Samples Receives Award for Service to Sorority

Thelma Samples, director of Alumni Affairs at Glenville State College, was honored by a ceremony given by the sisters of the Theta Xi Chapter of the Delta Zeta Sorority on March 24. The ceremony was held in the Alumni House on the GSC campus.

Samples was recognized for her 25 years of membership in Delta Zeta Sorority. She was a charter member when the Theta Xi Chapter was installed at GSC in 1963. During her time as an alumni she juggled career, family, and Delta Zeta as she was Collegiate Chapter Director for 13 years.

The sisters presented Samples with a rose and a silver engraved certificate which declared her as a member of the Silver Sisterhood of Delta Zeta. Samples was also given a vase in recognition of her past years of dedication to Delta Zeta. The song "If Wishes Came True" was sung and refreshments were served.

Samples commented, "I've enjoyed working with the sorority. The last 25 years have gone so fast. I never dreamed of being honored with the Silver Sisterhood."

'Focus 92' Deemed a Smashing Success

The first ever rural procurement conference for West Virginia Small Businesses, sponsored by the Small Business Administration and Glenville State College, was held on Friday, March 27 at GSC. The day-long, statewide conference hosted more than 400 people including Governor Gaston Caperton, and Congressmen Bob Wise and Alan Mollohan.

During an afternoon address, Caperton discussed the difference between economic development and economic growth. He remarked that the conference, "Focus 92," was appropriately named as Focus implies a concentrated look at jobs and economic development.

Co-director of "Focus 92," Raymond A. Oliverio, said, "I think the conference was a smashing success. It truly exceeded our expectations. We hope that it will have a rejuvenating effect on the economy of Glenville and Central West Virginia."

"I challenged participants to make the conference pro-active; at the end of the day, Barbara Weaver, co-director of "Focus 92," reported that 17 deals were made during the conference. Some of the companies who entered into these new agreements were Chesterfield Energy Corp., Natural Gas Transportation Co., Hope Natural Gas, and Grumman Corp.," said Oliverio.

"The conference showcased diverse small businesses of West Virginia, their sophisticated skills, resources and competence. It also explored new market opportunities for these businesses and the development of partnerships and joint ventures among conference participants. Economic development initiatives for rural areas such as Glenville are a natural spinoff of the urban renewal now underway in West Virginia," said Oliverio.

Co-director Barbara Weaver, said "The conference not only met, but exceeded our wildest expectations. It was a very fruitful event. Several deals were made during the course of the day, but better than that -- long term relations were begun by the brightest and the best of the West Virginia small business community. My co-director, Ray Oliverio is to be commended for his vision in realizing that rural West Virginia is ready for conferences like "Focus 92."

Tammy Bailey

Glenville State College and the Miss America organization are sponsoring the Miss Glenville State College Pageant on Thursday, April 2, at 8 p.m. in the Art and Music Building Auditorium.

Six young women will compete for a cash scholarship and prizes, and the opportunity to advance to the State pageant in Clarksburg from June 25-27.

Contestants will be judged on talent, interview, evening gown, and swimsuit.

Competing for the title of Miss Glenville State College are: Tammy L. Bailey, Charlamayne Julie Blair, Amy Chandra Boggess, Amber Helen

Julie Blair

Holbert, Ellen Elizabeth Mullins, and Stephanie Jo Phillips.

Tammy Bailey, 21, of Clear Creek is pursuing a degree in behavioral science and criminal justice. She has been involved in FBLA, SADD, Student Council, FHA, basketball, chorus, and band.

She has special interest in tap, jazz, and ballet, and enjoys riding horses and white water rafting.

Her future ambition is to work with disadvantaged children and teens.

She is the daughter of Sammy and Sharon Bailey of Clear Creek.

Julie Blair, 18, of Charleston, a freshman at GSC, is pursuing a degree in medicine.

Ellen Mullins

She is interested in drawing, lifting weights, singing, and swimming.

She is the daughter of John and Charlotte Byrd of Charleston.

Amy Boggess, 21, of Ripley is pursuing a degree in elementary education. She has been involved in National Honor Society, Intramurals, and FHA. She has been named to the GSC dean's list, and is the Tau Kappa Epsilon Sweetheart.

