TRAGEDY CLAIMS TWO

A tragic accident has taken the lives of two Glenville State College students. John David Jobes and N. Douglas Moeck died Friday evening as a result of an auto accident in Ritchie County near Smithville. John Jobes, 20, was born in Wood County, a son of Donovan and Diana Jobes. He was a 1988 graduate of Parkersburg High School and a former employee of Big Bear Stores. John lived in Vienna and was a sophomore at GSC majoring in accounting.

Doug Moeck, 21, was the son of Norma Moeck of Parkersburg and Mary Francis and Billy Winnans of Washington, WV. He was a summer employee of E.I. duPont and attended the Fairlawn Baptist Church. Doug was a 1986 graduate of Parkersburg High School and a sophomore at Glenville State College. He was an avid karate student and displayed his talent by placing 3rd in the kata competition held April 29, 1988 at GSC.

Administration, faculty members and students at Glenville State College share in the sorrow of the families of John Jobes and Doug Moeck.

OVERALL GSC ENROLLMENT DECLINES

Unofficial figures at the Glenville State College main campus and the Summersville Center showed strong growth this fall, but the uncertainty over the future of the Glenville Center at Parkersburg caused the enrollment there to fall significantly. As a result, the overall enrollment for the college dropped slightly to 2,153, a decline of 2.2 percent.

The on-campus freshman class was up 46 students from last year and the Summersville Center enrollment is around 400. It would appear that the Summersville enrollment is limited only by the amount of resources that are allocated to the center. Every class that is offered at Summersville attracts a full complement of

Main campus enrollment is surprisingly strong with some classes enrolling seventy or more students. Such class sizes are highly unusual at Glenville. Residence hall occupancy is also up. There are more students in the residence halls currently than during any other semester since 1984.

Glenville students at Parkersburg are faced with the uncertainty of Glenville's future there and apparently are taking a "wait and see" attitude. Approximately 180 Glenville students are enrolled at Parkersburg, compared to 269 last fall. This drop represents the only downward trend in Glenville's enrollment.

Forestry Club

The first regular meeting of the Glenville State College Forestry Club was held Thursday September 14, 1989 at the pavillion on Sycamore Run. Only a small number of students turned out for the meeting, but the ones who did are enthusiastic about the club.

For those persons interested in the club and could not make the meeting, applications can be picked up at Eberle Hall on Mineral Road.

The next order of business was to determine an amount for dues. It was suggested that a dues of $5.00 annually for active members and $2.00 annually for sponsored members be administered. A vote was taken and those amounts were decided on by a majority vote. An active member is any student who is currently enrolled in the forestry program. A sponsored member is any individual interested in forestry and the club but is required to be sponsored by an active member.

In other news, a special thanks to M'Linda Whipkey and Kris Rogers for their help in designing the club membership cards. Your help was greatly appreciated.

Ladies of the White Rose

The Ladies of the White Rose held their third meeting of the fall semester on Thursday, September 14, at 6:00 p.m. We would like to remind all Ladies that dues are to be turned in by September 21.

1989-90 Ladies of the White Rose officers are: President - Lisa Dolan; VP - Cindy Skiles; Secretary - Cheryl Amos; Treasurer - Mindi Pickens; Scrapbook - Andrea Wines; Public Relations - Penny Tustin.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,

This letter is an urgent cry for help from my stomach to all other stomachs who feel the same on this campus and to those who can do something about it. The subject I am talking about is cafeteria meals at GSC. I have been a vegetarian for over one year and have enjoyed eating nutritious, well-balanced meatless meals. My boyfriend is also a vegetarian and when we transferred to Glenville this year and went to the cafeteria for our first meal, we were disgusted. First we had to wait about 20 minutes in line before we could get to the food - by then we were thinking "Boy this had better be worth it!" Needless to say we were very put out when we finally got there and found there was no vegetarian dish - like we were used to at our previous colleges. There was simply one starch, one meat dish, some melted looking rice cookies, and the only thing left to drink was pop or water. Since we will not eat meat, my boyfriend and I have been forced to subsist on salads and ice-cream. Sure we could ask for just noodles or rice, but that is still not a balanced (or very appetizing) meal. Sometimes I wonder if there even is a nutritionist employed at this college. I seriously think that something needs to be done about meals at GSC Cafeteria to make them more varied and nutritious. I have a feeling there are many people who feel the same way I do. If we all go to the people in charge at the cafeteria and let them know how we feel, a change may slowly come about! Also if you are a vegetarian, stand up for your rights and let the cooks know! I'm going to!

As the Editor Sees It

By Paul Biser

Colleges' and Universities' soul purpose is to provide students a higher education. Without students to teach, faculty members would not have jobs. Without faculty, administrators would not have jobs. Everyone connected with a college relies on the student body - why then should bodies of the students be hot, sweaty, miserable, and sapped of energy? Has the administration forgotten how detrimental the heat of classrooms can be, robbing students of their concentration and alertness? Do administrators think that they are the only ones who suffer from the heat? Students are glad administrators have air conditioned offices, but students would appreciate the sharing of air conditioning in their classrooms. Cool rooms are more conducive to learning.

How bad is the heat problem? Classrooms located on the top floors of Clark Hall and the Administration Building and above in the Pioneer Center are unbearably hot and humid. Night classes in these rooms are killers. Students have measured the temperatures in these rooms and the results are shocking - 95 - 100 degrees. The extreme humidity in these rooms are even more devastating to learning conditions.

