Concert Choir To Perform

On Wednesday, Feb. 22, at 8:00, the GSC Concert Choir will present The Family of Man in the GSC Auditorium.

The Family of Man is a multi-media performance involving music, movement, and slides of photographs.

The musical score was written by contemporary composer Michael Hennagin and was inspired by a collection of photographs exhibited in the Museum of Modern Art in New York City. The photographs are a conglomeration of life styles, 503 photos from 68 countries.

The words used in the music are excerpts from writings by Carl Sandburg, James Joyce, St. John Perse, Kobodaishi, Shakespeare, Homer, and the Bible. Some of the music is traditional, some is very avant-garde. The program will last approximately forty minutes.

This performance of The Family of Man will mark the end of a short tour for the GSC Concert Choir. On Tuesday and Wednesday, they will be in Parkersburg. They will perform the piece at Parkersburg South High School, Parkersburg Community College, and Parkersburg High School.

There will be three percussionists, Mike Fling, Fred Channel, and Debbie Dingus, playing a variety of instruments. Julie Harbert will play piano, and Dawn Bailey will play alto recorder. There will also be an electrical tape. Mr. O'Brien will direct.

Special thanks go out to the technical crew, in charge of lights, slides, and sound. These are John Cottrell, John Simonson, and faculty and staff members, Mr. Harry Rich and Mr. Ed Messenger.

Classes Are Scheduled For Summer of 1989

Mack K. Samples has announced that there will be summer school during the summer of 1989.

The College plans to operate two terms of four and one-half weeks each, beginning on June 12, 1989. The course offerings will be very similar to the summer of 1988, with perhaps slight modifications. The offerings depend to some extent on which instructors plan to be around during the summer months. As is the custom, there will be several workshops scheduled for individual weeks.

A schedule should be distributed by late March or early April and a pre-registration will be conducted for both the summer and the fall term.

Graduation Corrections

Additions and deletions to the December 1988 graduation list include:

Additions - Harriet S. Whipkey, Glenville, Bachelor of Arts, English-Major, Journalism-Minor; Debra Jo Cunningham, Vienna, Regents Bachelor of Arts; Mary E. Corry, Marietta, OH, Regents Bachelor of Arts; E. Palmer Stephens; Debra Lea Heiney, Grantsville, BA in Educ., Music Comp. (K-12); Marcella Lynn Green, Richwood, Associate in Arts in Adm. Science; Michele Garrison, Economics-Minor; Elizabeth Ann Oppe, Glenville, B.S. Busi. Adm. Marketing-Major; Robin G. Rhodes, Harmony, B.A. in Educ., Music Comp. (K-12); Dean Waters, Business-Minor. Belva Jean Tackett, St. Marys, Regents Bachelor of Arts; Roger York, Craigsville, Regents Bachelor of Arts.

Deletions - Charles Frederick Schmidt, Jr.; Gregory B. Minner; Sharon Elaine Weese Spencer; Shelly Renee Buchanan; Julia Ellen Nichols; Daniel James Wassick, Jr.; Karen Lea Nicholas; Lisa Dianne Grant; Vicky Lynn Phillips; Lisa Kathleen Elefritz.

Vickie Myers Named State Fair Queen

Vickie Diane Myers of Parkersburg, a senior at Glenville State College has certainly had the Irish luck on her side. On January 14, 1989, Vickie Myers was crowned as Queen of the Miss West Virginia Association of Fairs and Festivals held in Charleston at the Charleston Civic Center.

Miss Myers is the 21-year-old daughter of James and Nancy Myers of Parkersburg. She is majoring in secondary education.

She was among 58 contestants competing for the title of queen. The final decision was made upon the contestants personal interviews, sportswear, evening gown competition, poise, appearance, personality, intelligence, and interviews in front of an audience.

Along with her crowning, Vickie won a cash prize of $1000, a banner, a trophy, and an expense account to allow her to travel to all the fairs in West Virginia and meet with some of the dignitaries.

This is just one of Vickie's lucky streaks. On August 19th, Vickie won the title of Miss Parkersburg Homecoming during the annual River City Festival 1988. Vickie was chosen, during the final week, as the winner of the modeling contest for a role in "Star Dancer." She will be traveling to Hollywood, California, to play a part in the movie.

