Danny Ray Elected Student Congress President

I'd like to introduce to you our newly elected GSC Student Congress President, Mr. Danny Ray. He is originally a 1984 graduate from Wirt Co. H.S., in Elizabeth. This is his 2nd year serving as a member of the Student Congress. He was the sophomore representative last year and is currently serving as the Treasurer, until March 25, 1987—when he will officially be inaugurated into the presidency.

Danny is a participant in many activities in areas other than student government. He is a student representative for the GSC Board of Advisors, a member of the Glenville Students for Life, and the American Chemical Society.

Danny is majoring in Biology with a minor in Psychology, with intentions of continuing his education in the medical field.

Danny would like to make the student body aware of his hopes and intentions for the next academic year. "The SC is more than just a social activities organizer. We are the student governing body and we would like to do more than just organize social events."

He plans to initiate the reopening of the radio station, WGSC, hoping this will give the students a new line of interest.

He would like to create a new medium for learning about GSC. For example, "How many students are familiar with the alma mater?" He would like to get the students more involved in the GSC spirit and make them aware of the lack of participation in campus activities.

Danny wants the student body to know that EVERY—ONE is invited to the SC meetings. It's not just for SC members, visitors are always welcome. He also hopes that if anyone ever has a legitimate gripe, he will be glad to try and help find a solution.

The S.C.'s first order of business will be the fall Homecoming. Anyone with any new ideas for the theme, please contact Danny Ray, or any member of the S.C., we welcome any new ideas!

Petroleum Engineering Program Receives Grant

On February 11, 1987, during the Independent Oil and Gas Association's annual Winter Meeting at the Marriott Hotel in Charleston, Glenville State College was the recipient of a check for $5,000. The monies, presented to Dr. William K. Simmons, president of Glenville State College, by John Mork, president of Eastern Energy Corporation, at the Reclamation Awards luncheon, is to help fund the GSC Petroleum Engineering Technology Program.

The IOGA has donated $5,000 to this program for the past four years and according to a quote by Benjamin Hardesty, IOGA's chairman of the Board, "The Petroleum Engineering Technology program at GSC has been most beneficial to the oil and gas industry.

Since GSC is in the heart of the oil and gas region of West Virginia many of our members have directly benefited from that fine program. We are happy to continue our donations to GSC."

Dr. Simmons in accepting the donation stated, "We believe our Petroleum Engineering Program is unique. This donation reflects our partnership with the oil and gas industry. We feel proud that the Independent Oil and Gas Association has offered its financial help as well as its other support.

We are very interested in exploring the manner in which we might adapt our programs to the needs of the oil and gas industry. We plan to work closely with representatives of the oil and gas industry to find how we can be of more benefit to the industry by using our educational and in-service facilities."

Later, Dr. Simmons said, "The college is extremely grateful to the oil and gas industry for its assistance in this program. The college is trying to be as realistic as possible in the goals and objectives of the academic program. These funds from the oil and gas industry assured the meeting of these realistic goals." He further stated, "The college is aware of the difficult economic times for the oil and gas industry and of the sacrifice on part of the industry to raise this amount for the program. We certainly will be mindful of this as we use this $5,000 in the Petroleum Engineering program."

College to Conduct Economic Impact Study

The Vice-president of Administration, in cooperation with the Division of Business, the Economic Department, and the Community Resources Office is conducting a study of the economic impact of GSC on the local community. This survey will provide critical information, and students are asked to give their full cooperation in making the study work.

A cross-section of perhaps 300-400 students, along with GSC faculty and staff, will be asked to participate in a questionnaire survey. The survey will ask questions regarding personal spending patterns of participants. For instance, how much money is spent individually on housing, books, food, entertainment, clothing, etc., in the GLENVILLE AREA ONLY. Responses will be kept strictly confidential—no names or addresses will be asked.

Students are asked to give due consideration to their responses, keeping in mind the seriousness of the impact study. Your participation will be greatly appreciated.

The survey forms will be given out the first week of March through classroom instructors. Directions for completing the forms will be provided. The written report of the impact study should be available by the Fall of 1987.