Boggess is interested in water skiing, bowling, and exercising.

She is the daughter of Mike and Carol Boggess of Ripley.

Amber Holbert

Amber Holbert, 20, of Macfarlan, is pursuing a degree in chemistry.

Holbert was named to Who's Who in American High Schools, the National Honor Society, All-state softball, All-LKC softball, and All-LKC volleyball.

Holbert is a member of the Gilmer County Jaycees, and the American Chemical Society.

She is the daughter of Pamela K. Holbert of Macfarlan.

Ellen Mullins, 21, of Harrisville, is pursuing a degree in mathematics. She is interested in volleyball, bowling, sewing, reading, playing the piano, and singing.

At GSC she has been

Amy Boggess

named to the dean's list four out of five semesters.

She is the daughter of Noah and Marjo Mullins of Harrisville.

Stephanie Jo Phillips, 22, of Fairmont, is pursuing a degree in business management. She is interested in aerobic exercise, swimming, reading, collecting spoons, cosmetology, and working with small children.

Phillips is a member of the college yearbook and newspaper staffs.

She is the daughter of Larry and Velda Phillips of Fairmont.

GSC To Host Physical Plant Conference

Glenville State College is hosting the semi-annual meeting of the West Virginia Physical Plant Administrators, April 5-7. The Convention Center at Flatwoods is the site of the conference which will see approximately 45 representatives from the State College and University systems, and nearly 100 total participants.

According to Bruce Hathaway, director of the Glenville State College physical plant, between 20 and 30 different manufacturers will be represented at the meeting.

The education portion of the conference will include seminars on radon, the Americans with Disabilities Act, and maintenance of athletic fields.

Entertainment at the conference will include a tour of the Burnsville Dam, dinner at Glenville State College with an address by Dr. William K. Simmons, president, and a performance by the North Carolina Dance Theatre in the Auditorium of the Art and Music Building of Glenville State College.

"There is one extremely important facet of the program and this is the experience exchange. If we have a problem we can bring it up during one of the discussions and see what other colleges and universities have done to solve a similar problem. This period of activity also helps us keep abreast changes in laws - for instance EPA and OSHA," said Hathaway.

"I think that this is a good opportunity for Glenville State College to showcase its new Art and Music Building and the campus which we are very proud of," said Hathaway.

For more information on the conference, contact Bruce Hathaway at 462-4112.

Placement Office Announces International Students Seminar

The West Virginia University Career Services Center and the Office of International Students are sponsoring a seminar for international students entitled "Laws of Employability" on Wednesday, April 8, 1992. The seminar will begin at 3:00 PM in the Mountainlair Ballrooms on the downtown campus.

The purpose of the seminar is to educate international students and the higher education community on legal aspects associated with employment rights and privileges afforded to international students. A reception will be held from 5:00-5:30 PM to allow students the opportunity to meet individually with the guest speakers and seminar participants.

If you are interested in attending the seminar, please contact the Placement Office, Heflin Student Center, 462-4118, by April 3, 1992.

How do you feel "Focus 92," the first ever rural procurement conference, will impact small businesses of West Virginia?

photos by Heather Messenger

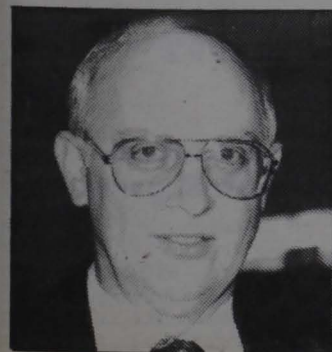

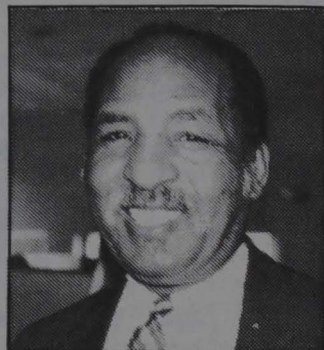

NAME: Samuel N. Strickland
TITLE: software engineer
BUSINESS: D.N. American
HOMETOWN: Fairmont, WV
ANSWER: "One thing it does is a lot of people don't know small businesses exist. Not only does it give small businesses a chance to meet other small businesses, but it also gives a chance for big businesses to meet small businesses. A lot of small businesses can do things cheaper than the big businesses."