Vickie has participated in the largest national pageant, Miss American Train Pageant, held in Honolulu, Hawaii, in which she was asked to become an alternate to travel to Japan. The purpose was to promote American products due to the trade deficit.

The list continues with Vickie's lucky streak. In 1984-85, she won the title as Miss

Open House Hosted By Admissions Office

Plans are now under way for a Spring Open House to be hosted by the Office of Admissions and Records. This event is designed to let high school juniors and seniors get a closer look at our beautiful campus and to meet first hand the members of the faculty and administration.

The schedule, although not definite, will include a continental breakfast, lunch, campus tours, academic division visits, and financial aid and admissions information.

This will be Glenville State College's third Open House. The past two have been very successful with over 300 people attending. Our students have been very helpful in registering our guests and giving campus tours. If there are students who would like to participate, contact Beth Bragg in the Admissions Office or at 462-7361, ext. 160.

Letters to the Editor

In my 40 plus years, I have seen many forms of "home cookin'" from political sabbatage to financial destruction for opponents but never have I seen such an injustice as I have witnessed in the firing of Richard Bowers this month at G.S.C.

This man worked diligently 12 to 16 hours a day - sometimes more. He gained the confidence of the commuters (a very large percentage of the student body) by helping to organize a new commuters club. Not only did he get them together but even before the approval of the constitution came back, Richard acted on some of the complaints he received. A picnic table was placed near the book store entrance; a microwave was purchased for students who wanted to use it in the Pioneer Center; locker space was tripled by dividing existing space.

On campus students found a friend in Richard Bowers as well. In his "off-hours," he gave students a ride home when they could not otherwise make it on their own. He organized recreation in an otherwise unrecrational area by planning bus trips; concerts on campus; and instituting activities in the Pioneer Center at night.

What did Richard do wrong except to CARE?

His door was always open to anyone who wanted to talk. He always had time to listen - or at least made time.

We the students have lost a great friend who truly is an honest, caring individual. Whomever his successor may be, he or she will have some big shoes to fill.

Good luck in the future Richard. You don't need this, and certainly don't deserve it!

Name withheld by request.

Who's Who certificates are still in The Mercury Office for those who have not received them.

From the Editor's Desk

In glancing thru the Charleston Gazette on Monday I noticed no less than four articles on what is wrong with our state and how to correct them. Yes, our state has many problems and many solutions. But, it must be decided which solution will work the fastest and be the most effective.

One article talked about Marshall's new multi-million dollar stadium and that Marshall had buildings on campus that were in need of dire repair. It does seem kinda stupid to put money in a new football stadium when you have other buildings that need repaired worse. If the Carnegie Foundation recommendations are put into effect will we need another football stadium for our one state university? Is football more important than to provide our young people with the education they need in our ever advancing world?

Another article upheld A James Manchin. It may be true that he was not the only one responsible for our $295 million dollar losses, but, he is the treasurer and should have kept track of these investments. Two-hundred and ninety-five million could have helped the state a lot. All who are accountable should be held accountable.

Another was on a plan to help education. This was a letter from some students in a high school. They suggested that classes be lengthened during the day and the week be shortened by one day. This would supposedly save that county money on transportation. That may be true but what will it do for the education of the students.

Our state has many problems and many solutions but, it is a long way down the road before things will be any better.

Henderson to Speak

Herbert H. Henderson will be the honored speaker this Thursday, February 16th at 7pm in the Verona Mapel Room of the Pioneer Center at Glenville State College in recognition of Black History month.

Attorney Henderson is the senior law partner of Henderson and Henderson Law Firm in Huntington, WVa. Pi Gamma Mu, UBA, and the Wesley Foundation urge everyone to attend this important event on our campus.

Dr. Henderson has managed and supervised the WVa NAACP Jobs program from 1978 to the present, has been state president of NAACP since 1966, has been a member of that group's National Board of Directors from 1980 to the present, is a member of the Board of Trustees of Morristown College and WVa Wesleyan College.

His unselfish humanitarian efforts have earned him numerous awards including the coveted "Robert Ming" Award presented by NAACP's Board of Directors. He has contributed thousands of hours as legal and prevailing counsel in many landmark civil rights cases. As founder of the M.T. Garrison Life Membership Dinner for the state of WVa with WVa achieving the highest percentage of regular memberships in its region.