If you have any questions, please contact Mr. Robert Gainer, ext. 128, or Mrs. Cinda Echard, ext. 239.

OPINION

"It Seems to Me..."

The addition of the Fine Arts Complex to the GSC campus should be a great asset in the area of recruiting students to attend GSC. Hopefully, the addition of the building will increase enrollment on campus.

However, increased on-campus enrollment will help to worsen an already troublesome problem. As on-campus enrollment increases so will the problem. As on campus enrollment increases so will the problem of where to park. There will probably be additional parking space made available when the building is complete, but it is doubtful that there will be enough parking spaces to alleviate the current parking problem.

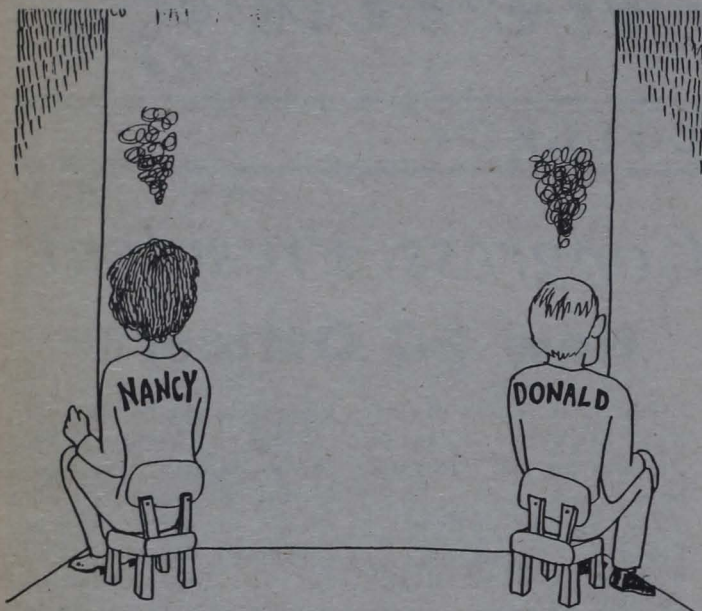

I am not against trying to increase enrollment or attempting to spur the growth of the college, but there must be some efforts made to alleviate the current parking problems on campus before this growth takes place.

We would like to congratulate the winners in last week's Student Congress elections. We are sure that the new members have many new ideas they wish to introduce to the student body. I am sure that the Mercury staff, as well as myself, will be glad to assist you in any way possible.

We also would like to wish the Pioneers (men and women) the best of luck in the WVIAC tournament. We hope that the students at GSC attend the tournament games and let our athletes and coaches know how much they are appreciated.

Dear Editor,

I would like to thank those students who voted for me during the recent elections. I appreciate it very much!

I will do my best to help make the coming year a successful one for the GSC Student Body!

Sincerely,

Dear Students and Faculty:

As of April 1, 1987, I, James Dean resign the position of Assistant Intramural Director for the remainder of my term at Glenville State College. With much thought and consideration, I will remain with the program until the date stated above, to assist in the training of the individuals who will work with the program in the future, to insure a successful takeover without any change to the programs present status. My reasons for resigning are as follows: 1) I am graduating in the Fall of 1987. 2) I have fulfilled my obligation to the program as it is standard for the change in positions to take place at this time.

Sincerely,
James Dean

Dear Editor,

Who is paying for our (my) "higher" education? Is the dean of whatever paying, is my advisor paying? No it's my teacher right; no wait a minute, I think its me or my parents, with a possible government subsidy which is taking care of my education. If this is the case, where do teachers (Gods?) get off kicking people out of class when they miss "so many" days if they are making the grade.

I understand a person with a "C" or worse being reprimanded, but a B or A is taking it a little far. "You need to be in class every day to understand the material" Bull----. Obviously if I maintain an A or B I know it fairly well. Why force above average people to set through fifty minutes of boredom if they caught on to the material on Monday? Why should the intelligent pay for the shortcomings of others. After all, it's not our fault

Nottingham to Take it "One Game at a Time"

by Jesse Skiles

Our Glenville State Pioneers finished the season 15-12 overall and 12-9 in the WVIAC. They finished seventh in the league and will play number ten Wheeling Wednesday night at 9:00 p.m.

