Preregistration Scheduled

Preregistration for the Fall semester and the First Summer term will be conducted later this semester. Both schedules are now available at the Registrar's Office.

Those desiring to preregister for the Fall 1989 semester may do so during the week of April 24-28. Please note that on the first day, April 24, preregistration will be conducted in the Ballroom of the Pioneer Center. Then, the remainder of the week, students should come to the Registrar's Office as usual. We are moving to the Ballroom the first day in an attempt to remove some of the confusion from the Administration Building hallway. In any event students should have their registration form completed and signed by their advisor before coming to the registration terminals.

Students who want to preregister for the First Summer session, June 12-July 12, may do so during the week of May 1-5. The Summer preregistration will be conducted at the Registrar's Office. Please notice that Summer preregistration is for the first term only.

Mack Samples, Dean of Records and Admissions, reminds everyone that the wise student preregisters. The unwise student stands in line next fall and complains because all of the classes are closed.

Due to a medical conference, Dr. Proctor's office will be closed on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, April 12, 13, and 14. It will open again on Monday, April 17. Dr. Villanueva will be available in his office at 4 Sumac Street in Glenville during his regular office hours, which are Wednesday 10-5, Thursday 1-5, Friday 10-5, and Saturday 9-12. His office number is 462-7056.

Dr. Allan Knowles will also be available during his regular hours in Burnsville. His hours are Wednesday 8-12 and Friday 8-4. His phone number is 853-2931.

While Dr. Proctor is gone, please feel free to call upon Dr. Knowles or Dr. Villanueva. You must, however, have your college I.D. card to be seen free of charge. As always, x-rays, lab tests, throat cultures, etc. are at your own expense.

Of course, Stonewall Jackson Memorial Hospital in Weston is always open for emergency care.

Mack Samples and Nationally Known Fiddler, Buddy Griffin.

Samples Produces Tape

Mack Samples, Dean of Records and Admission and long time performer on the summer festival circuit, has produced a professional tape.

With his two brothers, Ted and Rog, and nationally known fiddler Buddy Griffin joining him, Mack sings traditional, bluegrass, and what he calls "fringe modern" tunes. By "fringe modern," he means tunes that were written and performed in recent decades but never made the pop charts.

Samples notes that there is an awful lot of good music that never gets heard because it does not meet the guidelines of those who promote music for the mass audience. "Those who live in the narrow world of what they hear on the radio and see on MTV sure miss a lot of life," says Samples.

Some of the tunes feature the brothers playing three guitars with their singing. As is their custom, they produce three distinct guitar parts to blend with their singing. It is this feature that makes their music somewhat unique and separate it from commercial country music. The bluegrass tunes and just that, straight bluegrass, with nationally known fiddler, Buddy Griffin, sitting in. Jeff Roberts, from Crab Orchard, Kentucky, plays bass. Griffin also adds some vocal harmony and adds some background on other instruments. "The Troubador Song" which is the group's most requested song is included on the tape as well as their theme song "Liza Jane."

It should be noted that this is not a tape of modern commercial country music. The music tends to sound more like country music before the amplified guitar came along. Interested parties may purchase a tape from Mack Samples, Somerville's Store in Linn, The Towne Bookstore, and the College Bookstore.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Readers:

When last we met general damages for Louis Bennett Hall were at $21.77. At the present time damages are at $29.12 with the exception of the 4th floor which is at $79.12 due to a fire extinguisher incident. So far, again, the first floor leads the way in showing pride in their residence hall having no damages to this point. Ranking second is the third floor with $3.00 damages, followed third by the second with $6.12, and finally the fourth $20.00 general damages and $50.00 in special damages. This shows an improvement from nearly $3700.00 last semester to this semester's (as of April 12) total of less than $100.00 overall damages. The R.A.'s of Louis Bennett Hall are to be congratulated for their performances of their duties in helping this cause, but most of the applause goes to the residents, men who have found a new respect for themselves, their fellow students, and for their residents hall. My thanks

A Note From the Editor

Well, this week my editorial is going to be a little different. It is usually about what is wrong with something, but, this week I would like to send out a little praise.