Dr. Henderson was well known as an initiator of Black History of Marshall University from 1967 thru 1980. Pi Gamma Mu, UBA, and the Wesley Foundation feel justly proud to sponsor his "Black History Month" presentation this Thursday, February 16th at 7pm in the Verona Mapel Room of the Pioneer Center at Glenville State College.

ORGANIZATIONS

Monday, February 6, at 4:30 p.m. in Clark Hall for a brief business meeting followed by a presentation by Ms. Lucille Phillips, Glenville State education instructor.

Mr. John James, SEA advisor, informed members that the treasury has $32 which will be used to provide refreshments for student teachers' meetings. A proposed SEA campus newsheet in which members would submit summaries of their education classes was also discussed.

Ms. Phillips, according to Mr. James, did an excellent job of presenting various kinds of techniques that can be used by teachers who encounter students with reading difficulties.

Sigma Sigma Sigma

The Delta Alpha Chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma Sorority held a meeting Sunday, February 12, at 8:30 in the Vandalia Room.

Awards were given as follows:

BOW-Michelle, Linda, Gini PJOW-Michelle SOT-Linda, Cathy, Paula, Michelle, Becky Cultured Pearl-Patty, Tammy Study Bunny-Michelle, Annette, Cathy, Paula Sigma Sweetheart-Richard Settle, Mike Ludle, Mike Mathis, Tim Richards, Donna's dad, Jerry, Trey Simonson, all rushees, and to newborn Dayna Goodfellow born Wednesday.

Happy birthday to Linda! She sends her thanks to all Sigmas for her roses and their support.

Finally, Lorrane please hurry and get well soon. We miss you!

PICAS

Commuters, we are now an official organization of Glenville State College. As you are probably aware, our organization is known as Pioneers in Commuter Activities (PICAS) and our slogan is "We Inch Along, But We Get Things Done."

Our first step is to elect officers for our organization. In order for our organization to have officers we need to have some nominations.

To fulfill this requirement, our first meeting will be held on Thursday, February 16th,

The Glenville Mercury at 12:30 p.m. in the Social Science Conference Room, Room 335, LBH-3rd floor. Our advisor is Mr. William Dean. Lockers-there is plenty of locker space available. If you need a locker, bring a lock.

TEAMS

The TEAMS Program is pleased to announce the first of several gatherings for this semester. A reception open to all interested individuals will be held 4:00-4:30 Tuesday, February 21, 1989 in Room 101 Clark Hall.

Immediately following the reception, regular Tuesday tutoring session will commence (4:30-6:00). Through these sessions TEAMS offers assistance in Mathematics, Science, Social Science, English, and Computer Science. Please note that the Computer Science session is held in the Micro Lab of the Administration Building, but all other sessions meet in Clark Hall.

We have been pleased by the selection of this semester's new tutors and hope that each will gain valuable teaching and learning experiences during their time with us.

Our service organization continues to be recognized as one of the most effective and innovative programs in West Virginia. However, we don't rest on the laurels of our past successes. TEAMS looks to the future--where we continue to grow and change to meet students' changing needs.

Last but not least, the TEAMS tutors would like to thank Mr. Keefe for helping us develop connections and channel our efforts in a productive direction. He has been a great help on both a professional and personal level.

Deadline for all articles to be printed in the Mercury are due NO LATER THAN 12:00 NOON ON MONDAY! Articles received after this time will be held until the following week.

Also all articles and letters should be free of spelling & grammatical errors when submitted. All material will be printed as is.

Teacher Featured:

Wesley Phelan

By Sally Robinson

One of the several new faces on the faculty in the Social Science Department this year is Dr. Wesley Phelan, and he has made himself very popular with social science majors. Dr. Phelan's degrees include: B.A. and M.A. degrees in political science from Arkansas State University, and Ph.D. in government from Claremont Graduate School in California. He is a native of Arkansas where his parents and a sister reside. He has one brother in medical school. His wife, Sharon, is a pharmacist, and they have one son, Nathaniel, who is not quite three.