Jesse Skiles - Are you happy with the draw you have earned in Charleston?

Gary Nottingham - Well, I am pleased that we finished in the league's upper-half, but so many things can happen once you get to Charleston.

JS - How did you end up seventh this year at 12-9, when last year 12-8 put you in fourth?

GN - The conference is much more balanced this year. Last year our power rating was 95.0 and we were fourth, this year it is 100.0 and we are seventh. Last year you had three dominant teams and we were just the best of the rest. This year, there is only one dominant team that is followed by a bunch of very quality ball clubs.

J.S. - You have won six of your last seven and nine of your last twelve games. Do you feel the Pioneers are carrying a great deal of momentum into Charleston?

GN - It's true that we are playing pretty well right now. The good thing about that is that we are not going to Charleston to save our season, we are simply going down there for the continued enjoyment of a good season.

JS - The Pioneers have really been rolling up the points of late, can we expect much of the same offensively in Charleston.

GN - I think the games will be tighter and lower scoring in the tournament. We have been scoring a lot, but we really haven't been running. Against Shepherd for example, we scored 103 points, but we only attempted 54 shots from the field.

JS - Matt Bullett and Rudy Watts have been on fire lately; will you see anything different defensively?

GN - We shouldn't see anything that we haven't seen already...a straight man, box-and-one, triangle-and-two. We have seen them all this season. Our offense is designed to react to whatever the defense throws at us.

JS - Will the one-week layoff be a plus or minus?

GN - I won't be able to tell you until after Wednesday. It's too late in the season to make any excuses though, we have a job to do down there, and the guys are aware of that.

JS - How is your team's health at this point?

GN - We are as well as we have been for two weeks. We are ok.

JS - Is there anything that you would like to say to the GSC fans?

GN - Just come. I can't say that I approved of their four-letter words last year, but their enthusiasm was great. The atmosphere has been good this year, like college basketball should be. The fans have been good and so has the pep band. We are all Glenville State College.

JS - What is your general outlook for the tournament?

GN - I'm just taking one game at a time. Once you get to Charleston it's sudden death and it becomes such an emotional thing...the first night is key. That first usually sets an emotional tone for your stay at tourney, however long that may be.

Glenville 98
Cal. State 91

The Glenville State Pioneers took advantage of 22 Cal. State turnovers to post a 98-91 victory here in Glenville Monday night. Cal. State hampered with those turnovers throughout, was able to stay close with some dominance on the offensive boards. The Pioneers used a combination of good field goal shooting and free throw shooting to post a non-conference win.

Matt Bullett had another good performance with 37 points and six steals. Rudy Watts had another good performance with 21 points and nine rebounds. John Harris hit the net for 18 markers counting 8-for-8 free throw performance. Paul Grier once again was consistent with 13 points and a dozen assists.

Glenville 103
Shepherd 92

The Glenville State Pioneers were able to hold off a second half spurt by Shepherd to post their fourth straight win with a 103-92 conquest of the Rams.

The fans witnessed Rudy Watts and Matt Bullett perform for the final time at Glenville. Perform is exactly what they did as the senior combo combined for 73 points for the Pioneers.

Matt Bullett scored 24 of his 41 points in the second half on a 16 of 22 shooting performance. Bullett also had three steals, three blocked shots, five three-pointers, and an awesome game-ending dunk.

Rudy Watts had 32 points with 9 for 13 shooting and 14 of 14 from the charity line. Rudy also had seven rebounds for the Pioneers.

Carney Looking For Turnaround in Charleston

by Jesse Skiles

Jesse Skiles - Coach, it has been a tough last three weeks. Your squad has lost five of the last seven. Do you feel you are going into the tournament on a down note?

Tim Carney - Yes, we are somewhat down at this point. I thought we were moving in the right direction after the Tech and Wesleyan games, but then we went up to Shepherd and started making the same ol' mistakes. We have put ourselves in a pretty bad position for the tournament.

JS - Is your squad healthy at this point?

TC - I can see no major problems. We have some nagging colds but that is about it...just little things.