This praise is going to Mr. John McKinney and his wife Cheryl and the Percussion Ensemble. In my busy schedule I usually don't have the time to go to any of the plays or music recitals, but I did happen to find the time to go to the Percussion Ensemble this year and I can say that this is the best one that I have seen since I have been at GSC.

You could tell that there was a lot of work put into this year's Ensemble and there was plenty of great talent in it as well.

Great job guys and good luck in your future endeavors.

Editor,
Bill Church

Teacher Feature: Dr. Gary Snyder

by Sally Robinson

There have often been times in Dr. Gary Snyder's life when an analogy of himself and another animal has been made. This subject came about during this interview, and the results are, as he says, predictable and usual.

Dr. Snyder came to Glenville State College as a student, and received his B.A. in biology before he left to attend Miami of Ohio, where he received both his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in botany. He returned here to teach in 1984. He grew up in the Kanawha Valley where his family still resides; he has a twin brother in Charleston, and two sisters who are also twins.

When Dr. Snyder was asked why he teaches, his reply was that when he was in school the last thing he wanted to do was to teach. He was shy and had trouble getting up in front of people and felt intimidated when he was thrown into his first teaching situation while in graduate school, and found himself in front of a class—without any idea at all what he was doing. He said that "for 13 weeks I was the worst teacher that had ever been in a classroom. One Friday night, I said to myself, I'm going in Monday morning and I'm going to walk up in front of the class and I'm going to be myself. I'm just going to be me." And that's just what he did, and has been doing ever since. He also tells his students who are going to be teachers that the hardest thing to do in a classroom is "to be yourself. No one can teach you how, you have to do it on your own." Dr. Snyder believes this is important for students to know because "if you are standing in front of 75 or 100 people being yourself, they can see all your flaws, all your short comings as well as all the good things about you." And why does he teach? "Because it is, in a lot of ways, the most satisfying thing to do." He feels that there is really nothing more satisfying than interacting with students. And in the spirit of a good teacher, Dr. Snyder also feels that the most important thing to teaching is the students. He believes "too often professors get caught up in content...that it is the discipline that is more important than the people who are studying the discipline."

When Dr. Snyder was confronted with the question of a scientific break-through he hopes to see, his reply was "all the standard things everyone wants to see, cures for cancer, etc. But what I'd like to see, is a time when society comes to the point that preservation of species of plants and animals is more important. We're destroying 25,000 square miles of rain forest every year. That's the size of West Virginia. We may be destroying things

Tracksters Coast to Victory

Behind solid team efforts by both the men and women, Glenville swept team honors at the NAIA District 28 track meet on Friday at Pioneer Stadium.

Individually for G.S.C., Dawn Farley won three events (100 meter dash, 100 high hurdles, and 400 intermediate hurdles), scored in seven other events, as well as two scoring relay teams for a total of 78 points.

Leading the Pioneer men was John Fitzpatrick who scored 48 points with victories in the 1,500 and 10,000 meter runs, in addition to scoring in four other events.

Despite the absences of Bubby Dent, Andy Jarrell, and Jay Dawkins, who represented West Virginia at the second annual America's Ekiden on Sunday, a road relay race in

New York, Glenville won the men's title easily over WV Wesleyan and WV State. The Lady Pioneer tracksters were just as convincing in winning over the same teams. "Our team ran extremely well considering the weather conditions. Our next home meet, (on April 29), with Morehead State University will be a good test to see how strong we really are," said Coach Hunt.

In addition to the fine performances by G.S.C.'s athletes, Glenville coaches Randy Hunt and Janet James gained NAIA District 28 Coach of the Year honors.

This Saturday, (April 15), Glenville's men's team will compete at California State (Pa.) while the Lady Pioneers will be in action at Ohio Wesleyan in Delaware, Ohio.