Dr. Phelan is very observant and commented before any questions, "So you are a lefty. That's one of the first things I notice about people." He chuckled, "Because I'm one too, I don't have a choice." And he agreed that we would talk about that during the interview.

Question: What do you think about Glenville State so far and the area in general?

Dr. Phelan: The students are a lot better than I expected. I came here from Arkansas, ranked 49th in education. We had a saying there, "Thank God for Mississippi." When I looked at the data on West Virginia, I expected somewhat the same. I didn't expect the students to do very well. What I found is there are a number of non-traditional students and they are very good students. They pick up the general level of the class, so I'd say they are the strength of this place because they have something to offer when they come into a classroom. For the area, it is one of the friendliest places I've ever seen. I'm not used to living anywhere where I can't get fast food. I could go into Burger King right now and order one of everything. But I like it here because I like to hunt and fish.

Question: If there were no American Government, where would you want to live?

Dr. Phelan: Great Britain, because civil liberties are protected there. I think their government is responsive to the people. I like the English traditions. Those traditions our own governments was founded on and have made better. Especially our written constitution and the fact that congress alone cannot change it. In Britain Parliament can change the constitution. I trust judges more than legislators. Question: Do you think the Russian Government is changing?

Dr. Phelan: Yes. They have something like our system in that they have a federal form of government. They have a number of constituent republics. They are different in that those constituent republics are populated by ethnic groups who want out from under the dominance of the Russian

Cardinals Nip Pioneers

by John Buser

Saturday's (Feb. 11) clash between Glenville and Wheeling featured a battle of streaks. The Cardinals entered with a perfect 21-0 record, but they had lost their last eight contests against the Pioneers and had not won at Glenville since 1974.

Obviously at least one of these streaks had to be broken, and at the start of the physical contest it appeared that Wheeling would remain undefeated as they were up by as many as 15 points late in the first half. However, the Pioneers cut the deficit to 38-28 at the intermission.

Coach Nottingham's squad continued to chip away at the deficit in the second half. Bernie Rees' three point goal pulled the Pioneers within one at 74-73 with 54 seconds left in the game. After two Cardinal free throws made it 76-73, GSC was called for an offensive rebound foul, which allowed Wheeling to go on to gain a 78-75 squeaker over Glenville.

In what Coach Nottingham described as "A game for men and not the weak of heart," in reference to the physical play of both teams, the difference in the game might have been the foul line. The Cardinals hit 20-27 from the charity stripe, while the Pioneers had only 13 attempts, of which they made 7.

Bernie Rees and Paul Grier led Glenville with 20 points and 7 assists each. David Hall added 10 markers, and William Jackson netted 9 and grabbed 7 rebounds.

The Pioneers, 12-11 overall and 8-7 in the conference, return to action today (Feb. 15) for a 7:30 pm game at Fairmont. On Saturday (Feb. 18) the men cagers play at Salem and on Monday (Feb. 20) they play at Charleston.

Buser's Briefs

WVU stretched the nation's longest win streak in major college basketball to 18 games on Saturday with a 100-67 blow-out over Penn State. However, the Mountaineers do not own the state's longest winning streak, because Wheeling is 22-0.

Just in case you want to know how the Mountaineers' streak compares to the best in major college hoops history, take a look at the top three: UCLA's men's team number one as the Bruins won 88 games in a row from 1971 to 1974. The University of San Francisco's men's team is second as they won 60 contests without a loss from 1955 to 1957. Third place goes to Louisiana Tech's women's team who won 54 consecutive games between 1980 and 1982.

Parity is a word commonly used to describe how any given team can beat another on any given night. This past week parity in major college basketball was never more evident as the top five teams according to the USA Today - CNN Poll all lost. Georgetown, Arizona, Missouri, Louisville, and North Carolina all were victims to defeat, but the Wildcats, Hoyas, and Tigers still remained in the top five according to this week's poll.

All of this adds up for an exciting season and an expected terrific tournament.

Which two schools in the last ten years have won the national championship in men's major college basketball, but do not play major-college football? Georgetown, which won the title in 1984 and Villanova, which won the title in 1985, own this distinction.

Anyone interested in working as a basketball official for the Intramural Department should contact Dr. Hunt in the Physical Education Building. Students who qualify for workstudy are encouraged to apply.