JS - The Lady Pioneer program has enjoyed ten winning seasons in a row, but this year's squad will not have to get the Final Four in order to have a winning season. Are the team members aware of that?

TC - Yes, I think they are aware of that fact. I only wish they would have been aware of things like that back in November. Our record should be much better at this point, but we let so many games slip away. We were only blown out on two occasions.

JS - Will playing morning or afternoon games be a factor in your team's performance?

TC - I would have to say it will. Last year's format was pretty good in that we were able to play in prime time. If we end up playing at 10 a.m. or at noon, it could really be tough.

JS - Nine of your eleven players are either freshmen or sophomores; you may have the youngest squad at the tournament.

TC - You always feel more comfortable going down there with some veterans, but we just don't have that many this year. Some of our girls have never seen the Civic Center. At this stage the mental aspect is more important than the physical.

JS - In wake of the recent tailspin, do you plan to do anything different for the tournament?

TC - Not really, it just boils down to each person wanting to play. I can change the lineup and the defense and so forth, but they are the ones who still have to shoot, rebound, and play defense.

JS - Your team played three games last week, including a Saturday trip to Shepherd. Do you feel they are entering the tournament as a tired unit?

TC - Yes, I think we are. It really hit us during the last ten minutes of the Shepherd game. We are also not in the playing condition that we need to be in at this stage of the season.

JS - Can you find a silver lining in all of the problems you have had this season?

TC - I do know we have some very solid talent. Hopefully next year we can come back with a little more maturity and a better attitude. Right now I just want to go down to Charleston and give it our best shot. We can play but it must be with more intensity.

last week's Lady Pioneer games

by Scott Johnson

Glenville 65
Wesleyan 64

Tammy Pence hit a buzzer-beater Thursday night to give the Lady Pioneers a 65-64 come back victory. After leading 33-28 at the half, the Lady Pioneers found the going tough as Wesleyan played a strong second half. Wesleyan took a 64-63 lead on the first of two free throws with only six seconds left. After the second toss bounced off the rim it appeared to have been touched last by Monique Johnson. However, the ball was given to the Lady Pioneers. The inbounds pass went to Niki Randolph who dribbled up to half-court and passed to Rhonda Hicks on the wing. Hicks spotted Pence at the foul line and fired the pass in. The shot hit nothing but net and the Lady Pioneers had their win.

Tammy Pence, the heroine, had 19 points and 15 rebounds to pace Glenville, Karen Wooters and Kim Creel each had 13 tallies apiece while Monique Johnson contributed 10 markers.

Shepherd 81
Glenville 78

The Lady Pioneers lost a 38-35 half-time lead and fell to host Shepherd 81-78. Ice-cold shooting in the second half allowed the Lady Rams to hand the Lady Pioneers a loss in the last regular season game.

Tammy Pence hit for a game high 24 points and snared a game-high 12 rebounds. Monique Johnson and Karen Wooters each pitched in 20 markers with Monique tearing down eight boards. Kim Creel added eight points and 10 rebounds to keep Glenville close.

The Lady Pioneers shot a dismal 31 of 85 for 36 percent for the game and turned the ball over 15 times.

Glenville 78
WV Tech 73

Monique Johnson had a game high 22 points last Tuesday as the Lady Pioneers toppled WV Tech 78-73.

The Lady Pioneers led at the break 43-33. WV Tech attempted a comeback but was unable to keep pace. Both teams had problems shooting and turning the ball over, which let each team stay close.

Supporting Monique's output and 11 rebounds were Karen Wooters' 18, Tammy Pence with 15 and Kim Creel with 11. Niki Randolph made her presence felt by snaring 12 caroms and giving out nine assists.

Dent to Nationals

by Jesse Skiles

Bubby Dent, the fastest guy to ever run a half-mile in the history of West Virginia High school track, has now made his mark in GSC Track history. This week Dent will be representing Glenville at the National Indoor Track Meet in Kansas City, Missouri.

Dent will have this 800-meter trials Friday at 1:30. Last year he finished 13th in the nation as a member of the University of Charleston squad. Dent commented "I feel stronger this season. At Glenville I have been able to run more indoor meets, and that should be a plus."

