HAPPINESS IS...

Commencement will be a happy time for you, the graduates of the Class of 1987, as academic degrees are conferred upon you in the One Hundred-Thirteenth Commencement Ceremony of Glenville State College.

As you leave this College and take fleeting glances backward, I trust you will remember a professor who really cared, who opened new windows in your minds, and who encouraged you to believe in your possibilities.

As President of Glenville State College, I want to convey my sincere congratulations to you for your achievements. I am proud of you and extremely pleased to provide the rites of Commencement.

The most precious asset of any society is well-educated people who keep the scholarly approach and who always remain teachable--this is my hope for you, the graduates of the Class of 1987.

Sincerely,

 President William K. Simmons

Dear Editor

As graduating Seniors we would like to extend our appreciation to the faculty, friends and business owners in Glenville for making our stay here as students enjoyable and enlightening. A couple years ago we did not know if we would ever graduate, seeing our friends drop out left and right. We had doubts but our family and friends did not, so as we walk down the aisle to receive our degree on May 9. Not only do we represent ourselves but we represent everything we stand for including our family and friends long gone. Being Va. natives, we still plan to visit G.S.C. To see changes, faculty and our friends. As we both go through life, we will fondly look back on our experiences at Glenville. Our friends, you'll will never be forgotten. And to our enemies, God bless you too.

"It Seems to Me..."

The time has finally come for graduation. Four years ago doesn't seem as far away right now as May 9th does.

Congratulations to the seniors who will be graduating this semester. You've worked long and hard for your degrees and are ready to receive your rewards. You have the right to be proud of what you have accomplished.

Now the hard part begins. You've been learning in order to find a job. It may take a lot of time and hard work just to find your first job. Once you find the job you've been looking for, then you must be able to perform and continue learning. You will have to compete with others who are just as eager to succeed as you are.

Last week, I mentioned the contributions of some of the staff members to the Mercury and the campus. I forgot to mention the work of some people who are not members of the staff.

The series of articles by Jackie Roth concerning the radio station was an excellent example of what can be accomplished when students get involved on campus. Jackie and Student Congress President Danny Ray led a fight that resulted in the possibility of the reopening of WGSC and the offering of courses to train those who wish to get involved in the reorganization. Jackie and Danny deserve our thanks for their efforts.

Right now, I can't wait until this semester is over. It seems that this has been the craziest semester I've seen since I've been here. With the Board of Regents shortening the semester and the Governor changing it again, I was beginning to worry about graduating this semester.

I know that soon I will begin to feel sad that it's over because I will miss this place and the people I've met here. To whomever replaces me as editor, I wish the best of luck.

I would like to thank Mrs. King and the Mercury staff for all of their support. They're a wonderful bunch of people and I will miss them most of all.

Best wishes to all of you.

Ballroom Dancing is Making A Comeback...

by Harriet Whipkey

The elegance of ballroom dancing is making a comeback, according to Mary Ann Yeager, instructor of GSC's Continuing Ed class in ballroom dancing. She says that she has seen a definite resurgence of interest not just among older dancers, but that "younger people are becoming more interested in what they perceive as a more gracious way of life." She said that the "...people waltzing around America today are not only members of an older generation, trying to recapture its past, but also a younger generation with no previous experience in ballroom dancing."

According to Yeager, GSC is the first college in the state to offer classes in ballroom dancing. The classes here at GSC, which will be ending April 29, had 20 participants, mostly people from out of town. Yeager expects to teach additional classes in ballroom dancing at GSC next Fall. At that time, previous class participants will build on skills to which they've been introduced, and newcomers will be provided the opportunity of learning first-hand the beauty of ballroom dances such as the waltz, fox trot, cha-cha, swing (also known as the jitterbug), the samba, rumba, tango and other Latin American dances. Yeager says that anyone can learn to dance, that it "sounds more complicated than it really is.

comes to the surface and you are twirling and whirling and gliding around the dance floor with professional abandonment."

Yeager says that besides her training and experience at the Arthur Murray Dance Studios, she has taught at the Frances Nestor's School of the Dance and has attended dance master's seminars in Columbus, Cincinnati and Chicago. She has been asked to begin classes in ballroom dancing at the Huntington Civic Center in April. She also has an engagement to teach dance classes at a ski resort in December and plans to open a chain of dance studios in other West Virginia cities.

Participants of the Ballroom Dancing enjoy a spin on the dance floor.

Stalnaker Europe Bound

by Lisa McHenry
Tammy Stalnaker, admissions counselor at GSC, will spend this summer traveling in Europe. She is taking the trip as a part of the World Team Youth Hostel based in Miami, Florida.

The object of the hostel is for the participant to grow in his or her spiritual life, learn about group dynamics, and to travel and see Europe. The participants will travel in groups of four or five and will see mainly three countries in Europe. Those countries will be decided on when the groups get together in Amsterdam.

The groups will travel with a Eurail pass and stay at each place four or five days.

The group will be interdenominational and will concentrate on a "sharing of ideas," says Tammy.