Pioneers Win Two

by John Buser

Glenville 66
D & E 56

Taking advantage of their superior size and strength, Glenville forced the ball inside in Monday's (Feb. 6) game at Davis and Elkins. At the half, the Pioneers led 34-29.

The pattern was much the same in the second half as Glenville continued to work inside, especially 6'6 David Hall. The powerful forward finished with a game high 29 points and 9 boards to lead Coach Nottingham's squad to a 66-56 conquest over the host Senators.

Glenville, which defeated D&E early in December 92-90 when Hall poured in 33 points, outrebounded their opponents 40-24. Defensively, the Pioneers limited high-scoring Senator guard David Reynolds to just 8 points.

In addition to Hall's exploits, Dwayne Williamson added 10 points, Paul Grier tallied 9, and William Jackson collected 8 points and 8 rebounds.

Glenville 75

West Liberty 57

Playing in front of a sparse crowd on Wednesday (Feb. 8), Glenville jumped out to an early 9-2 lead in their home contest with West Liberty.

However, the Hilltoppers took advantage of a flat Pioneer squad to gain a 19-18 lead with 6:32 to go in the low scoring first half.

West Liberty's lead was short lived because a thunderous Clinton Hinton jam put Coach Nottingham's team back in front 25-23 with 3:26 showing on the clock.

Although the score was tied at 29 at the half, Glenville came out of the locker room inspired and promptly took the lead for good. David Hall's turn around jumper at 17:10 put the Pioneers up 37-32.

Following an exchange of a series of baskets, Bernie Rees' three point field goal increased the blue and white lead to 47-38. Paul Grier's three point goal at the 4:55 mark widened the lead to 57-44.

After all ten players had seen action, including crowd favorite Todd Layhew, the Pioneers had gained a 75-57 downing of West Liberty.

David Hall paced the GSC attack with a game high 22 points while Paul Grier netted 16. William Jackson chipped in with 13 points and 13 rebounds for Glenville, which upped its overall and conference records to 12-10 and 8-6 respectively.

Ladies Remain #1 in WVC

Thursday's (Feb. 9) matchup between Glenville and the University of Charleston featured the league leading Lady Pioneers against the second place Lady Golden Eagles. The winner of the contest would own first place in the West Virginia Conference.

As the boisterous crowd cheered, both squads came out running, yielding several fast break lay-ups. With 15:15 remaining in the half, Glenville held a 15-12 advantage.

However, Charleston answered with a 17-7 scoring run over the next seven minutes to open their largest lead of the game 29-22.

At the 2:04 mark in the opening half, it was GSC's turn to retake the lead when Tami Simons powered her way to the hoop for a 35-33 count. Niki Randolph connected on a three pointer and another field goal in the closing minute of the half to help the Lady Pioneers extend their advantage to 42-35 at the intermission.

Continuing where they left off in the first half, Glenville increased the lead to 51-37 at the 16:20 mark behind the scoring of Monique Johnson.

Once again the Lady Eagles battled back, this time to within two points with four minutes left, 80-78. Niki Randolph's rebounded basket on the next possession, though, started the Lady Pioneers on their winning spurt.

Monique Johnson, who posted 27 points in the second half, hit two clutch baskets down the stretch to help finish Charleston. Her bucket in the paint with 2:12 to go gave Glenville an 88-79 lead. GSC's defense held their guests to four points the remainder of the game to take a very important 99-83 victory over Charleston.

Monique Johnson, who was unstoppable in the second half, posted a game high 35 points for the winners. Kim Creel notched 21 points while Tami Simons and Karen Wooters Holloway finished with 12 and 11 markers respectively. Niki Randolph added 9 points, 8 rebounds, and 9 assists for Glenville, 14-4 overall and 11-1 in the conference.

The Lady Pioneers played Fairmont yesterday, but the results were not available by press time. The women's Basketball cont. on pg. 5

Bubby Dent receives the award from Dr. Shepherd

Bubby Dent Honored

Charles "Bubby" Dent added another award to his collection on Wednesday night before the West Liberty-Glenville basketball game, when he was named the 1988 WVIAC Cross Country Athlete of the Year.