Jesse's Place

Yes, it's tournament time! This may very well be the biggest event of our school year, differing from homecoming and GSC Weeks in that it is a massive road trip surrounded by a party atmosphere. As long as the Pioneers are in the tourney you can count on some wild Pioneer fans roaming in our capital city.

This year is shaping up as an exciting tournament, and hopefully our guys can play well in Charleston. Glenville has won nine of their last twelve games and are entering the tournament very hot. Last year's squad made it to the Final Four and Charleston became a week long excursion for Pioneer fans.

Speaking of the Pioneer fans, this has been an exciting year for them as well. The emergence of the pep band and also "Ginn's Gang" has made games much more fun.

I really don't have anything else to say. I'm just going to join my frat brothers and all my fellow Pioneer fans in the trek down I-79. Let's go Pioneers!

Tracy Daugherty, soprano

Robin Rhoades, clarinetist

Daugherty/Rhoades Recital Slated

by John F. Curran, Jr.

A senior recital will be presented on Sunday, March 1, 1987 at 3:00 in the auditorium. The two performers will be Tracy L. Daugherty, soprano, and Robin Rhoades, clarinetist.

Tracy is originally from Lynchburg, VA, but now resides in South Park, PA. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard M. Daugherty and is a member of MENC, Panhellenic Association, President of Sigma Sigma Sigma Sorority, a member of the Glenville State College Choir, marching band, concert band, and also the Charleston Symphony Choir. Her program will include selections from Dvorak, Rachmaninoff, Mahler, Mozart, Brahms, Handel, Scarleto, Caldara, and Eilers. There will be featured a duet with Mary Kay Jones, and a quartet with Padraic Burns, Rodney Malcomb, and Mary Kay Jones.

Robin is a graduate of Walton High School and lives in Harmony, WV. She is the daughter of Robert and Linda Rhoades. Her performance will be of Fantasy-Pieces (Schumann), Concerto (von Weber), Petite Piece (Debussy), Waltz Fantasy (Mozart), and Fantasy (Arnold).

The concert is free to the public and everyone is encouraged to attend. A reception will follow the recital in the Verona Mapel Room.

Warhol's Fame Endures

by A. Craig Drennen

The art world has lost one of its pillars of Modernism. On February 22, at 6:31 a.m., Andy Warhol was pronounced dead of cardiac arrest following a routine gallbladder surgery.

Born Andrew Warhola in Pittsburgh 59 years ago, he later graduated from Carnegie Institute of Technology (now Carnegie-Mellon University) with a BA degree in art.

He then worked at various small jobs, finally becoming an award-winning fashion illustrator in New York. He later became a fine artist, gaining fame for his paintings of Campbell's soup cans, Brillo boxes, and numerous celebrities including Jackie Onassis, Marilyn Monroe, and Elvis Presley. He won numerous awards for his film making abilities as well. A strong force in the Pop Art movement of the sixties, his work has stood the test of time and is considered to be of masterpiece quality. He has pieces in various museums such as the Whitney and the Museum of Modern Art in New York. It was he who coined the oft-repeated phrase that "everyone would be famous for fifteen minutes." It would be safe to assume that Andy's fame will be more enduring.

Rich Performs With Brass Quintet

The Charleston Symphony Brass Quintet will perform in concert Wednesday, February 25, at 8:00 p.m. in the Glenville State College Auditorium.

The Quintet was formed from the Charleston Symphony Orchestra to present to Charleston and the state of WV another source of high quality musical entertainment, via chamber music, while in the process showcasing the quality musical talent that exists in Charleston. Another reason was to provide educational opportunities to public school students throughout the state by presenting school concerts and master classes.

The Quintet is composed of the following performers: David Porter, first trumpet; Harry Rich, second trumpet; Marsha Palmer, french horn; John Mead, trombone; and Terry Roush, tuba.

David Porter is Charleston Symphony Orchestra's principal trumpeter. The Charleston native has been with the CSO for five years. He is a graduate of Oberlin College Conservatory of Music and has performed with the Lexington Symphony, Lilliput Orchestra and the West Virginia Brass and is a member of the jazz group Still Portrait.

