Banner Contest On

GSC's Student Congress is sponsoring a Homecoming Banner Contest. Banners must reflect the Homecoming Theme "A Salute to Our Constitutional Heritage, 1787-1987"

Rules for the contest are as follows: Sheets or light weight canvas are recommended backgrounds for the banners, allowing for ease of display. Also it is advisable to use waterproof ink or paint to prevent destruction by rain. Second, the banners must display Homecoming Theme. Completed banners must be approved; banners must be displayed at one of the following locations:

Pioneer Center, Science Hall, Administration Building, Physical Education Building, Clark Hall, Robert F. Kidd Library, Louis Bennett Hall, Pickens Hall and Wesley Foundation. Banners must be hung by noon on Thursday Oct. 1, 1987. Judging will take place on Thursday at 4:00 p.m. Also to qualify for the contest, banners must be carried in the parade on Saturday morning, Oct. 3 at 10:00 a.m. Lastly, the banners must be displayed at the field, on the far fence, opposite the scoreboard.

Judging is based on originality, theme and appearance of the banner. Winners will be announced during the pregame cere-mony at the field on Saturday, Oct. 3, 1987.

Cash prizes will be awarded in this order: firstplace - fifty dollars; second place - twenty-five dollars; and third place . fifteen dollars.

Support your school and fellow students by taking part in this year's Homecoming. For further information, contact Larry Barker, Box 42, Pickens Hall, Ext. 25 or Ellen Compton, Box 9 Pickens Hall, Ext. 258.

Museum Planning Session Set

GSC President Simmons Monday discussed plans for a meeting to be held September 25th concerning plans for an Oil and Gas Museum in West Virginia. People active in the industry will meet in the Pioneer Center Ballroom to discuss preventing the loss of a vital part of the State's history. They will cover a wide range of ideas and plans to save examples of early well drilling equipment and paraphernalia in a setting allowing maximum exposure to the public. To be included could be a complete, working "Standard Rig" constructed of wood using techniques current during early drilling Several engines, both natural gas and steam, are available at this time and interested individuals in posession of historical documents, including old leases have shown interest in the project.

Dr. Simmons feels such a museum, similar to one in Houston, Texas would be of great general interest and stated "A valuable part of West Virginia history will slide by us if we don't make an effort to save it." This proposed facility could gain central West Virginia national recognition and the Mercury will follow development closely.

Open Forum Answers Questions

College Administrators converged on the GSC Nicholas County Center Tuesday, Sept. 15, at 5:30 p.m. for an open forum question and answer session with Center students, faculty and community.

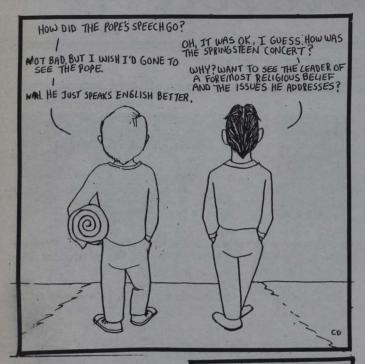

GSC President William K. Simmons thanked everyone for coming and introduced some of his staff plus distinguished guests, who were there to answer any questions the public might

Those introduced were his staff- Dr. Bruce C. Flack, Dr. Alfred Billips, Mr. Robert Gainer, Mr. Willam Osborne, Mr. Donald Phillips, also Mr. Joe Hickman, administrator for the Nicholas Center, Senator Larry Tucker and Mr. Harry Lynch and finanacial aid director Mr. August Kafer.

President Simmons stated that he was very proud of the Nicholas County Center and considered it a "Bright Spot" and a model for other communities. He also stated that the center has great potential for growth and that if more financial resources were available to the center it could double in size and classes offered in a short time. Mr. Gainer continued by saying "Enrollment at the Center is up 15% which shows a commitment from the students!"

Financially, GSC, and this includes the Center, has been forced to make many reductions in faculty and this means less classes offered than the college would like. There will be no summer classes offered either at the Center or on Campus. Hopefully this will change after July 1st 1988 which starts the next fiscal year for College. President Simmons says that they are trying to be as fair as possible with the reductions, and that he'll do all that he can to keep the future bright. He asked that the students be patient, for the Center must evolve and grow. The expectations for cont. to pg. 6

Dear Editor.

I'm not sure whom this letter is intended for, but my guess is Glenville State College. I have my own opinions and viewpoints and I decided to share a few of them.