Although Dent has captured several honors while at Glenville, the talented runner first starred for Dupont High School. He was a three time state champion in the 800 meters, setting a state record in the event his sophomore season, and then breaking it himself as a junior.

As a freshman at the University of Charleston, Bubby was named 1986 WVIAC Track Athlete of the Year. After the Golden Eagle program was ended, Dent opted to run for GSC.

In last year's spring track season, Bubby earned All-American status when he finished fifth in the NAIA National Steeplechase.

This year, Bubby dominated WVC cross country events. He finished first in the Pioneer Invitational (25:53), Davis & Elkins Forest Festival (26:20 - course record), West Liberty Joel Varian Meet (26:41), and the WVIAC Conference Meet (25:36).

In addition to his conference accomplishments, Dent finished 37th at the NAIA National Cross Country Meet. It marked the highest finish ever by a Glenville runner. Congratulations Bubby for your award and another super year!

Thinclads to Nationals

On Saturday, five men from Glenville participated in the "Hardee's Track Classic" at WVU. Thirty-four universities, colleges, and junior colleges were represented at the prestigious event. In order to be eligible for the meet, a rigid set of qualifying standards had to be met, which is why Glenville did not take their entire squad.

In the 55 meter dash, Gordon Stevens ran a 6.65, which placed him in the middle of the field. Bubby Dent ran a 4:16.65 mile, which was good enough for fourth place. Finally, the 4 x 800 relay team of Jay Dawkins, Andy Jarrell, John Fitzpatrick and Bubby Dent captured fourth with their 7:58.8 time.

Because of their performances, the 4 X 800 team and Bubby Dent in the mile will compete Feb. 24 & 25 in the NAIA National Indoor Championships in Kansas City.

Coach Hunt was pleased with his runners' performances considering they competed against universities such as Pittsburgh, WVU, James Madison, Temple, and Robert Morris to name a few. "Bubby's time in the mile at the Hardee's meet would have placed him first in last year's National Indoor Meet. He's right on course to do well in Kansas City. The 4x800 relay team has a good chance of finishing in the top five during the Indoor Nationals," stated Coach Hunt.

cagers conclude the regular season with a three game road trip. Tomorrow (Feb. 16) they play at WV Wesleyan, Saturday (Feb. 18) they travel to Salem, and on Tuesday (Feb. 21) they play at Bluefield State.

Women Clip

A-B in OT

On Monday (Feb. 6), the Lady Pioneers faced the A-B Battlers at Philippi. Although the Lady Battlers entered with a mediocre 7-7 record, the hosts opened an early lead, and by the intermission owned a 44-36 advantage.

Glenville showed its experience in the second half by patiently chipping away at the deficit. Monique Johnson's three point play with twenty seconds remaining in regulation knotted the score at 78 and sent the game into overtime.

Karen Wooters Holloway's two three point goals early in the extra period helped GSC take the lead for the first time in the game, and the Lady Pioneers held on to win 91-88.

All five starters scored in double figures for Glenville, which was led by Monique Johnson's 26 point performance. Tammy Pence added 23 points and 12 rebounds, Niki Randolph and Karen Wooters Holloway each followed with 12 markers, and Kim Creel finished with 10 points and 10 caroms.

Notice

The Lions Club of Charleston has asked member institutions of the WVIAC to join them in notifying student bodies "that profane language and/or loud and lascivious verbal and/or physical behavior will result in persons so behaving being ejected from the premises and prohibited from returning." This warning was issued by letter to our college president so that those persons attending the conference basketball games could be forewarned of the consequences of unacceptable behavior at the Charleston Civic Center.

Those who follow our teams to the tournament should have fun, vigorously yell for their encouragement, but keep their comments decent. Your actions do reflect credit or discredit upon yourself and your college.

people. The Empire is coming apart at the seams. They also have a problem with their economy. The only way they've kept going in the past decade is by loans from western countries. I think their primary purpose at this point is to keep good relations with western countries and that means change.

Question: What is success? Dr. Phelan: Setting a goal and achieving it. For me, that is to become a good teacher. Not just someone who understands the material, but to transmit that understanding to the students. The ultimate goal would be the United States Senate, but I don't expect to get there. I'm afraid I would not want to pay the price for it.