Buser's Briefs

For the fourth year in a row, the Masters has had a very memorable ending. Three years ago Jack Nicklaus burned the back nine at Augusta for a brilliant 30 to win his sixth green jacket. Two years ago Larry Mize holed a 150 foot pitch shot to beat Greg Norman in sudden death, and last year Sandy Lyle blasted out of a fairway bunker on the final hole and sunk the resulting 10 foot birdie putt for a one shot victory.

This year the tournament was won on the second playoff hole when Nick Faldo drained a 25 foot birdie putt. However, the most memorable moment in the 53rd Masters took place when Scott Hoch missed a two foot par putt on the first hole of sudden death that would have won the championship.

Although Faldo might not be a household name in the world of golf, his performances in the last few years have been quite noteworthy. After winning the 1987 British Open, the Englishman placed second, third, and fourth in last year's U.S. Open, British Open, and PGA. One interesting statistic to bear in mind is that it has been a dozen years since the Masters Champion has won another major in the same year.

One final thought on the 1989 Masters-Tom Watson's tie for 14th place this year was only the fourth time in 16 Masters' appearances that he failed to finish in the top ten.

Turning to baseball, did you know that Darryl Strawberry has hit more home runs (186) in his first six seasons in the majors than either Hank Aaron (179) or Babe Ruth (103) had in their first six years?

Golfers Tie for 6th at Wooster Invitational, Sowards Ties for 6th

Led by their top two players, Glenville's golf team tied for sixth place in the College of Wooster Invitational held on Friday and Saturday (April 7-8) at the par-72 L.C. Boles course on the campus of Wooster.

Bob Sowards and Greg Tallman both turned in steady performances for the Pioneers. Sowards' two day total of 153 (77-76) tied for the sixth best individual total in the 110-man field, while Tallman's 158 (78-80) earned a tie for the 15th best individual effort.

Wittenberg, who trailed Indiana (U.Pa.) by eight shots after the first round, rebounded in the rain on Saturday to win the team title by two strokes. Indiana (U.Pa.) slipped to finish second, while Rochester, Wooster, and Detroit rounded out the top five.

The linksters from Glenville began conference play on Sunday and Monday when they competed in the Southern Regional at Pipestem State Park, but the results were unavailable by press time. The next tournament for GSC will be Sunday and Monday (April 16-17) at the Northern Regional in Wheeling.

there we don't even know about or understand. Probably in 15 years cancer will be less difficult to deal with than the common cold. We may never figure that one out."

Everyone has something that they consider their greatest fear, and for Dr. Snyder it is the fear of failure. He says in fact that he believes everyone is afraid of failure. And his definition of courage? "Being able to face up to the potential that you are going to fail and stand up and do it anyway, because if you can't do that, you can't go on."

Question: If you had been Scopes, would you have taught the material. Or if there were a similar situation now?

Dr. Snyder: Yes, you have to teach what you think is the best thing to teach in a discipline. I present creationism in my biology class. Not to dwell on it, but to present it as an alternative point of view. It doesn't have scientific merit, and cannot be explained in scientific terms, but I think if we don't give students alternatives, and recognize they may view the world differently, then we may offend them, and I don't think the classroom is any place to offend people. I think we can present points of view different from what our students have in such a way that whether they believe them or not they will at least try to understand them. We ought to try to teach them not to accept a professor's point of view, but to find their own and make it an educated point of view.

Question: What do you consider your best quality and your greatest fault?

Dr. Snyder: Best quality... that I care too much. So much in fact that that also becomes my greatest fault. Sometimes the caring means that I tend to try to live my life to make others happy. To say and do what makes someone else feel good, but that makes me easily manipulated. So, the caring is both the good quality and sometimes a fault.

How does this teacher spend his free time? He likes to hunt, not just game, but also wild flowers. He has a garden and an orchard, and he enjoys canning his vegetables and making jellies. His favorite type of food however, is Mexican, which he says he cannot prepare.

Question: Dr. Snyder, if someone were to refer to you as just a nice, big teddy bear, how would you receive this comment?

