development for GSC and co-director of Focus 1992*

The conference will focus on new market opportunities for West Virginia small businesses and the development of partnerships and joint ventures. Also to be considered are economic development initiatives for rural areas and extensive support and assistance programs available to West Virginia small businesses.

Kick-off speaker is Congressman Bob Wise. Dinner speaker is Congressman Alan Mollohan. A seminar given by Jake Bussolini, vice president of strategic planning for Grumman Corporation, titled "Subcontracting Under Federal Prime Contracts," will be offered at 11 a.m. Stan Klein, deputy assistant director of the FBI Identification Division will give a seminar titled "Business Opportunities and the FBI" at 2:15 p.m.

According to Raymond Oliverio, director of institutional development for Glenville State and co-director of Focus 1992, "This first ever rural procurement

M. Weaver, federal contracting specialist and procurement center representative for SBA. Business development technician for SBA, Nick Lambernedis is conference coordinator.

The conference is being held in partnership with Senator Robert C. Byrd, Senator John D. Rockefeller IV, Congressman Alan Mollohan, and Congressman Bob Wise.

The conference is being held in cooperation with NCMA, PTAC, Software Valley Corporation, GOCID, West Virginia High Technology Consortium, Chambers of Commerce of West Virginia, Gilmer County Industrial Development Association, and MURED C.

SBA officials estimate that 150 people will attend the conference. A registration fee of $25 entitles registrants to booth space, seminars and dinner.

Glenville State College Working on Cooperative Efforts With Area Schools

A meeting of the superintendents of schools from Braxton, Calhoun, Gilmer, and Lewis Counties was held at Glenville State College on Thursday, February 6. The meeting was held to discuss partnership programs that would enhance public school education in Central West Virginia as well as the teacher education program at Glenville State College.

According to William Kinzer, superintendent of Gilmer County Schools, Glenville State college is already providing Gilmer County Schools with an elementary music program and Spanish instruction for 5th and 6th grades and French in the High School.

Dr. William K. Simmons, president of Glenville State College, said, "We want to make sure the people of Central West Virginia have the tools necessary to go on to higher education. We can't improve the whole world, but we can make a valuable contribution to Central West Virginia."

The meeting was attended by William Kinzer, superintendent of Gilmer County Schools; Dr. Joseph Mace, superintendent of Lewis County Schools; Dr. Kenna Seal, superintendent of Braxton County Schools; John Hager, superintendent of Calhoun County Schools; Dr. William Simmons, president of GSC; Dr. J. Lowell Peterson, GSC vice president for academic affairs; Dr. Steven Creasey, GSC dean of teacher education; Lisa Booth, GSC director of public relations; Pamela Cain, GSC assistant professor of special education and early childhood; and Dr. Richard Butler, GSC associate professor of education.

Literary Society Discusses Popular Literature

by Tracy Moats

If you are interested in reading and enjoy group discussion, then the Literary Society may be for you. The Literary Society is advised by Wayne deRosset and Dr. Nancy Zane, English Professors at Glenville State College. Popular literature is chosen to be read at one book per month. Toward the end of the month the group meets for discussion and debate on the book. The book for the month of February is Persuasion by Jane Austen. The 11 members will meet in room 305 of the Administration Building on February 20, at 4:15 p.m. to discuss this book.

If taken three semesters, the Literary Society can be counted as three college credit hours. Anyone can join at any time; however, to be eligible for credit hours you must join at the beginning of the semester and be present at each monthly meeting.

Relatively short books are chosen to allow time for reading the book while at the same time keeping up with other school work.

Tina Martin Crane, President of the Literary Society commented, "The Literary Society gives people who like to read a chance to get together with other people who like to read." She went on to add, "I've read books now that I would have never have picked up on my own."

If you are interested in joining the Literary Society contact deRosset or Zane in the Language Division.

Letter from the Editor Editor Responds To Reader's Concerns

Dear Mr. Freidhoff,

I would like to take this opportunity to address your letter in the February 5 issue.

When selecting the Campus Kibitz section, I look for a variety of respondents from the campus community. I could not publish the two responses referred to in your letter because they did not answer the question that was asked. The question referred to the new businesses in Glenville - not just Pizza Hut or just restaurants as those responses suggested.

Second, the letter to the editor you referred to was not published because a similar letter on the same subject (intramural weight lifting) was published in the October 9 issue and a student response to that letter was published in the following issue. As editor, I felt it redundant to publish a third letter on the same subject.

