Dr. Simmons meets with Legislature

Starting February 8, 1989, Dr. William K. Simmons, Chancellor of the Board of Regents will be meeting with the Legislature in Charleston to begin discussing some major objectives pertaining to the colleges and universities in West Virginia.

The first issue that will be discussed is to allow faculty and staff members to receive a salary increase. This across-the-board increase pay raise would amount to about 8 percent. This would allow the faculty and staff members to receive a higher pay for their merits and experiences. Then when a faculty or a staff member receives a promotion, they will receive a 10% pay increase.

The second issue will deal with a way to receive half of the funding needed to continue the higher education grant program by investing in different sources from the state in order to meet $3,000,000.

The third issue to be discussed is that $5,000,000 is needed for the equity fund. A study was developed by using a model over a 3 month period in which enrollment and other factors were considered. This study would allow universities to become equal in the amount of money that they would be allocated.

The fourth issue would consider $25,000,000 to be authorized for some renovations at the colleges and universities.

The fifth issue would deal with the flexibility of the management of money, in that the budget of some departments can be moved to another department when deemed necessary.

The sixth issue will deal with the Board of Regents, which was established in 1969 to govern over the colleges and universities in West Virginia. Today they need to find a better variety of opinions in resource and services to come up with funds to continue the quality of education.

There is also a decision on whether or not to expand the term of the Board of Regents, due to the rules and regulations of the Sunset Legislation.

The seventh issue will deal with the review of the Carnegie Study. The study will involve the advancement of teaching. They will be issuing their report on February 6, dealing with the studies of medical, vocational, and teaching facilities. This study will give an insight into the governance of major issues. Colleges and universities are allowing students here in West Virginia to move forward into becoming a more productive member in their chosen careers.

'Painting Churches' Cited Success

By Carmen Wager and Chris Harper

It was with high expectation along with new and creative ideas that "Painting Churches" took to the GSC stage last week. The fact that the set creation, lighting and directing were done by students instead of faculty made this performance unique.

Mr. Dennis Wemm, who usually oversees the production of the plays, believes that the program was "really well planned." He admits that "There were a few weak spots, but over-all it was good." Wemm stated that "Painting Churches" was a "good example that GSC theatre depends on students and student input." He described the play as "entertaining and incisive."

Mercedes Richmond was the mastermind behind the directing of the play. Considering the fact that the cast only had two weeks of rehearsal time, Wemm stated that Mercedes did a "fine job."

John Simonson was the creative artist behind the set design while Denise Davis was the talent behind the lights.

Kris Rogers' portrayal of Gar, the main character, brought out not only the humorous aspects of the character, but also the sad results of the crippling disease known as Alzheimers' Disease. Kris' unique acting ability not only made the audience laugh, but also brought them near tears as he conveyed the deep sympathy one must have for a person inflicted with this disease. Wemm was impressed with Kris' performance calling it "first-rate."

Linda Malcolm portrayed, Gar's wife, Fanny. She played the part in a way that revealed the patience it takes to deal with a person with Alzheimer's. Although she found his actions to be comical, her tender actions toward him showed pathos.

Mags, played by Valeria White, showed the growth that the daughter of these

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Concerned by recent campus events and the lack of change in the Richard Bowers case, I ask myself how we can let someone who does such a fine job be tossed out by Delegated Betters. In so little time, Richard Bowers has tackled some of the problems students have sought answers to for years.

Mr. Bowers replaced Mr. Stackman in a manner few could have done. His cool, calm manner allowed discussion of difficulties to be seen in a very light manner. He fulfilled more than the requirements of his job, but maybe his job description wasn't made clear?

To a great number of students, Richard's office served as a vent for concerns, needs, and dislikes. I feel the students made a link to the next level of administration through Mr. Bower's office. This next level contains some who trivialize the opinion of us "little people" considering themselves upper crust and forgetting that services according to Webster's 2nd definition is "helpful or useful action a) benefit to employer; Plural (B): friendly help.

Whether the case be that Richard went to bat for us (not realizing he was supposed to miss) or that he honestly answered a nosy person's questions about possible neighborhood conduct. Either case doesn't allow Mr. Bower's to deserve being a victim of small town manipulation.