Dr. Snyder: I've been called that before. I've always been a nice big teddy bear. I've been in groups before where members were asked to identify each other with animals. My impression is always that what is meant is a living animal, but everytime I'm compared to a teddy bear. And that's okay with me, because what's a teddy bear for? It's something you go to when you need a hug, and I like being perceived that way.

World Renowned Singers Visit GSC

World renowned, the Elmer Iseler Singers are coming to Glenville State College. The Cultural Affairs Committee will present the Singers on Monday, April 17, at 8.00 p.m. in the College Auditorium. There is a small fee for off-campus adults.

Based in Toronto, the Elmer Iseler Singers are recently returned from an Asian tour which included performances at the Summer 1988 Cultural Olympic Festival in Seoul, Korea, as well as in Hong Kong, Singapore and Tai Pei. Other tours in the past season have included a triumphant series of performances in Vienna where they were specially invited guests at the First World Symposium on Choral Music Sponsored by the International Federation of Choral Music and, in January 1988, performances at the Calgary Olympic Arts Festival.

Renowned for their remarkably expressive phrasing and luxurious tone, the Elmer Iseler Singers, under the leadership of Canada's pre-eminent choral conductor, Dr. Elmer Iseler, has leaped to international prominence since its birth in 1979. Making over one hundred appearances annually, the Elmer Iseler Singers present concerts throughout Canada and the United States, and in 1985 they completed a highly successful tour of Holland. They are frequently involved in radio and television broadcasts for the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and a wide variety of recording projects. As the professional core of the 170 voice Toronto Mendelssohn Choir, they perform frequently with the Toronto symphony, winning great acclaim at the Edinburgh Festival, London's Royal Albert Hall and Carnegie Hall.

The singers are recent winners of three Grand Prix du Disques Canada, and Juno nominees for their album, Serenade in Harmony, recorded in conjunction with the Netherlands Chamber Choir. Currently they can be heard in the soundtrack of the Jane Fonda-Norman Jewison film, Agnes of God. Soon to be released is the Singers' performance on the soundtrack of Millenium. The choir is a major participant in the upcoming 1989 International Choral Festival, to be held in Toronto during the month of June.

Spring Carnival Scheduled

The annual Spring Carnival will be held on Thursday, April 20 from 4:00 p.m.-8:00 p.m. during GSC Week. This year's Spring Carnival will be very similar to last year's with a few changes made in regards to improvement. Be a part of the fun and excitement by forming a team to participate.

Each team must consist of 10 members, including a minimum of 3 females and 3 males, and must be registered by noon on Wednesday, April 19, in the Student Services Offices. An alternate is optional and may be used to replace a member who is unable to participate for any reason. A person cannot be added or substituted to a team after 4 p.m. April 20. A team will be penalized if a person who participates in an event is not listed on their roster.

Winners of the competition will be the teams having the most points accumulated at the end of the day. Awards will be given to the first six teams to place.

If you have any questions, please contact Diane Bach, Crystal Kitzmiller or Michelle Riley.

