.

Pioneers Have 1-2 Week, Fall to 6-9

With Saturday's loss to the 3-11 Salem Tigers, Glenville State's Pioneer basketball squad reached the low point of their season. The team has now lost seven of their last eight games and their record stands at 6-9. Needless to say, this is a very frustrating period for fourth-year head coach Gary Nottingham.

Nottingham did not have many good words to say when commenting on last week's three games. The week featured a win over Concord followed by losses to West Virginia State and Salem. Even in speaking of the Concord victory he noted "It was indeed a much needed win, but we didn't really play well. It was an up and down game for us."

He was somewhat pleased though with the effort in the State game, saying that the score was not indicative of the game. "We did have 25 minutes of pretty good basketball down there, plus we did a good job in terms of getting physical with them" Nottingham said.

Then came the Salem game...a game Nottingham called "the most disappointing effort in my four years as head coach." Salem has been playing better of late and Glenville has been in a horrendous slump, but I'm sure this will not lessen the sting of the defeat. Coach Nottingham examined this game saying "Salem gave us a lesson on the things we should be doing...things we were doing; very aggressive defense, going after loose balls, and moving well on offense."

At this point last season the Pioneers were also 6-9, yet ended up 15-12. Hopefully we can see a similar turn around this season.

Glenville 76 Concord 69

The Glenville State Pioneers slipped by the Concord Mountain Lions 76-69. The host Pioneers went head to head with the Lions until Matt Bullett's two-pointer put Glenville ahead to stay at the 7:44 mark of the first half. Bullett surpassed the 30 point mark for the ninth time this season. Bullett also had a game-high six assists. Backing up Bullett's 31 markers was Rudy Watts with 17. John Harris and Paul Grier also hit double digits with 12 and 10 respectively. Grier also snagged 11 caroms for the Pioneers.

WV State 99 Glenville 66

The Pioneers found the West Virginia Yellow Jackets on a rampage last Wednesday night at Institute. The Yellow Jackets took a commanding half-time lead and never looked back. Glenville dropped to 6-8 overall, and 4-5 in the WVC. The WVC's leading scorer, Matt Bullett, poured in 25 points and Rudy Watts had a respectable 17 point showing. Glenville had a major problem on the boards as West Virginia State picked off 48 rebounds to Glenville's 28. Todd Smith picked off six rebounds to lead Glenville.

Salem 65 Glenville 58

Glenville dropped a 65-58 decision to visiting Salem Saturday night. The Tigers' hard-nose defense stifled Matt Bullett throughout the game. With Bullett being ineffective, Rudy Watts took charge hitting 18 markers and grabbing 9 rebounds. Glenville, which trailed by a 33-27 count at the half, surged to a 38-37 lead before Salem took the lead again and held the Pioneers off. Backing Watts and Bullett were Paul Grier and John Harris with 10 and nine markers, respectively.

Watts: The Unsung Hero

by Jesse Skiles

Rudy Watts has enjoyed a fine career at Glenville, but he has never really received the credit that he truly deserves. Rudy will be the first to tell you that he has never been the "star" here. "Glenville basketball since I've been here has meant Clay Young, Rich Moore, or Kenny Taylor and now of course, people think of Matt Bullett" Watts said.

Despite this fact, Watts has in fact provided Coach Nottingham with a very productive four years of play. There have been games when

Rudy Watts

Watts has been the "Star," and he does have respect from players and coaches even if his name isn't in the paper a great deal. Besides it's not really a big thing to the soft spoken Watts. "I just want to win" Rudy commented.

Watts was the hero in Glenville's biggest win over the last four years, last season's tournament win over Shepherd. Watts connected on a 12 foot jumper in the game's waning seconds for the victory. Rudy commented that the play wasn't designed for him, but Paul Grier managed to get good penetration and spotted Watts in the open. It was a fitting way to top off another fine season for Rudy.

Rudy is again playing well this season, but the Pioneers are struggling as a team. Watts says that the primary problem has been a lack of

Ladies Have 1-1 Week, Remain at .500

Weekly review by Jesse Skiles

Game reports by Scott Johnson

Glenville's Lady Pioneers had a 1-1 week to keep their record squared at 6-6. Last week featured a disappointing last-minute loss to Salem and a sound victory over West Virginia State.

Coach Tim Carney expressed disappointment in the way that his squad has been losing games lately (the team has now lost three of their four games). "In both the Concord and Salem games our squad had more field goals but lost at the free throw line. We are simply committing too many stupid fouls" Carney said. Not only are opponents getting more opportunities from the line, but Carney is also losing valuable minutes from some key players due to the foul problems.

Concerning the Salem game, Carney said that both teams were merely "going through the motions." Just like the Concord game, the Ladies blew a lead at the end of the game. In this instance, the squad had a six-point lead with only four minutes left.