After receiving two parking tickets already this semester I decided maybe I should write a letter to the editor about the the parking situation on campus. I thought, maybe it would help. But then I thought once more and realized that letters have never helped before. Many students have voiced their opinions, and yet, parking spaces are still as scarce as ever. This is my fourth year and I believe this is as crowded as it's been. Oh I know, this college encourages campus residents to leave their cars at home if they only intend to drive them occasionally, but what if they choose to drive anyway? So what? Shouldn't they have a parking space too? I guess I'm one of those radicals who drive home on weekends. I have to because of a part-time job. I own my own car and keep it on campus all week. Tuesdays and Thursdays I drive to the fieldhouse for a P.E. class. O.K., let's say nobody drove their car to college, except commuters.

Now Available COMPUTER DISKS $1.00 FACH

From any Computer Club member.

Would G.S.C. provide transportation to and from the fieldhouse for all P.E. classes, for football players, or for someone who just wants to go fishing at Cedar Creek? I think not. We would just have to call our parents for a ride, or perhaps a commuter. If you have to move your car for any reason during the day, you can bet it won't be there when you get' back. Parking tickets are practically unavoidable. Students drive around all day looking for a space, and often times, are late for class. It seems to me that the college is, in a sense, forcing students to get parking tickets. When a space is not available we park in the best place we can find and Bam! we get fined. I would think the city is not too awfully worried about this problem because student parking violations means city revenue. I don't know. Maybe I should feel fortunate that I'm allowed to drive my car to G.S.C. at all, but Idon't. I think a solution needs to be found quickly. I also believe that if the college can afford an expensive fine arts complex (which I agree is needed), it should be able to afford an inexpensive piece of property where on-campus residents can store their vehicles. Also I would like to cont. on pg. 5

Flights of Fancy

It being duly noted that the "parking problem" on the GSC campus has been observed and commented upon, we may then conclude that this space is available for free flights this week.

A free flight (as opposed to controlled flight) has a given point of origin but no specific destination, and more or less defines this week's editorial.

Beginning the ninth semester could be termed both a point of origin and a fair increment of time on which to base an observation.

Entering into higher education from over 21 years of traveling around the country and the world gives a different perspective to some of the experiences of college life. Almost daily the why of things observed over the ears becomes evident and the interesting thing is that one can never tell from where the stroke of enlightment will arrive. Often as not from a source least expected and perhaps not appreciated as useful. If a destination for this flight may become evident it is only due to the winds of experience being prevailing ones. An individual continuing his or her education with little or no break may not sense how color and design can influence our judgment or how a well written essay can change the world. A student can easily be jealous of the money and time spent on subjects not directly related to their core curriculum and wish to spend all the limited time available on studies which will fill a square of a chart labeled strained." A straight line to the money is best, right? Not necessarily. Many large companies are finding that employees versed in the "liberal arts" are often more valuable in the long haul than a specialist who can't see or understand the big picture.

Knowing what occured in 1066 AD may not help you operate a computer or balance a ledger, but it can help explain who and what

Learning the answers can be fun, but it would have been nice to have known them 15 years ago.

A series of somewhat. brilliant plays resulted in a Rams touchdown by Tailback Shawn Putnam with 8:46 left to go in the first quarter. The kick by Richard Poole was good and the Rams were up 7-0 with less than half of the first quarter gone. The Pioneers were able to retain possession of the ball for all, but the last minute, of the remaining quarter, and even got as close as the Ram 7yard line. They were unable to score however, and at the end of the first 15 minutes the Rams were up 7-0.

At that point Shepherd Head coach Monte Cater must have thought that this one was safely in the bag. That was not to be, because some intense defensive effort completely shut out the Rams Quarterback, forcing two incomplete passes, one at the 14:01 and the other at the 13:55 mark. The Ram frustration began to show up and they were flagged, twice in the next five minutes, for dirty play. The real Glenville turnaround began with 8:50 left to go in the half, when the Ram Quarterback came facemask to facemask with the full force of 6'1". 190 lb defensive end Greg Carpenter, for what was the first of Greg's three sacks. Shortly afterwards Scott Swisher intercepted a Shepherd pass and the series of runs, first by Gordon Stevens, then Jeff Evans, then by Stevens again allowed Cox to score Glenville's first touchdown with a 2 yd run, with 6:25 left to go in the half. Mark Szklennik evened things up with a good kick, on his attempt for the extra point. Quarterback Fleming's nightmare continued on the Ram's next possession with three consecutive incomplete passes. Coach Cater switched quarterbacks on his next possession, but replacement Edward Stasky experienced similar difficulties when he was sacked by Andy Pffefferkorn with 1:29 left in the half, and again at the 1:12 mark when Scott Swisher picked off one of his passes for Scott's second interception of the quarter. The teams went into their separate locker rooms on even terms at 7 points each.