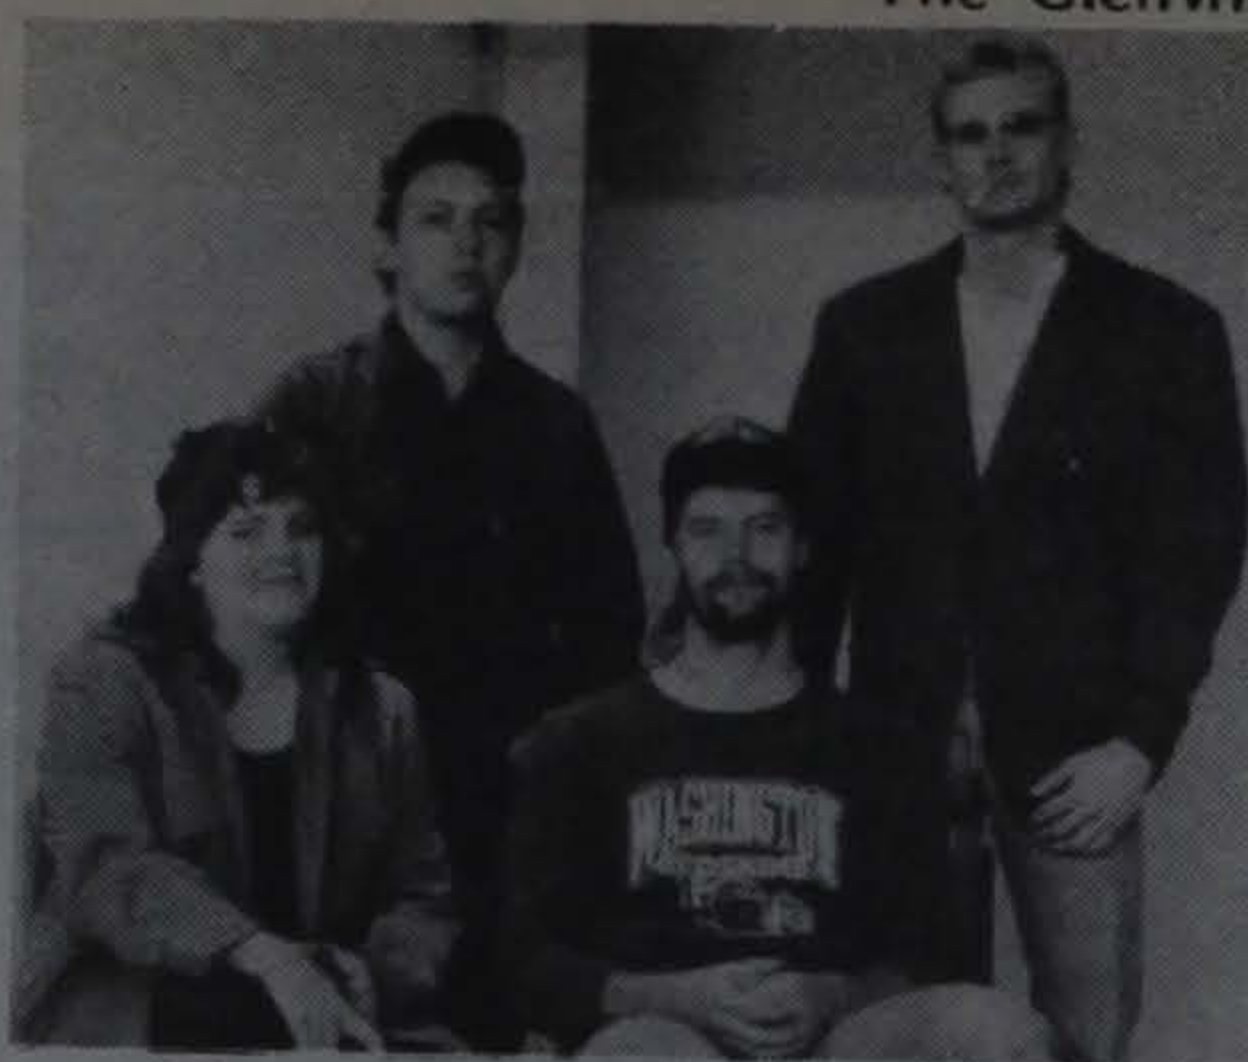

Don't miss the out on the fun. Form a team and get ready to participate in GSC Week.

and gratitude go out to both groups for taking it upon themselves to prove Louis Bennett Hall is not the "zoo" everyone says, but rather a group of young men who have shown they have grown up to be able to live as one big family—a family that, yes, has its problems and disputes but has become mature enough to deal with them and work together to solve them.

One other word of thanks goes out to the following person(s) for their cooperation: Diane Bach, Al Billips, Rose Turner, our night guards (Don Bell, Tim Lewis, Clark Wilson, and Pat Fisher), our campus police (Capt. Jerry Helmick, Ralph Southall, Jackie Moore, and Dean Boone), Mr. Edsell DeWees, and finally my cohorts in the crimes of House Directing, Phillip Ash and Laura Nauman. Sincerely,
Jerry Lee Burkhammer II

Valiant Performed

"The Valiant", by Halworthy Hall and Robert Middlemass will be performed in the Little Theatre Wednesday & Thursday night. Show time begins at 8:00 pm.