Then State brought changes in the Glenville lineup and Carney used several different combinations throughout the contest. The moves proved to be beneficial as the team downed the Lady Jackets. Carney praised the effort saying "We received a very productive game from Tammy Pence, Kim Fox provided a spark, and Rhonda (Hicks) really got on the boards...This was a win that we really needed."

Salem 72
GSC 69

The Salem Tigers overcame a five-point deficit at intermission to post a 72-69 victory over host Glenville. The Lady Pioneers attempted 10 more field goals than did Salem but connected on two less. The Lady Pioneers were led by Monique Johnson's 23 points. Kim Creel was impressive as she struck for 18 markers and pulled down a game-high 15 rebounds. Niki Randolph had a dozen points and dished off 13 assists.

Glenville 74
WV State 57

Tammy Pence hit the nets for 25 points to pace the Lady Pioneers to a 74-57 decision over West Virginia State. The host Lady Pioneers took a quick lead and went to the locker room up by a 36-23 count at the half. The Lady Pioneers never had to glance over their shoulder as they raised their record to 6-6. Supporting Tammy Pence was Monique Johnson as she hit for 13. Niki Randolph had a game-high six assists to add to her four points. Rhonda Hicks hit the net for nine points with 10 rebounds to her credit.

defensive intensity by the Pioneers. He described the slump by saying "It's sort of like a slow leak in a tire, we are going to have to patch it up soon or it will go flat."

Watts attributes his success to two people; Coach Nottingham and Clay Young. Young tutored Watts as a player and as a coach while Rudy and teammate Matt Bullett will be the first four-year players for Coach Nottingham. Rudy said that he really wanted a chance to say "thanks" to these people in this story.

Nottingham returns praise to Rudy. "Rudy has been a very dependable, fundamental, and consistent performer" the coach said. Nottingham praised Watts for his strength outside as well as his passing ability. He is also a fine perimeter shooter.

Perhaps Rudy's legacy will be of superstar quality. He says that he simply wants to be remembered as a guy who played hard and played team ball. For the senior co-captain, his performance has told the story that the newspapers have not.

Slam Dunk

Lloyd Willis won the TKE sponsored slam dunk contest Monday night at halftime of the ABgame. Glen Johnson started the contest with a miss which bounced off the rim. Jim Shaver was next and slammed a two hander through. Lloyd Willis made a power dunk and seemed to have an advantage at the end of the first round. After Glen Johnson's second round miss and Jim Shaver's third round miss it was up to Lloyd to put one more through. He finished in style and took the 1st place trophy home. Lloyd stated afterwards that he "would have felt better" if the others had not missed, and it would have made things a little tougher.

Shrader Continues to Contribute

by Jesse Skiles

Marsha Shrader is the only senior on the 1986-87 Lady Pioneer team, and though she is not a starter, she is a valuable member of the team. For three years now, she has been one of Coach Carney's major contributors off the bench.

"It doesn't bother me that I don't start; I have always known what my role was, and we have always been winners here. I figure I could have went somewhere such as A-B or Salem and got to play more, but winning is a lot more fun" Shrader said.

Concerning her role on the squad, Shrader is aware that she is usually called on to provide an offensive spark. "Shooting is what I'm in there for. If I come off the bench and I'm not hitting, then I haven't done my job" Shrader elaborated. She has provided Carney with versatility as she can be used as either the two-guard or as a small forward. She helps where ever she is needed.

The Physical Education and Safety major is one of the few remaining college athletes who played high school ball at old Harrisville High School. Shrader said that she is not sad that the Gators no longer exist saying that the move was best for the county.

Marsha plans to go into coaching after college and is excited about the prospect of being a teacher/coach. She says that Coach Carney has taught her a lot, calling him the best coach that she has ever had.

Shrader was a member of the 1983-84 Lady Pioneer squad that featured some of the greatest players to wear a Lady Pioneer uniform: Bunny Taylor, Tina Burkhamer, Sonja Bailey, Kim Maynard, and Maria Lothes. Ironically though, she feels that this year's edition of the Lady Pioneers has more talent. "This is the most talented team I have

Speaking more so as a fan than as a sportswriter, I am having trouble digesting the problems our basketball teams are having. Perhaps I should consult Dr. Sjostrom in this matter because this situation appears to be in many ways, very psychological.

Consider the following....as a fan sitting at a home game first semester, it didn't really matter what the score was or the opponent, there always seemed to be a feeling that our squad could pull the game out. Now the feeling is just the opposite. In many ways it is hard to believe that we are looking at the same bunch of players out there. Perhaps they have undergone a similar psychological change as the fans as a result of the recent slump.