She has an art education K-

Tammy Stalnaker

12 degree from GSC and she is particularly interested in seeing the art work of Europe, especially Michealangelo's Sistine Ceiling and his statue of David.

Tammy says she wants to "strengthen my spiritual life and broaden my view of the world and international understanding." She looks forward to the interesting people she will meet and she plans to take plenty of photographs.

We wish Tammy luck and growth on her trip abroad.

Tracksters Capture Second Straight Pioneer Invitational

by Jesse Skiles

For the second straight season, the host Glenville State Pioneers claimed victory in the Pioneer Invitational. Coach Lou Geary's squad fought off a strong Berea (KY.) squad, and won by 15 points.

It was a cool and windy day at Pioneer Stadium as four states were represented in the meet. Glenville's men scored in all but three events on the day.

Four Pioneers were event winners on the day. This total includes the distance tandem of Bubby Dent and Andy Jarrell who were each double winners. Dent won the 800 and 1500 meter runs and set meet records in each. His 800 effort was a new school record 1:56.6. Jarrell won the 5000 and 10,000 meter runs successfully defending his meet title in the former. His time in the 10,000 of 32:53 was a new school record. Seniors John Lipscomb and Lloyd Willis were the other event winners. Lipscomb won the shot put in 39'7" while Willis set a new meet record in the triple jump with 45'9" effort.

High-point man on the day though, was Glenville's Gordon Stevens, even though he didn't win an event. The versatile Stevens finished second in the 100 and 200 meter runs and the shot put. He also added a third in the discus and a fourth in the javelin.

Glenville's women's squad also turned in an impressive performance Saturday. They finished second out of five schools even though only four women competed for GSC.

Tammy Pence was again the star, earning high-point honors in the meet with 24 1/2 point. She scored in seven different events (100, 100-hurdles, 4x400 relay, triple jump, long jump, high jump, and javelin), winning the triple jump with a new school record of 33'2".

Lori Barker also turned in an impressive performance on the day, scoring 13 1/2 points. Lori was undefeated on the day, winning the 800 and 3000 meter runs and running on Glenville's winning 4x400 meter relay team. Andrea Davisson and Diane Farley were the other Glenville women who scored in several events and played major roles in the squad's second place finish.

This week coach Geary's squads will be closing out the 1987 regular season by participating in the Twilight Invitational at Marshall. It will be the final regular season for several Glenville seniors. They are weightmen John Lipscomb and Jerry Burkhammer, sprinter Calvin Coleman, and Lloyd Willis who is both a sprinter and a participant in the jumping events.

Glenville runners took second, third, and fourth in the 400 meter dash. Their faces tell the story. They are (left to right) Casey Hess, Calvin Coleman, and Drew Taylor.

Athletic All-Academic Team II: The Phi Beta Pioneers

by Jesse Skiles

Sometimes athletes take a bad rap when it comes to academics. Glenville as well as the rest of the world has taken some cheap shots at athletes this year accusing them of being slightly less than Einsteins. Some are in fact substantially less than Einsteins, but there are many who take the books seriously.

This article is dedicated to those who are true scholar-athletes.

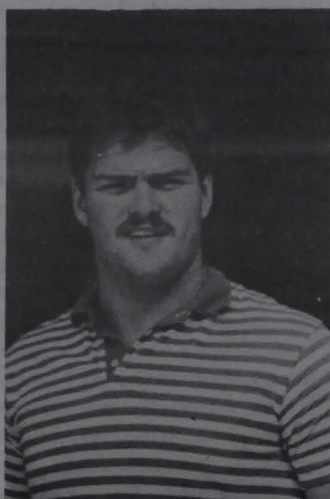

This is the Second Annual all-academic team for all GSC sports. The team consists of two divisions, ten men and ten women. Every GSC sport is represented at least once on the team.

For the women, there are three members from the basketball and volleyball teams. For the men the track team has four while the football and golf teams have three each.

Taking top honors this year were two newcomers on the list. For the women it was junior volleyball player Debbie Bunner who has cranked out a 3.85 average over the last three years. For the men it was freshman Rodney Barker of the football team who narrowly edged out freshman basketball player Drew Taylor, 3.29 to 3.27. Last year's leaders were basketballers Jon Ginn and Niki Randolph.

Rhonda Hicks

I would like to thank Athletic Secretary Sue Edwards for all of her help on this. Without it, this could not have been accomplished. I hope whoever replaces me as Sports Editor will continue this annual story. It has been well received by the coaches and shows a very positive side of our Athletic Department.

Letters of application are now being accepted for Mercury and Kanawha positions for Fall 1987. Apply by April 30 to Mrs. King in Room 4, Clark Hall.

Alumni Blue Team Defeats Gray, 143-137

by Jesse Skiles

Last Friday night the stars of yesteryear came out at the Glenville State gym. It was the 1987 Glenville State Alumni basketball game which was held in conjunction with GSC Week.