NAME: Kay Conner
TITLE: manager of contract acquisition
BUSINESS: D.N. American
HOMETOWN: Clarksburg, WV
ANSWER: "I feel it will have a positive impact because in essence it has opened a lot of doors for small businesses to get into the market. It got them a lot of recognition and it will get more big businesses to look at the small communities."

NAME: Tom Ratliff
RANK: junior
MAJOR: business
HOMETOWN: Glenville, WV
ANSWER: "I think [that by] all the small businesses in West Virginia getting together in our small conference, they all will have a chance to share their ideas and by doing so everyone will have a generalized idea [and] you'll get all the different cultures throughout the state and that will also help Gilmer County as far as the local businesses getting started."

NAME: Dan Booker
TITLE: procurement analyst
BUSINESS: U.S. Department of Energy and Energy Technology
HOMETOWN: Pittsburgh, PA
ANSWER: "It should impact it well. I have attended a lot of conferences like this. The turnout was great. Two years ago I attended a conference in Charleston, and attendance was nothing compared to this."

NAME: Garold C. Carnell
TITLE: manager of material operations, missiles and space division
BUSINESS: Boeing Defense and Space Group
HOMETOWN: Huntsville, AL
ANSWER: "The purpose of the conference has showed in its capacity quite well. Conferences like this give a beginning for small businesses to learn about each others needs and capabilities."

Responsibility Goes Hand In Hand With Success

by Rebecca Hufford

Mike Tyson is upset that the media has made an example of him. He says he would not have received as much attention if he hadn't been famous. He's right. Doesn't it make sense that the former heavyweight boxing champion of the world would receive a lot of attention, no matter what he did? We didn't hear Tyson complaining when the exposure was positive.

I feel that an example should be made of Mike Tyson. Tyson was a role model for our children. Millions of young (and not so young) people looked up to him. They admired him for his strength - his determination. They heard the story of how Tyson was born with nothing, and through hard work and perseverance, he achieved greatness.

Tyson was a good role model for those people, but then he let them down. He let success, and the power that goes with it, go to his head. He forgot that we all must play by the same rules.

Some may feel that it isn't fair to lay all of this on Mike Tyson. He has enough to deal with right now. Besides, he didn't ask to become a role model. Too bad. Being a role model comes with the territory when one is in such a prominent position. If Tyson wasn't willing to accept the responsibility he shouldn't have accepted the glory.

Glenville State Student Fees Explained

by Tracey Moats

Included in each student's fees at Glenville State College are subfees that are not clearly understood by many students and parents. The following may give a clearer view of where each student's fees go.

The activity fee, which is $80 per semester, includes yearbook, intramurals and cultural affairs. Below is a list of items under the activity fee and the amount of each:

Yearbook	$ 9
Cultural Affairs	$ 6
Programming	$ 13
Student Congress	$ 6

Health	$ 20
Intramurals	$ 3
Music	$ 8
Speech	$ 4
Mercury	$ 10
Identification Card	$ 1

The operations fee is an unrestricted resource fee. It costs each student $30 per semester. It allows the college to meet miscellaneous obligations which may occur.

The athletic fee covers such things as protective equipment and uniforms, insurance, upkeep of grounds, coaches, and transportation.

Students pay $60 per semester for this fee.

Another fee that GSC students incur is the Student Union fee. This fee is $30 per semester. It covers the bonds that are involved with the residence halls and the student center.

SAS Sponsors Student Accounting Conference

by Jonathan Criner

When graduating from college, almost everyone is faced with the same proposition- getting a job. This time can be an intimidating, frustrating, and somewhat frightening experience.

To help make the transition from student to professional easier, the Student Accounting Society of Glenville State College is sponsoring the first West Virginia Student Accounting Conference on Friday, April 3.