Matt Bullett was the subject of two feature stories last week in the Charleston papers. Not only was the story about Matthew, but there was also a great deal of commentary on the town of Glenville. The following were some of the passages: 1) a town that still shops via Sears catalog 2) a town where the Go-Mart vies for the tallest building 3) a town that makes Martinsburg seem like Paris 4) On excitement in Glenville - It takes exactly eight seconds for the spotlight to change 5) A fascination with the fact that coach Gary Nottingham rubs snuff.

Whatever the rest of the world thinks, I love this cute little town to death...and I'm a native Charlestonian. Long Live The Pioneers.

In closing, I must thank Scott Johnson for deciding to help me do the sports. I am grateful beyond the capacity of rational thought.

played on. We are so young though...I think we will snap out of our slump if we can get our act together. We must learn to be ready to play each and every game" Shrader added.

Time is now winding down on one of the premier role players in Lady Pioneer history. Next year she will no longer be there for Coach Carney to summon off the bench. She has been a winning person on some winning Glenville teams.

GSC Poll

Who do you think should be coach of the Pioneer football team? You will have the chance to voice your opinion on this topic. During the next week Mercury Sports writer Scott Johnson will conduct a poll of the Glenville State College student body and faculty members along with the administrative staff. The results will be published in next week's Mercury.

Matt Cornett Named LBH House Director

by Harriet Whipkey

traveled extensively, Matt considers himself a true West Virginian.

Since coming to GSC in 1985, Matt has proven that he can handle responsibility. In the Fall of 1985, he was an office worker in Louis Bennett Hall, moving up to RA in the Spring of 1986 and Head RA the following Fall. He seems well-equipped to now tackle the awesome position of House Director.

In addition to his studies, Matt is president of the Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity, a member of the Forestry Club, and an SP-4 with the 119th Detachment of the National Guard. He's definitely an outdoors personality, enjoying hunting, skiing, and so on.

This level-headed, direct 21-year old has a maturity beyond his age. He certainly gives one the impression that he can "handle it." GSC is fortunate to have Matt Cornett on duty.

GSC's Louis Bennett Hall has a new House Director this semester. However, Matt Cornett is no newcomer to the GSC campus. A 1983 graduate of Buckhannon Upshur High School, Matt has been at Glenville since the Spring 1985 semester when he entered the forestry program as a freshman. Although he was born in Cherry Point, NC and has

Ware Receives Frazier Award

by Minnie McNemar

When you walk into the office of Dr. Randy Hunt you may be met by office assistant Mary Ware, recipient of this year's Frazier Award. The Frazier Award is given to a student of political science, and the recipient receives a trip to Charleston during the month of February to participate in and observe a week of the West Virginia Legislature. The amount of actual participation by the recipient depends upon the wishes of the delegate or the senator to whom the recipient is assigned.

Mary Ware has achieved the honor of being named in this year's edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. She is a member of the Student Accounting Society and Phi Beta Lambda. She, her husband Jeff, a music major at GSC, and their five and a half year-old son Chris live in the college trailer court. After receiving her degree in August she plans to do graduate work in her field.

Ms. Ware is a 1980 graduate of Nicholas County High School. She is an accounting major and has made the Dean's List each semester. Having attended summer sessions as well as regular semesters, she will graduate with a degree in accounting in August.

Campus GPA's Released

higher average and Delta Zeta had ten members with a 3.0 or higher GPA.

The Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity had an overall GPA of 2.6186 and had nine members with a 3.0 or better GPA. Tau Kappa Epsilon had a 2.5203 overall average and three members with a 3.0 or better GPA.

Other campus grade point averages include: Overall Female Average, 2.9104; Overall Student Average, 2.7379; Overall Sorority Average, 2.7321; Overall Greek Average 2.6616; Overall Fraternity Average, 2.5822; Overall Male Average, 2.5019.

New Faces on Campus

Married in 1983, Ms. Fogel and her husband moved to West Virginia in 1984 and began operating a homestead - hard work and long hours. In addition, in 1984 Ms. Fogel was employed by Parkersburg Community College, first in the capacity of Assistant to the Dean of Instruction and later as instructor. In her 'spare time,' she worked toward her master's degree. In 1986, two of her goals were realized! She received her M.B.A. from West Virginia University and she became a United State's citizen.

Ms. Fogel has an impressive background in several fields including linguistics, international business, and business management, to name a few; but it is apparent in talking with her that teaching is her vocation. She is people-oriented and enjoys the opportunities for interaction with students. Teaching also provides an outlet for her creative urges. Here at GSC she is provided with ample opportunities as she fills in for Cheryl McKinney who is on a leave of absence.

Ms. Fogel expressed great optimism for the growth potential of the Mountain State and is happy to be a part of its destiny. She and her husband reside in Doddridge County and definitely consider West Virginia "home."