The one-act play encompasses an intense evening in a prison, minutes before an execution. The audience will become captured by the emotions and you will feel the uneasiness and dread of the warden, the hopeful questioning of the girl, and -- well, you will have to make your own decisions about the man to be hanged.

Cast members are: Andy Stotts as James Dyke the murderer, Paul Biser as Warden Holt, Wayne Richmond as Father Daly, Mercedes Richmond as Joesephine Paris, & Trey Simonson as the jailer.

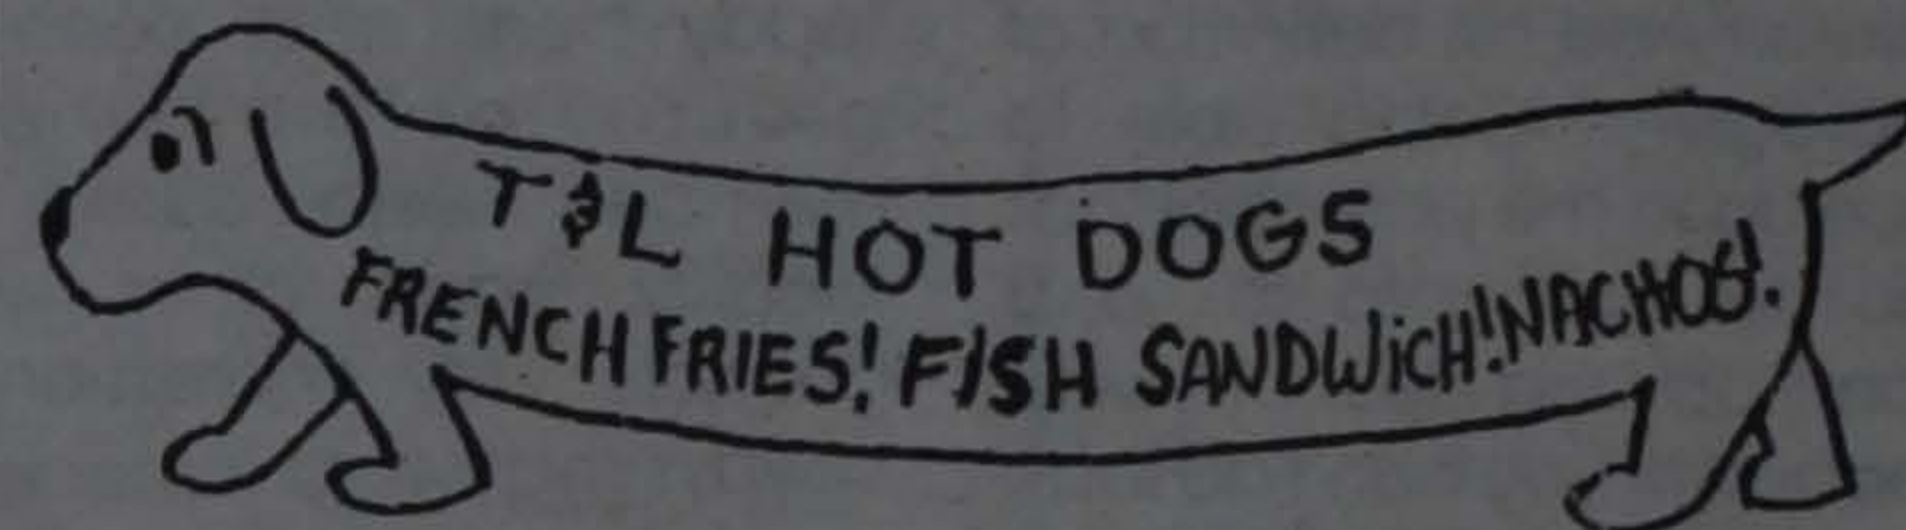

Kris Rogers is directing the play and wishes to invite everyone to come by and see the performance—Wednesday & Thursday at 8:00.