In the future, you may wish to direct your comments regarding the distribution of The Mercury to our circulation manager.

Reference Section Reliable Source of Information

by Becky Richards

Research papers are a very important part of many English classes. It is important to be able to obtain enough information from a good reliable source. In order to be able to do this, you need to know how to use the library.

An important section of the library is the reference section, on the first floor. Here you can use the INFOTRAC and ERIC computer systems. These systems are designed to help the user to search the computer for your given topic. You need only to enter your topic and let the computer search for the information it has. It will give you a number of sources from which information about your topic can be found. You can easily print out a copy of all those given sources.

These sources may be found in magazines, on microfiche, and on microfilm. All of which are easy to find and easy to use. The microfiche and microfilm machines can be operated free of charge and the user can print copies of each source they need for further use for 10 cents a copy. There are also photocopy machines for copying pages of books, this also costs 10 cents each.

Also in this section there is a large collection of reference books, telephone directories, and a card catalogue. All sources in the library are there for students and faculty. If you have any questions, the library staff is ready to assist you.

GSC Senior Receives Scholar-Athlete Award

Jane Hoffman receives WVIAC scholar-athlete award.

One Valley Bank and WVIAC officials have announced that Jane Hoffman, a senior at Glenville State College, has been selected as a One Valley Bank - WVIAC Senior Scholar-Athlete Award winner for 1992. Hoffman, who is an elementary education major at Glenville State College, is from Letart, WV, has participated in cross country/track for three seasons for the Pioneers.

The One Valley Bank - WVIAC Senior Scholar-Athlete

Award program was established three years ago to honor student athletes in the West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference who have excelled first in the classroom, and also on the intercollegiate fields and courts of competition. In order to qualify for the award, a student athlete must have an overall grade point average of at least 3.00 on a 4.00 scale through at least seven semesters of work and have participated or intend to participate in at least two seasons of competition in a recognized sports program at their institution. Nominations must include a recommendation from both the student athlete's coach and athletic director.

Each of the WVIAC's fourteen member institutions are allowed to submit one male and one female nominee each year for the award. Award recipients will be honored with a reception at 6 p.m. on Friday, February 28, in the VIP room at the Charleston Civic Center during the WVIAC Basketball Championship Tournament. At half time of the 7 p.m. game on the same evening, the award winners will be presented a plaque recognizing their achievements.

Popular Journals Stolen From RFK Library

Does the carousel holding current issues of your favorite popular magazines look a little bare lately? You're right, it does. And this time the state of the economy is not to blame. Someone, or a few individuals, are stealing the most recent issues of magazines bought with your tuition money.

This month another nine titles are being kept locked in the current periodicals room due to theft. Rather than being able to conveniently browse through them, you will need to sign out current issues of the following at the circulation desk: Discover, Ebony, Field and Stream, Good Housekeeping, Glamour, McCalls, People Weekly, Redbook, and Seventeen.

Any person caught stealing or mutilating library materials has been and will continue to be fined $100 plus replacement costs. If you see anyone taking your library materials, contact the library or media staff. Not only have you helped pay for that item, it won't be available the next time you want or need it.

Are you concerned that a hole is developing in the ozone over parts of the United States, Canada, and Europe? If so, do you think the government needs to do more to stop the release of the chemicals that have caused the hole?

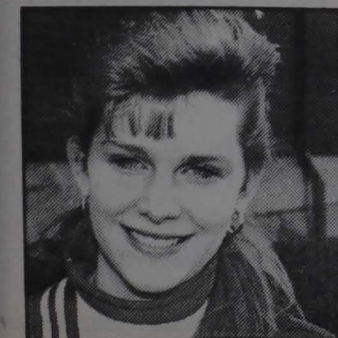

NAME: Cinda Echard
TITLE: marketing instructor
HOMETOWN: Glenville, WV
ANSWER: "Yes, I am very much concerned. Society is concentrating too much on the present and not the future, and that is what I am concerned with. Yes, they need to focus more critically on this issue."

NAME: Chuck Hython
RANK: sophomore
MAJOR: sports management
HOMETOWN: Steubenville, OH
ANSWER: "No, because I don't like Canada or Europe. I think they should get rid of the chemicals that will harm people."