When the Pioneers came out for the start of the second half, they immediately went to work with a 15 yard return by Jeff Swisher on the kick. Wharton's pass to Lonnie Hosby, with 13:43 left to go in the quarter was good, and Hosby left everybody looking at his cleats as he ran away for a 78 yard touchdown. Szklennik continued with his typical consistency and Glenville was up 14-7 just 2 minutes into the second half. Shepherd's next possession only lasted 21/2 minutes due to some aggressive defense which has become the trademark of Lou Nocida's squad. Glenville, in contrast retained their possession with a series of consistent small gains and when Jeff Evans ran for a 7 yard touchdown on another neat Wharton pass, there was still 6:38 left to go in the quarter. Mark Szklennik was good on the extra point and Glenville was up an incredible 21-7.

At that point in the game Head Coach Cater must have decided that the problem wasn't with his quarterback and Fleming was returned to his original position when the Ram offense took to the field. Nothing changed however and Fleming continued to live his nightmare. In the space of 40 seconds he felt the full force of 6'0" 220 lb defensive-end, Darren Tom; had one pass knocked down and another incomplete; and finally ended his nightmare and the Rams possession when the ever alert Bill Dunn picked a pass intended to Ram tightend John Alexander, with 5:31 left in the quarter.

The rest of the quarter saw Pioneers Cox, Stevens and Myers getting into their game with a number of short carries which continued into the final quarter. With 13:16 left to go in the game Mark Szklennik rammed the final nail in the Ram coffin with a perfect 44 yard field goal. The rest of the game saw some steady Pioneer offense and some equally steady defense. Ouarterback Fleming's tormenting continued and Darren Tom, Angel Quiepo and John West all took turns at flexing the muscle on the dispirited Quarterback. To add insult to injury another of hot passes was intercepted by cornerback Rob Flynt with 2:58 left to play in the game.

When the final buzzer went the Pioneers had surpassed even their wildest imaginations with a thorough 24-7 trouncing of the team which had begun their season as the 7th ranked in the nation.

The Pioneers take to the road this weekend against W.V. State. Both teams are unbeaten so far this season and this game promises to be a very interesting one. In last year's encounter the Pioneers were barely able to hold back the Yellow Jackets by a 6-5 margin. W.V. State defeated Concord last weekend with a score of 7-6.

The awesome Pioneer defense relaxes after job's done. In picture are Jodd Layhew (26), Greg Carpenter (46),

HARRIERS IN CLEAN SWEEP AT GLENVILLE INVITATIONAL

by Marcus Alcindor

The Glenville State cross country team stood firm on their home turf this weekend during the Glenville Invitational held at Cedar Creek on Saturday. Coach Skiles' crush-crew made an incredible clean sweep of the first six places. There was a four way tie for first place when four GSC runners crossed the finish line together. Andy Jarrell, Bubby Dent, Tom Clark and Jay Dawkins were all clocked at 26:39 for the 5.1 mile race. John Fitzpatrick was fifth in his first race of the season with a time of 26:59, and Micky Grass captured the 6th place with a time of 27:18. Other finishers for Glenville were Tony Ross 9th-27:46, and Jeff Kincaid 15th-28:35.

The Harriers completely outclassed their opponents and had a perfect score of 15.

Frostburg State was a distant second with a total of 5 points while WVIAC team W.V. Tech was 3rd with a agregate of 120pts. The othe competitors were Mariett College and W.V. Weslyan.

In the women's even Glenville's Lorie Barker an Beth Chapman both gav good accounts of themselves Barker was third with a tim of 19:49 and Chapman wa fourth with a time of 19: for the 3.1 mile event. Frostburg, however, won th event with 27 pts. whil Marietta was second with 28 The women's team has bee hampered by the fact the they have only two runners The minimum number finishers required for a tea is five.

Our runners take to the road this weekend for the Davis and Elkins Invitation on Saturday.

Through all this glory however one sad fact stared me straight in the face. As Glenville runner Bubby Dent said to me-"whatever we do, we'll still be overshadowed by the footballers." Bubby Dent is not the first, and I promise, will not be the last runner whose performance will be overshadowed by football or basketball. After all why do you think America's greatest athletes do their major competition on the European circuits. As world record holder Edwin Moses puts it in an interveiw with Sports Illustrated - the only time America recognizes its athletes is at the Olympics. He further goes on to relate his feelings when competing before a packed stadium in Europe as compared to an empty one in the U.S. This explains why most track and field events are televised after midnight compared to prime time for football and basketball games.

I was on the track team last year and fully understand what it means to be overshadowed by basketballers. I sympathize with Bubby and would like to let him know that he is no less an athlete than a footballer or basketballer. In fact, I believe that runners are a special breed of athletes, and it takes a tremendous amount of dedication and discipline to be a good one. This is precisely the reason why we'll attempt to take every student through a typical cross-country runner's day in next week's issue of the Mercury.