The conference, located on the GSC campus, will run from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Clinics will be offered by speakers from all facets of the accounting profession, along with an exhibit area for firms, agencies, companies and suppliers. Topics to be addressed include: career opportunities in public, private, and government accounting; honing interviewing skills and resume preparation; accounting ethics; public service; and professional organization opportunities.

All academic ranks from several different colleges have been invited to attend. Registration is $15, which will cover lunch and all materials for the conference.

"Everyone with which I have spoken [is] for it," said Cheryl McKinney, CPA assistant professor. She went on to say that the conference will help students make contacts by networking with other students from other colleges.

For more information on the conference, contact McKinney at extension 239.

Nominations Sought for Mr. and Mrs. GSC Week

For the spring of 1992, the GSC Week Committee has decided to experiment with something a little new to the festivities. This year we would like to have a Mr. and Ms. GSC Week.

Nominations will be taken in the Office of Student Services beginning Thursday, March 26 and ending Friday, April 3. Any individual or organization may nominate free of charge.

Elections for Mr. and Ms. GSC Week will be held in the Heflin Center Lobby between the hours of 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. This will occur April 6 through April 10. The votes will be cast by pennies. If you are unable to vote during the before stated hours you may do so at any time through that week in the Office of Student Services.

Mr. and Ms. GSC Week winners will be announced during the GSC Week Spring Ball. The winner must be present to receive their awards.

Remember to nominate yourself or your friend(s) and don't forget to vote!

Snowshoe Weekend Set

The Second Annual Snowshoe Symphony Weekend is set for Saturday and Sunday, August 29-30, as the West Virginia Symphony will again perform under the Snowshoe music tent. The 60-piece orchestra will render two distinct repertoires, for an expected crowd of over 2,000. Enjoy the magical weekend atop Snowshoe's beautiful mountain, with an unmatched panoramic vista.

All of the summer events are part of the resort's continuing effort to develop as a four-season destination resort. For more information on any of the events, write to Snowshoe, P.O. Box 10 Snowshoe, WV or call (304)-572-1000.

Glenville State Golfers Place First Again

The GSC golf team won their own tournament on Thursday by shooting an opening round of 381 to beat the University of Charleston by four strokes, who shot a 385 as a team.

The tournament, which was held at the Oxbow Country Club in Belpre, Ohio, was scheduled as a two day tournament to be held on Thursday and Friday, but the second round was cancelled due to poor weather conditions. Both snow and rain led to the cancellation of Friday's round. The team scores on Thursday counted as the final score.

Last week, rankings for NAIA were released and the GSC golf team was ranked 12th in the nation.

Medalist honors for the Glenville State Invitational went to GSC's Michael Barrett who shot a 70 on Thursday. The Pioneers brought two teams to the tournament and the second team finished ninth overall out of 18 teams with a team total of 415. Teams entered into the tournament were allowed to bring six golfers per squad and the top five scores from each were taken.

Percussion Ensemble Wins Over Crowd

by Anthony Riffe

The GSC Percussion Ensemble gave a magnificent spring performance on March 26 and 27. Those who went to see the show seemed to thoroughly enjoy each song, melody, medley and tune. The show was a mixture of suspense, humor and excitement. The songs ranged from country to rag to rock. Garth Brooks' "Friends In Low Places" was a hit that brought many screams and cheers from the crowd, and the Irish tune "From Country Derry" was absolutely beautiful. John McKinney's humorous touch of the Jeopardy game show tune seemed to strike everyone's funny bone. The ensemble ended with a standing ovation, and a well deserved one at that.

Sharon Westfall and Wes Gladwell, who both attended the performance, raved about it. Westfall commented by saying, "The Percussion Ensemble members played with such ease, the many hours they spent preparing showed up in quality of the music. Now that it's over, I can't wait 'till next year's!" Gladwell also gave it two thumbs up.

Although McKinney didn't say, many hours of leisure and studying were probably sacrificed to make the ensemble the overall smash hit it was.

North Carolina Dance Theatre to Perform

The North Carolina Dance Theatre will perform a mixed repertoire program on Monday, April 6 at 8 p.m. in the Art and Music Building Auditorium on the campus of Glenville State College.