NAME: Jason Barnette
RANK: freshman
MAJOR: forestry
HOMETOWN: Weston, WV
ANSWER: "Yes, I don't think it will effect our generation, but we should be concerned with future generations. Yes, the government should be concerned because it can one day destroy our environment."

NAME: Joni Rittenhouse
RANK: freshman
MAJOR: biology
HOMETOWN: Gassaway, WV
ANSWER: "Yes, because there is less protection from the sun and it is harmful to people, animals, and the world. Yes, because if the governments would do more to stop it, the ozone could fix itself."

NAME: Kelly Reed

MAJOR: history
HOME: Canaan Valley
ANSWER: "Yes, I'm concerned and I think that the government needs to do more because it's important because it depends on life as we know it."

Ozone Depletion Worldwide Concern

by Rebecca Hufford

I am very concerned about the hole forming in the ozone. The depletion of the ozone is something that should concern us all, if not for our sake, for the sake of generations to come.

Broader ozone loss is measured daily. Besides the increased number of cases of melanoma in recent years, the hole in the ozone has been linked to higher ocean temperatures causing death to aquatic life.

This is not an issue for our government alone. This is a problem that affects everyone on Earth. The effects of ozone depletion will not discriminate. If the hole in the ozone continues to grow at its current rate, we will all suffer. Black, white, American, Canadian, whoever - we are all citizens of this planet. It is our responsibility to make it a safe place for future generations to live.

Pioneers in Nursing State Requirements for Admission

by Stephanie Phillips

The nursing program at Glenville State College was inaugurated in the fall of 1984. Applicants to the nursing program must have a minimum cumulative grade point average of 2.5 or better. Enrollment in the program is limited to 24 students.

After begining in pre-nursing, the applicant is at GSC for two years, then the student goes to the West Virginia University Health and Science Center in Charleston for another two years.

Those who wish to enroll in the joint offering with Glenville State College and West Virginia University School of Nursing

Applications Accepted for Freshmen Counselors

by Anthony Riffe

Applications are now being taken for freshmen counselors. Counselors are needed to help out with the new freshmen that will be arriving next fall semester.

The freshmen counselors will be paired up in two's and each will be responsible for 10 - 12 students. The counselors will make sure freshmen register and help them move into the dorms. The counselors will also make sure freshmen pay their fees and meet in group sessions for a look at the school calender and school rules.

To be eligible to be a freshmen counselor you only have to be willing to spend time and make a committment. It is strictly on a volunteer basis. Jennifer Nottingham said this about the type of people they are looking for, "We are really looking for students who are committed to working that week and making the freshmen feel more comfortable at Glenville State College."

Nottingham also had this to say, "Each year approximately 40 outgoing, dedicated students are chosen to work with new students entering Glenville State College. Those students selected to serve as counselors are expected to attend a training session during the month of April and will be expected to report to the campus in August before the new students arrive. A great deal of time and effort is necessary on your part if you are to be a freshmen counselor, therefore, only apply if you are willing to make the commitment."

If you are interested in being a freshmen counselor or if you just want to know more about the freshmen counselors program, the information and applications are available in the Placement Office, room 204, in the Heflin Student Center. Applications are due by Monday, March 30, at 4 p.m.

program must be admitted to GSC as a pre-nursing student and must meet the admission requirements for the pre-nursing program. West Virginia residents must have a 2.0 cumulative high school grade point average or a composite score of 14 on their ACT.

For entry into the program one should have completed the following courses in high school: biology, 1 unit; chemistry, 1 unit; English, 4 units; mathematics, 3 units with at least 2 units in algebra.

The Pioneers in Nursing Club started in 1986. Some of the activities have included selling candy bars to raise money to make decorations for nursing home residents in Glenville. They also assisted in the health fair on campus.

The first spring meeting was held on Friday, February 7. New activities were to be planned for various groups. The group is also planning to have another fund raiser.

The officers include president, Brad Persinger; vice-president, Missy Taylor; secretary, Melinda Bennett; treasurer, Claudia Covill; and historians, John Bartenslager and Theresa Copenhagen.

Within the program, the freshman are taking introductory courses. The sophomores have started working at Americare and started working at different clinical sights - Stonewall Jackson Hospital in Weston, the Gilmer County Home & Health, and the Calhoun County Home & Health. They perform various nursing duties under an advisor supervision.