I'm fully aware that the position isn't a popularity contest, but I know we all have definitely lost Big Time.

Please withhold Name

What is a college without students? Nothing! How can a college not listen to what its students want? The majority of the students that we talk to want Richard Bowers to stay here. You can't run a college without

From the Editor's Desk

Well you may have heard about the Carnegie Foundation report on higher education in West Virginia and some of its recommendations that were released Monday. According to The Charleston Gazette it recommends that WVU, Marshall and the College of Graduate Studies (COGS) be merged into a single multi-campus institution called the University of West Virginia with branches in Morgantown, Huntington and Charleston.

The Gazette also stated that the report recommended that the new university be independent of the Board of Regents and make its own budget, with a Board of Trustees running the school. The Board of Regents would run all state two- and four-year institutions.

It would eliminate all state funding for Lewisburg's School of Osteopathic Medicine and merge it with Marshall's School of Medicine.

At this time I haven't heard the details of this report, but there are some questions to be answered: (1) Will monies be distributed in fair proportions?, (2) Will the University of West Virginia hog up all of the money?, (3) Will the state colleges still have a president?, (4) Will this reconstructing increase the cost of a college education?, are among a few of these questions.

On Monday, February 6, students at all of the state colleges and Universities observed 5 minutes of silence in protest to the legislature of increases in the cost of tuition. I agree that we should all help our state, but these increases are going to continually hurt our colleges and universities. Some students did not come back this semester because of it. Sure enrollment is up some, but it could have been up even more. If enrollment continues to increase the way it has been we will see it drop and then our higher education system will be in a worse mess than it already is.

students, but I bet one would run fine without an Assistant Dean of Student Life.

Some students who could transfer.

Dear Editor:

I had wished to write this letter last week—when so many concerned students were trying to save a man's job (and, as far as I'm concerned, to show respect for a man's reputation) by bravely voicing their opinions. However, I made the decision to wait in writing this letter. I wanted to see what would happen. I wanted to see if Mr. Bowers would be retained, in his capacity as Student-Center Activities Director.

I saw. I saw what happened: he wasn't. I also saw what did not happen: no one, being of authority, did anything. The—at least some—students tried; but apparently, if one reviews the situation, one may be lead to believe that the students have no (apparent) authority. This is the only conclusion I can reach from the information offered by the situation.

Students wrote letters (I counted 13) to the Editor, Mr. Editor, of the Glenville Mercury. There were also, I believe two student petitions as well. (One petition, or document, if you will, contained approximately 100 signatures; the other contained 138 signatures, this I know to be a fact.) Approximately 250 students (and I'm not sure about any employees), voiced their opinion, that an injustice had been done, and should be righted. To continue:

from what I understand, I believe these "documents" were taken, I shall say, to someone of supposed authority; and yet, nothing was done, as a result. Yes, some students, and whomever else I do not know, did something. And from what I understand, Mr. Bowers, Richard to many students, was most thankful and appreciative for the support he was given by the students. He was grateful for the attempt. Apparently, that IS all it was.

I did not know what

Women Thump Concord

by John Buser

After racing to a 10-1 record through the first half of the season, the Lady Pioneers had lost three of their last four games heading into Thursday's (Feb. 2) clash with Concord. Glenville needed to win to remain in sole possession of first place in the WVC.

With upset on their minds, the Lady Mountain Lions started confidently and traded baskets with their guests. Following several lead changes, GSC meshed to take a 33-22 lead shortly before the half. However, Concord was not about to surrender, as they scored five points in the final seconds of the first period, to cut the deficit to 33-28 at the intermission.

Picking up where they left off in the closing minute of the opening half, the Lady Mountain Lions poured in 13 points in four minutes to regain the lead 41-37 at the sixteen minute mark.

Instead of folding, the veteran Glenville unit reeled off a 35-17 scoring spurt to establish a commanding 72-58 advantage with five minutes to play. Coach Shepherd's club padded their lead the remainder of the contest to grab an important 92-73 victory over Concord.

Leading the GSC charge were seniors Karen Wooters-Holloway and Niki Randolph. Holloway, the starting shooting guard who was a standout at Parkersburg High, poured in a game high 24 points including six three point goals. Randolph, the great passing point guard for the Lady Pioneers, added a career high 20 points while collecting 16 assists.