Defense was not in abundance as the two squads rolled up a total of 280 points. The Blue team defeated the Gray squad 143-137 in a game that saw 28 three-point field goals and an 85-point point second half by the Blue.

Matt Bullett and Scott Ludwig of the Gray combined for 13 of the long-range missiles on the night as those two scored 53 and 36 points respectively. For the Blue Rudy Watts pumped in 40, Don Bullett 37, Randy Anderson 24, and Fairmont State Assistant Coach Randy Hess, 21.

Participants were given a post-game reception by the End Zone Club. The event has received positive reviews and hopefully will be pursued once more in the future.

Jesse's Place

As I start my last column, it is really tough to think of everything I want to say. There is so much on my mind. To begin with let me apologize if I go off on tangents in this column... This is more of a swan song than a sports column.

First off, I want to tell you how much Glenville means to me. Needless to say, I love this place dearly... I just don't see how you could find anyone who cares more about this place than I.

You may ask how a Charleston boy ended up here, and I have a good explanation. Back in June of 1983 I spent a month in a Charleston Hospital recovering from a nerve disorder. In many ways, my life has never been the same since. The problem I believe was that all I ever really dreamed about as a child was playing football for the DuPont Panthers. Once I fulfilled that dream, I was left without any, or anyone to share them with if I would have had any.

Just a few days after my release, I enrolled in summer school at Glenville. It was done as an escape mechanism, but it turned into a move that turned my life around. Glenville has given me renewed hopes and dreams and many great friends. People here are truly special and they mean a great deal to me.

As far as working up her at the Merc goes, it is something that I will miss. Greg Starcher, Mahala Strauss and Beth Bragg have been three fine editors to work for. Beth and I never really got along in this office, but I feel now that her help was beneficial and I appreciate it. Mercury advisor Yvonne King gave me a chance to work here, and it has been a job of pure pleasure despite the long hours.

The people that I really want to thank though is a trio of three very special young ladies. They are Marcy Green, Barbie Nichols, and Violet Smith. They take care of typing my stories, headlines, statistics and photo captions. Sometimes I may get a little too bossy with them, but I hope they realize that I do care about them a whole bunch. I will especially miss Barbie, because she joined the Mercury the same time I did and we had to learn all of this at about the same time. I also want to thank my diligent photographers, Dave Rader and Kris Rogers.

Of course there are those who have not treated me well here, but that is only a few individuals. My biggest hurt at Glenville has occurred within the last three weeks and it has been tough. Sometimes people refuse to consider how much something means to someone and steps on them as if they were a helpless grain of sand. The hurt and the basic overall damage to my emotional scope this person has caused is hard to forgive... sometimes I daydream of him hurting as much as he hurt me, but I know the Lord doesn't want that, so I'll try to forgive and forget.

Most of the times have been good though. I have a super girlfriend, and the Lambda Chi Alpha frat has been a wonderful experience. I have also been fortunate enough to be a part of the Glenville cross country tradition.

My time is drawing near and I have many blessings to count. Former Eagle Joe Walsh once said "I can't complain but sometimes I still do. Life's been good to me so far." I can see what you mean, Joe. This is it. Glenville... I Love You... very much.

Golfers Win At Canaan

by Jesse Skiles

Coach Tim Carney's Glenville State golf team completed a sweep of the three WVIAC regionals on Monday by winning the Central Regional at Canaan Valley. The Pioneers won in an impressive fashion, downing second place Charleston by ten strokes and placing two individuals on the All-Regional Team.

Glenville's win marked their third Regional win in as many weeks, but this was by far the most impressive. "This is the best we have played so far" a happy Carney said. He concluded by saying "Hopefully, we are peaking at the right time."

Mike Sowards and Jeff Wine ended up in a three-way tie with Charleston's Glenn McKinney for tournament medalist. McKinney, however won the title on the first hole of sudden death. Both Sowards and Wine had chances to win in regulation, but came up short. Wine three-putted on 17 while Sowards missed a 10-foot putt for the win on 18.

It is now time for the team to focus their attention on the WVIAC Championship Tournament which will be held next week at Cacapon State Park in Berkeley Springs. The team is playing well right now, but next week is the biggie. The event will take place next Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday (May 3-5). Glenville has won seven titles in Carney's eighteen-year tenure as coach.

Complete results are on page 9.

TKE Softball

Stalnaker upset Waco 5-2 in the final game of the TKE softball tournament this past Sunday. The two day 8-team Invitation Only Tourney was held at Cedar Creek. Sadettres LTD team, was a group of college students who fared well and placed third, losing to Waco 10-9 after building a 9-1 lead into the seventh inning. Waco has beaten Stalnakers in the championship game of the 16-team TKE softball tourney held April 11 and 12. Sadettres LTD also finished third.

Correction

Due to an error, last week's story about Clarence Bumgardner contained two mistakes. Mr. Bumgardner and his wife have been married 26 years, not 21 as was reported. His son's name is spelled Stephen, not Steven.

The Mercury apologizes to Mr. Bumgardner for our mistakes.