Theresa Cowan, head of the nursing department, said, "The nursing program here at GSC is open to anyone whether wanting to go into nursing or having interests in health occupation is welcome in our organization."

If you are in the nursing program you can be a member of the Pioneers in Nursing. There is a $5.00 joining fee.

Student Congress Sponsors Super Star Studio

by Anthony Riffe

Brad and Eazy of Super Star Studios performed live in concert Wednesday, February 5, from 8-12 p.m. in the Heflin Student Center Ballroom. The show was a Student Congress sponsored performance. The show was actually hosted by Brad and Eazy, but it was the Glenville State College students who put on the show.

Students became the stars as they stepped into the sound booth to sing their favorite songs. Once you decided what type of song you wished to sing from the list of pop, rock, country, show toons, oldies, as well as other choices, you walked into the sound booth to trade places with your favorite star. The end product was your voice accompanied with the back ground vocals and music of the song you chose.

People had many different reasons for testing their talent. Some were making surprise valentines for their sweethearts, others wanted to simply test their voices somewhere besides their shower or in their cars when no one is listening. But the biggest reason shown was just to have a good time. The favorite song of the night seemed to be Bryan Adams' "Every Thing I Do (I Do For You)," and the wildest group of singers for the night had to be The Callused Hands with their rendition of "Barbaran" and "Wild Thing."

Eazy had this to say about why they brought their show to Glenville, "to give students a chance to make a star out of themselves and that's why we're called Super Star."

Brad and Eazy said they really liked Glenville. In fact, they spent their vacations here. Eazy commented on how he felt about Glenville, "For being such a small school the students show more class and intelligence than a lot of the bigger name colleges we've been to. We enjoy the people so much at Glenville we spent four extra days here. I'm looking forward to coming back and visiting with all the people we've met. I'm coming back in April to D.J. at Glenville State College week for the outdoor dance."

Brad also shared his views of our campus by saying, "We go from campus to campus and we found this to be the nicest group of people to be around. It's also the hilliest campus I've been to. It's so nice here I came back here for a week on my vacation and just hung out and took it easy." Brad also confessed he likes going to the Derrick and dancing while he's in town.

With no doubt, everyone who attended had a good time. Lori Nicholas, member of Student Congress, commented this about Brad and Eazy, "We have a lot more people here than last time. It helped that the guys were here early. They have been on campus talking to people at the dorms and cafeteria. Eazy and Brad make people feel at ease by laughing and joking, and that helps people not be so afraid about singing. I've spent a lot of time with them and I think everyone likes them and in the future I hope they come back."

Jesse Skiles was also on hand to give us his views of Brad and Eazy, "Brad and Eazy have really developed good rapport with the students here at Glenville. It's a very high quality show. I'm real excited to have them back."

Faculty to Present Recital March 3

by Anthony Riffe

There will be a faculty recital in the Art and Music Building Auditorium on March 3. The recital will include some of the finest musicians in the state. The musicians include Dr. John Mead, Marsha Palmer, and Harry Rich. John Walkup, Edward McKown, music professors at Glenville State College, and Julie Harbert, senior music major at Glenville State College, will accompany these musicians in a show of classical and contemporary compositions.

Mead is a music professor at Marshall University as well as the principle trombonist in the West Virginia Symphony. French hornist, Palmer, is also a member of the West Virginia Symphony. Rich is a music professor at Glenville State College, and will be performing the trumpet.

Harry Rich had this to say about the upcoming recital, "It's going to be a cross section of contemporary and classical works."

Dr. Gillespie commented further by adding, "I have heard these groups play before. I think they are all fine musicians. The audiences have never been disappointed before. I think it is safe to say our audience will enjoy the performance."

Admission to this performance is free to Glenville State College students.

Appalachian Quintet To Perform at GSC

by Anthony Riffe

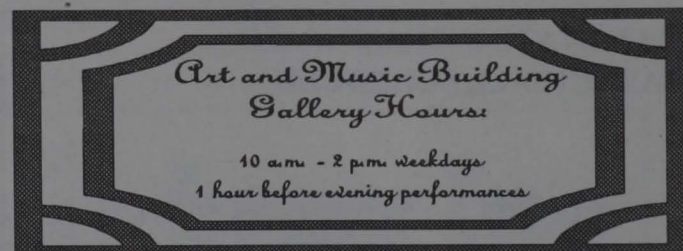

The Appalachian Quintet will be performing in the Art and Music Building Auditorium. Five talented musicians will be on hand at Glenville State College March 31, to perform for students and faculty as well as the general public.