Question: What is fun? Dr. Phelan: Winning the state tennis championship tournament and not having a heat stroke in the process. Question: If you could have dinner with any political leader past or present, who? Dr. Phelan: Could I have three? First, James Madison, and I'd ask him, is this government presently functioning as he foresaw that it would function. I think, from what I've read that it is just as he predicted it would, and that's so remarkable to me that his predictive powers could be so accurate. Second, Abraham Lincoln, and I would ask him if the abortion controversy is in any way comparable to the slavery issue, and if he were alive today would he think that is a question worthy of his attention. If so, which side of the debate would he be on? And third, Winston Churchill, I would ask is the soviet threat to the United States comparable to the threat that he faced in the '30s and 40's.

Question: What should be President Bush's first priority? Dr. Phelan: To continue the economic expansion that began in 1983. His major challenge should be to choose the very best people that he can to fill the vacancies that will become open during his administration.

Question: Did Ronald Reagan choose good justices? Dr. Phelan: He chose the first woman and I think that has been overlooked. I would also say I wish Bush had chosen a woman as running mate. I'd like to see the Republican Party be the first to put a woman in the White House, and also the first to put a black in the White House.

(Note:) During the remainder of this interview, both Dr. Phelan and I were somewhat unsettled by the nature of our subject material. His willingness to continue and his courage are to be admired. Question: We agreed I could ask about your arm. Dr. Phelan: With a grin and a chuckle, "My left arm?" Question: Also with a chuckle. No... Was this an injury?

Dr. Phelan: No. A birth defect - I've never had a right hand.

Question: Do these questions bother you? Would you prefer to drop it now? Dr. Phelan: No. It's a fact of life and can't be ignored. Maybe overcome in a certain way. Not physically it can't, but hopefully, emotionally and mentally, it can.

Question: How did this affect your childhood?

Dr. Phelan: I'd say it had a very negative effect on me because I couldn't do lots of things other kids did. But I grew up in a small community and people got to know me and came to realize there were a lot of things I could do as well, and some things better than other people. A lot of good people helped me to see that I could overcome this. My mom told me it is a fact of life, to deal with it and don't make excuses. The only thing I've tried and found it to be a liability was rock climbing. It didn't take me very long to find out it wasn't the sport for me.

Question: What would be the toughest question I could ask you?

Dr. Phelan: What is happiness?

Question: Your answer to that question?

Dr. Phelan: I can't answer the question Aristotle said that happiness is living a life of moral virtue.

Question: Okay, (with a chuckle) should I now ask the obvious next question?

Dr. Phelan: Laughing, "...don't ask!"

When asked about her feelings toward Glenville State College, Vickie said "During my time I have spent at Glenville State College, all the students were very nice, and I felt that it was a nice atmosphere."

Vickie's final comments were, "I would like to say a special hello to the girls in the Delta Zeta Sorority, and I miss them very much."

James Attends Festival

Associate Professor of Education, John James, accepted an invitation to the winter Children's Literature Festival sponsored by the Ohio State University's College of Education. The meetings were held at the Hyatt Regency in Columbus February 2, 3, and 4. Guests and authors outstanding in the field of children's literature were available for speeches, interviews, and autographs. Mr. James heard presentations given by Anita Silvey, the editor of The Horn Book Magazine, which is devoted to critical reviews of most recent editions; Susan Hirschman, the children's book editor and editor-in-chief of Greenwillow Books; and Masha Rudman, author of Helping Children Cope With Loss. He heard speeches by authors Russell Freedman, the winner of last year's Newbery Award and author of Abraham Lincoln, A Photobiography, Nancy Willard, Virginia Hamilton, and Mordica Gerstein. The

The Glenville Mercury emphasis of the conference was upon the need for variety in books which makes differences in perspective possible. Mr. Freedman spoke about his research on Lincoln.

This year's Newbery Award goes to Joyful Noise, by Paul Fleschman. The award is given by the American Library Association at its annual meeting.

Acting academic vice president Mack K. Samples has announced the enrollment figures for the spring semester at Glenville State College. The total head count on all three GSC campuses is 1,998.

This spring 1989 figure is up 57 students over the 1988 spring enrollment of 1,941. Spring '88 had 1,249 full time and 692 part time students for the 1,941 total figure.