Holloway and Randolph had plenty of support as three other players reached double figures. Monique Johnson posted 14 points and grabbed 10 rebounds, while Tami Simons and Tammy Pence added 14 and 10 points respectively.

The Lady Pioneers, 12-4 overall and 9-1 in the conference, played Alderson-Broadbudds on Monday, but the results were not available by press time. On Thursday (Feb. 9), Glenville hosts Charleston, and on Tuesday (Feb. 14), they entertain Fairmont. Both games are scheduled to start at 7:00 p.m.

Pioneers Roll Past A-B

by John Buser

Entering their road game with Alderson-Broadbudds on Wednesday (Feb. 1), the Pioneers were hoping to halt their two game losing streak and avenge a 74-72 loss to A-B on December 12 at Glenville.

The tall A-B squad opened with a man-to-man defense which was exactly what the Pioneers wanted to see. Sparked by the outside shooting of sophomore guard Bernie Rees, and the play of newly named starter Dwayne Williamson, Glenville jumped out of the gate early to take control of the game. With their confidence levels running wild, the Pioneers built a 44-33 halftime lead.

Although the Battlers switched to a zone defense in the second half, the Pioneers continued to execute effectively. In addition to their solid execution, Glenville showed great concentration, despite owning a 75-52 advantage late in the second half. "We looked like Indiana," remarked Coach Gary Nottingham after the game, who was very pleased with his team's performance, especially their concentration level.

After all eleven members of GSC's team had seen action, the Pioneers had taken a convincing 83-67 victory over the Battlers. Bernie Rees led Glenville by hitting eight of thirteen three point goals to finish with a career high 24 points. Clinton Hinton, who did a superb defensive job on A-B's Willie Davis, landed 17 points and hauled in 12 rebounds. Paul Grier added 16 points and 8 assists, while William Jackson chipped in with 11 markers.

With the win, Glenville evened its overall and conference records at 10-10 and 6-6, respectively. The Pioneers played at Davis and Elkins on Monday, but the results were unavailable by press time. The men cagers return to action tonight (Feb. 8) at 7:30 p.m., when they host West Liberty. On Saturday (Feb. 11), the Wheeling Cardinals come to Glenville for a 7:30 p.m. contest.

Buser's Briefs

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, the Los Angeles Lakers' 42-year-old center who is retiring after this season, has been on several winning teams. Although the Lakers have been a dominant team since Jabbar has been with them, UCLA had a remarkable winning percentage when the all-time NBA scoring leader starred in college. While playing for the Bruins and Coach John Wooden, Kareem and his teammates won a startling 109 games while losing only twice, a 98% winning percentage!

Of all the stadiums in America, there are only two that have hosted both a Super Bowl and a World Series. San Diego's Jack Murphy Stadium (World Series 1984 and Super Bowl 1988) and the Los Angeles Coliseum (World Series 1959 and Super Bowls of 1967 and 1973) are the only stadiums that have hosted both events.

Under which coach did Mike Krzyzewski of Duke serve as an assistant? Answer is the mild mannered and ever patient Bobby Knight of Indiana.

Here are some noteworthy Glenville basketball stats: Bernie Rees continues to lead the WVC in 3 point field goal % (54%). Clinton Hinton is fifth in the conference in field goal % (54.5%). The Pioneer men are yielding a league best 68.9 points a contest. Niki Randolph continues to lead the conference, and is second in the nation in assists (9.5 a.p.g.). Tammy Pence is second in the WVC in scoring (21.0 p.p.g.). Finally, the Lady Pioneers lead the conference and are eleventh in the nation in team scoring (86.8 p.p.g.).

Intramural Update

by Mark Romano

There were a lot of close games during last week's intramural games. Twenty-four men scored in double figures.

Mike Corica shot 16 for 18 from the field for 32 points in the 69'er's 76-36 win over the Nads. Casey Hess added 14 along with Sands' 12 point performance. Mark King was the lone member of the Nads to reach double digits as he held 12.

In the UBA's win over the Long Ducks, Mike L. had 24 points and Bubba Hill added 10. Two members scored in double figures for the Long Ducks.