Performing for the Appalachian Quintet will be John Schooley on the tuba, Don Weigal on the trombone, Andrew Scott on the french horn, Michele Lulos on the trumpet and Harry Rich on the trumpet.

The Appalachian Quintet performs music similar to the music performed by Canadian Brass, a very popular ensemble.

Admission to this brass performance is free to the Glenville State College student body.

Lung Association Offers Tips To Fight Air Pollution

Is your home polluted? According to The American Lung Association®, often the answer is yes. Many of today's products, wonderful as they are, contribute to indoor air pollution, which in turn can result in lung and respiratory problems. The people most exposed are the ones who need to spend more time at home: children, pregnant women, the elderly, and people with lung disease. In many cases, we can improve the quality of air in our homes. The American Lung Association offers the following tips:

•Clean air conditioners, humidifiers, dehumidifiers, and heat exchangers regularly.

•Vent kerosene or gas heaters to the outside of your home.

•Wash bedding materials frequently in hot water (at least 130 degrees) to reduce dust mites.

•Fit your gas range with a hood fan that vents pollutants to the outside, or keep a window open and use a window exhaust fan while cooking.

•Read all print on containers and follow the directions carefully when using household cleaning agents, personal-care products, hobby materials, and pesticides.

•Have your gas or oil company regularly inspect your furnace, gas water heater, and gas clothes dryer.

•Cover exposed, intact (not flaking) asbestos-containing material with plastic and/or duct tape to provide an air-tight seal rather than remove it. If asbestos is flaking or damaged, be sure to use an asbestos removal professional to solve the problem. •Kick the cigarette habit. Refuse to allow smoking in your home.

The American Lung Association fights lung disease. For more information on air pollution in your home and what you can do about it, contact your local American Lung Association listed in the white pages of your telephone directory.

Alpha Psi Omega

The Theta Alpha cast of Alpha Psi Omega held a meeting last December. Jackie Carter was elected stage manager and Kelly Weiser was appointed historian/public relations. Plans were made for the bake sale and stocking raffle before Christmas, which was a big success. The proceeds are going to help with the costs for a trip to New York in April.

Another meeting was held on January 19. Plans were made to sell carnations for Valentine's Day. Initiations into Alpha Psi will be taking place in the coming months.

Tau Kappa Epsilon

On Monday, February 3, the Iota Omega Chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon held a formal meeting in the basement of Louis Bennett Hall. The main purpose of the meeting was to sign new pledges to the fraternity. A membership quality board was held after the regular meeting was terminated. All five pledges who signed were accepted by the Board.

Other business was discussed as well.

On the same night at the Glenville home game against Davis and Elkins, raffle tickets for a model '93 Ithaca Deluxe pump shotgun went on sale. So if you haven't bought one yet, you still have a chance. Tickets will be on sale at all home games until April 1. So hurry and get yours!

As for you pledges, remember if you haven't gotten your interviews yet, you only have until Thursday, February 13. The fun has just begun. Hang in there, 'cause you can do two weeks standin' on your head.

From Poo: Hey Terry, Ben, and Wayne, Let's go Cleveland!

Fall '92 Student Teaching

There will be a meeting of all students interested in student teaching in the Fall 1992 semester. The meeting will be held in room 101 Clark Hall on February 20.

Applications for Fall student teaching will be made at that time.

The deadline for making application for Fall student teaching is March 1.

Delta Zeta

The Theta Xi Chapter of the Delta Zeta Sorority had their formal meeting Monday, February 3, at 3 p.m. During our meeting plans were being made for rush. A Delta Zeta pajama party is scheduled for Wednesday, February 19, at 9:30 p.m. at the Delta Zeta House on East Main Street. Interested girls please join us and learn more about Delta Zeta.

We would like to thank all of the girls who came to our popcorn and movie show. Come down and visit with us anytime.

Balloons for Valentine's Day will be sold from February 10-13 in the Heflin Student Center lobby from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. each day. Buy your sweetheart a talking balloon, yes, a talking balloon, and at the same time help support Delta Zeta.

Tri-Sigma

The Delta Alpha chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma held its weekly meeting on January 30 to discuss plans for the spring semester.

so all interested girls should watch for posters giving more details or contact any Sigma Sister.