Harry Rich is an Associate Professor of Music at Glenville State College. He is a graduate of the University of Kentucky and has a M.M. from W. Michigan University. He has been with the CSO since 1978.

John Mead is principal trombonist for the CSO. He has degrees from Ithaca College, the University of Kentucky and is on the faculty of Marshall University.

Terry Roush is CSO's principal tuba player. A resident of Huntington, he attended Lynchburg Baptist College and is presently a wind instrument technician for Gorby's Music Inc.

Marsha Palmer, CSO's principal horn player, is in her third season with the CSO. She has a B.M. from Capital University in Columbus, Ohio and completed her graduate work at Ohio University. She has been guest artist with the Huntington Chamber series.

A nice portable typewriter and case was found in the Robert F. Kidd Library in November 1986 and has been turned in to the Lost and Found at the Student Services Office in the Administration Building. Please come by the office, describe your lost typewriter, and take it home.

The deadline for applications for Freshman Counselor is Monday, March 2 1987. Applications may be picked up in the Student Services Office.

Cheerleading Champs Compete

The Glenville State Pioneer cheerleaders will be competing at 8:30 Wednesday morning. The defending champs of 1985 have three returnees to the competition. Beth Oppe, Jenny Wilson, and Jeff O'dell will peg the path for the newcomers. Freshman Sandy Carney and Ramonda Hoover, along with Pioneer Jim Parsons, will be competing for the first time.

Kay Chico, the sponsor of the cheerleaders, states, "I wish them the best of luck. It is really a cute routine, one they have worked on really hard."

Ramonda added, "Most people don't think of us as athletes, but I doubt that many guys can do what Jeff can."

Difficult Roles Acted Well in O'Neill's Hughie

by Pat Ireland

GSC students, clutching their tickets as talismans, stepped into a time machine last Thursday and Friday nights and were transported to the Big Apple of 1928. As Charlie Hughes (Richard Russell) assumed his position as the desk clerk of a seedy, third class hotel just off Broadway, a study in loneliness began to play out.

Eric Smith (Dennis Wemm) still deeply mourning the loss of his "pal" Hughie, the hotel's former night clerk, provides a monologue-like insight into the working out of grief and pervasive loneliness while surrounded by millions of people.

For over 30 minutes, the two actors tackled the extremely difficult roles created by Eugene O'Neill and were very successful in projecting both the disinvolved night clerk and the lonely and frightened hustler.

As the play drew to a close, Eric and Charlie found a common ground in gambling and began as near to a friendship as they were capable.

A young contemporary audience may have found some difficulty with the slang expressions and context of the setting; however, the emotions involved came through clearly. All in all, a good job.

The students' photography exhibition that graced the main hall in the Administration Building is now being shown at the Nicholas County Center. Joe Hickman and Mike Horner arranged the collection to be moved to Summersville. Some of the pieces on exhibit have been sold. Hopefully, the exhibit will generate interest in the photography class, and in the art in general.

GSC students and faculty along with language art teachers from area secondary schools, attended the Writing Across the Curriculum workshop held last Friday in the Ballroom.

Writing Workshop Held

GSC students and faculty joined with secondary teachers from 15 area schools in attending the Writing Across the Curriculum workshop conducted by Professor Toby Fulwiler on Friday, February 20. Professor Fulwiler expounded his premise that reading and writing are at the center of curriculum and that students who read, write, and listen in all of their classes learn — to an audience of 35 GSC people and 32 secondary level language arts teachers. As a follow-up to the workshop, GSC will be conducting five writing across the curriculum seminars between now and the end of the semester. Faculty members from various disciplines will be attending the seminars, to be instructed by Dr. Robert Como.

college does not maintain a sophisticated advanced study program as do most High Schools.

College is supposed to be a transition from home life to the real world. If someone is getting C's or worse, then they need guidance; however, the elite should not be persecuted by the administration.

ps. Wouldn't it show more respect to miss class than to read National Geographic during a lecture?

p.s.s. When is our "up and coming institution going to add some foreign language classes to our curriculum?"