In perhaps the closest contest of the week, Ed Toman hit for 28 points along with 14 from Mark Swartzmiller and 10 from Mike Salmons for the winning Bandits. For the Yah-hoos, Brad Furr sank 22 points and Gary Hefner hit for 14.

"R" Gang slipped past the Nutter Butters with a score of 38-36. Chris Farmer netted 12 points for the winning "R" Gang. Mickey Grass scored 10 points for Nutter Butters.

Joe Fisher scored 14 points to help the Muskrats to a 43-23 victory over the Muslims.

Supreme Court defeated the Fat Boys by a score of 61-41. For the winning Court, Jason Sutton sank 24 points and Andy Batton added 14. Miller scored 18 for the Fat Boys.

The UBA defeated the R-N-R Rebels by a lone point, with the score of 48-47. Lonnie Hosby led UBA with 12 points. For the R-N-R Rebels Jay Cornell scored 15 points along with 12 from Aaron Jones.

Tracksters Impressive

On Friday (Feb. 3), the Glenville men and women's track teams competed in the Otterbein Invitational along with Wittenberg, John Carroll, Ohio Valley Northern, Earlham, and host Otterbein in an indoor meet. Although it was a non-scoring meet, the Lady Pioneers would have won, while the men would have finished near the top.

Both GSC coaches were very pleased with their respective teams efforts. Coach Janet James, the women's instructor who was thrilled with her squad's performances, pointed out that the unusually warm week prior to the meet enabled the tracksters to practice outdoors. This was a tremendous help, because the indoor practice facilities at GSC are limited, and therefore make it hard on the Glenville athletes to compete with other schools who have indoor tracks. Coach James also added that this year's squad is such a joy to be around because they get along with one another so well. Tracy White, who collected first place finishes in the 400 and 600 meters, and Monna Beamer who captured third in the 400 and 600 meters are just two of Coach James' talented and likable performers.

Coach Hunt, the men's mentor, was equally pleased with his athletes. "This was a very strong showing by our runners this early in the season," commented the Glenville coach.

The next indoor meet for the men and women will be this Saturday (Feb. 11) at the "Hardee's Invitational" to be held at WVU. Although GSC will not be participating as a team, several individuals from Glenville will be participating as well as athletes from WVU, Pitt, Penn State, and other universities and colleges.

two old people must go through and the understanding she must reach. It was evident that her love and loyalty remained constant although her father's mind did not.

As was expected, GSC's theatre is credited with another fine performance. The college community and public are anxiously awaiting the production of "Lion In Winter."

percentage of the student body should/would be required for the administration to consider reinstating, or even to consider the termination of Mr. Bowers. I feared that the 250, approximate, students would not be enough to retain Mr. Bowers' job, and apparently, it was not. However, one might think. One might think a lot? One might think that the students should be offered some explanation for terminating Mr. Bowers' position. Might not, one? One would think, hope, and even pray, that some one "Big" (a word meaning large and rhyming with pig; but what does that have to do with this?) could listen to the solicitations of 250 students. I believe so. And yet, the students were not and have not been given a reasonable explanation. I believe that we, the students have the right to know: the students of GSC have the right to know why their Center Activities Director was terminated. I have looked, and I cannot see why this man, who apparently did his job well - because he cared about the students and their needs, was terminated from his position. I can think of no reason - other than a personal one, which, if this is so, should not be allowed.

It seems wise to me that "the administration" (or whomever had the authority) should have given a plausible, if not totally frank, explanation for this action. Can any explanation be plausible now? I cannot say.

I can say that the once humble masses, who were once yearning to be free, need some of "these" free to be yearning humility.

(Just now, I have been informed, by someone who should know, that there were 2 additional petitions, excluding the 2 afore mentioned ones, and God knows: how many additional signatures, as well).

So, I will leave them free to do what they may; but to those who are bold and not brave, they knowing whom they are, I shall leave these words: "The basic test of freedom is perhaps less in what we are free to do than in what we are free not to do."—Eric Hoffer.

The Glenville Mercury

I can ask, "Who gets a passing mark?" and I can say no more, other than to ask, "Who else is asking questions and who else believes in The Constitution, not the institution?" I can answer only for myself. Sincerely,

My Secret Valentine,
I enjoy the time we spend together. Time seems to stop—almost like taking time to stop at a green light.