Increasingly, classrooms in sister institutions are air conditioned and we need to add this necessity at GSC to promote a better learning environment. That's the responsibility of our administrators.

Shepherd "Rams" Glenville

Glenville State, in their West Virginia Conference opener, fell 5 (0-2) overall and (0-1) in the conference with a 33-00 loss at the hands of the Shepherd College Rams. Shepherd, (1-2,1-0) last year's WVIAC co-champions received their first victory of the young season at the expense of the visiting Pioneers.

With both Shepherd and Glenville being strong defensive teams and with the game at Shepherdstown being played in a downpour, it appeared as if the crowd of 1,300 in attendance would see a lowscoring defensive affair. Although the game at first appeared to be so, Shepherd later went on an offensive surge that would score 33 points. Shepherd quarterback Jim Signora passed for 231 yards and two touchdowns, while Kurt Minifield ran for two more scores on touchdown runs of 1 and 2 yards. Shepherd, on the day, amassed a total of 466 yards of offense. With 238 yards passing and 228 yards rushing, the Rams offered a well-balanced offensive attack. While defensively, the Rams held the Pioneers to 155 total yards (65 rushing, 90 passing).

Scoring began in the first quarter with Dean Pyzik kicking a field goal of 26 yards that put Shepherd in the board and in the lead 3-0. In the second quarter, Pyzik again added a field goal, this time for 38 yards and a 6-0 lead for the Rams. Later in the second quarter Shepherd went up 20-00 on touchdown runs by Minifield, who ended the day with 41 yards on 7 attempts. In the third quarter, Shepherd opened up their passing attack with two touchdown passes to McVicker from Signora.

The Pioneers were led offensively by Gordon Stevens with 21 yards rushing and Freshman quarterback Mike Kellar who went 4 for 11 and passed for 33 yards. Defensively for the Pioneers, Brian Hill had a sensational day with a total of 17 tackles (13 solos, 4 assists). Hill was a one-man wrecking crew and is no doubt a strong candidate for WVIAC defensive player of the week. Luther Toney also had a fine day defensively for the Pioneers with 16 tackles (9 solo, 7 assists) and a quarterback sack.

Next weekend is an open date for the Pioneers. The next game for Glenville State will be September 30th, a homecoming date against West Liberty State College.

Sports Trivia:

Dent Places First At Indianapolis (Pa.)

With a strong surge, Glenville State's Bubby Dent claimed individual honors in the men's division at the University of Indiana (PA) Invitational cross country meet Saturday. Dent outkicked Virginia's Andrew Hudson over the final 800 meters to complete the course in 25:57, a mere nine seconds ahead of Hudson.

Glenville State finished fifth overall in the men's division with a team score of 180. Other finishers besides Dent for the men were: Mickey Grass (35th), Jason Quick (81st), Richard Clark (112th), and Jesse Giles (124th).

The top finisher for the women's team was Tammy Taylor, coming

HART'S HEADLINES

Football, which has vastly become the sport of fall, has placed a footnote to its college play this season. Rules makers have decided to eliminate the tee, which placekickers have been permitted to use since 1948. Now, instead of the tee, the ball must be kicked from the surface of the field, be it natural pass or artificial grass.

In 1940, Coach Lou Little of Columbia University proposed that the crossbar be lowered from its height of ten feet. Little's proposal failed, but in 1948 the one-inch tee for placekickers was introduced. Later the tee was raised in height to two inches.

Kicking in college football has suddenly become a new game. Now instead of field goals and points after touchdown (PAT) being so commonplace, things will be more strategic. Before this new ruling was established, point-after-touchdown attempts have been as exciting to watch as dog sledding or four square. Without the tee in PAT conversions, attempts will be more challenging and will decrease in percentage.

I believe that the new ruling will make the kicking game in college football more enjoyable to watch. There should be more blocked field goals this season, because without the kicking tee, the kicks trajectory will be lowered and the ball won't be as quick to leave the foot. Until specialists develop advantages to snap the ball and position it, look for PAT and field goals converted to decline.

Well, the Mountaineers have cracked the top ten and are slowly gaining respectability. WVU raised their record to 3-0 after defeating South Carolina 45-21. In the game, the Mountaineers were never challenged, shutting down Todd Ellis and the heralded S. Carolina passing attack. Next week the Mountaineers will be on the road at Louisville, where the Cardinals are a much improved team. On the year, Louisville is 2-0 and very hungry to take on West Virginia. Although Louisville will prove to be a strong test for the Mountaineers, WVU will pass the test and defeat Louisville 31-20.

GSC Golfers Win At Lexington

Paced by Bob Sowards and Patrick Geraghty, Glenville State College placed first at the Washington and Lee/VMI Tournament. The tournament was a scheduled two day event, to take place on both Friday and Saturday. But when the rains washed out the second round of competition, the leaders after the first round were declared champions of the 18-hole event.

Individual medalist was Bob Sowards of Glenville State with a one-under par 70, while second place went to Ireland native Patrick Geraghty, also of Glenville State. Geraghty shot an even-par 71 respectively. Glenville finished with a team effort of 298, just three points ahead of rival Charleston University which shot a team score of 301, a distant third was Longwood, VA, at 310.

Glenville next takes the green this weekend in the James Madison Invitational in Hillsville, VA.