Founded in 1970, the North Carolina Dance Theatre has become one the most sought after and highly acclaimed professional dance companies performing today. Under the artistic direction of Salvatore Aiello, NCDT has developed an exciting and entertaining repertoire ranging in style from the classical to the contemporary.

The spring 1992 tour will visit 19 cities in four states, traveling with a company of 16 dancers. NCDT has won audience and critical acclaim in hundreds of cities coast to coast, and The London Times has said of the company, "If they decided to settle in Britain, they would be among our top six ballet companies."

This program is presented with financial assistance through an Arts and Humanities Grant from the West Virginia Commission of Arts, Division of Culture and History.

Tickets are free to members of the campus community and $5 for all other

Movie Review

'Fried Green Tomatoes'

by Anthony Riffe

I recently got the pleasure of seeing "Fried, Green Tomatoes". "Fried, Green Tomatoes" is based on the lives of two women in a basically small town setting. The two women are brought together by tragic circumstances as young girls. Later in their lives they would be brought back together only to discover the tom-boyish ways of one and the feminine ways of the other remained unchanged. Although feelings of hatred between the two girls were apparent they quickly became friends and then the real story begins.

"Fried, Green Tomatoes" is guaranteed to keep you either crying or laughing. I will warn you that this movie is packed with tragedies, but it compares with "Steel Magnolias" in leaving you with the complete feeling of laughter through tears. Even the toughest men might find themselves getting a little teary-eyed during this flick. I have to give "Fried, Green Tomatoes" a respectable double-upper.

Extravaganza Coming To Glenville State

An extravaganza scholarship fund raiser will be held Friday, April 24, at 8 p.m. in the Glenville State College Art and Music Auditorium.

The program, being held to raise scholarship money for future Miss Glenville State College Pageants, is sponsored by the pageant committee.

Contestants from the Miss Alabama Pageant, the Miss West Virginia Pageant, and several winners of West Virginia preliminary pageants will perform their talents.

According to Pat Laughlin, executive director of the Miss Glenville State College Pageant, "This show will give the young women an opportunity to have stage time to be critiqued, and a chance to enhance their performance. These young women are professionals and they intend to create a great show."

Tickets are $1 for GSC students and $4 for all others.

Alpha Psi Omega

A meeting of the Theta Alpha cast of Alpha Psi Omega was held on Thursday, March 26. The cast would like to wish a fond farewell to Don Pepe, our business manager. We wish him luck in the future. An initiation ceremony and awards ceremony is coming up soon. Those who are eligible for initiation will be hearing for us soon.

Sigma Sigma Sigma

The members of Tri-Sigma Sorority held a formal meeting on Monday, March 23. Many issues were discussed concerning activities that we will be involved with throughout the rest of the semester.

The annual Tri-Sigma formal will be held on Friday, May 1 in the ballroom. Preparations are being made and we plan to have a great time.

The rush party held on March 19 was a big success and a lot of fun. We would like to thank the girls who attended and commend the members of the sorority for their hard work. Another rush party will be held in April. The date, time, and theme will be posted around campus. All interested girls are welcome to come.

We would like to announce that we will be selling candy sticks for 10 cents a piece starting this week. Anyone wishing to purchase some candy may contact any sister of Tri-Sigma.

Congratulations to Dawn Crites on her recent engagement and April Hartshorn on her upcoming marriage. Good luck. We love you guys.

Delta Zeta

The Theta Xi Chapter of the Delta Zeta Sorority held their weekly chapter meeting on March 25. Plans were finalized for Province IV Weekend in Ripley, West Virginia. Also discussed were plans for the upcoming visit of a field representative.

Congratulations to Chrissy Gutwein, Kelly Reese, and Nancy Matz (mom) on their recent initiation. Chrissy is the new historian chaplain and lamp editor and Kelly is the pledge educator for the spring semester.

More congratulations goes out to Tracey Moats for being Kanawhachen editor and Kelly Reese for being assistant editor.

A ceremony was held on March 24, 1992 to honor Thelma Samples for her 25 dedicated years to Delta Zeta. Thank you Thelma, you are an inspirator.

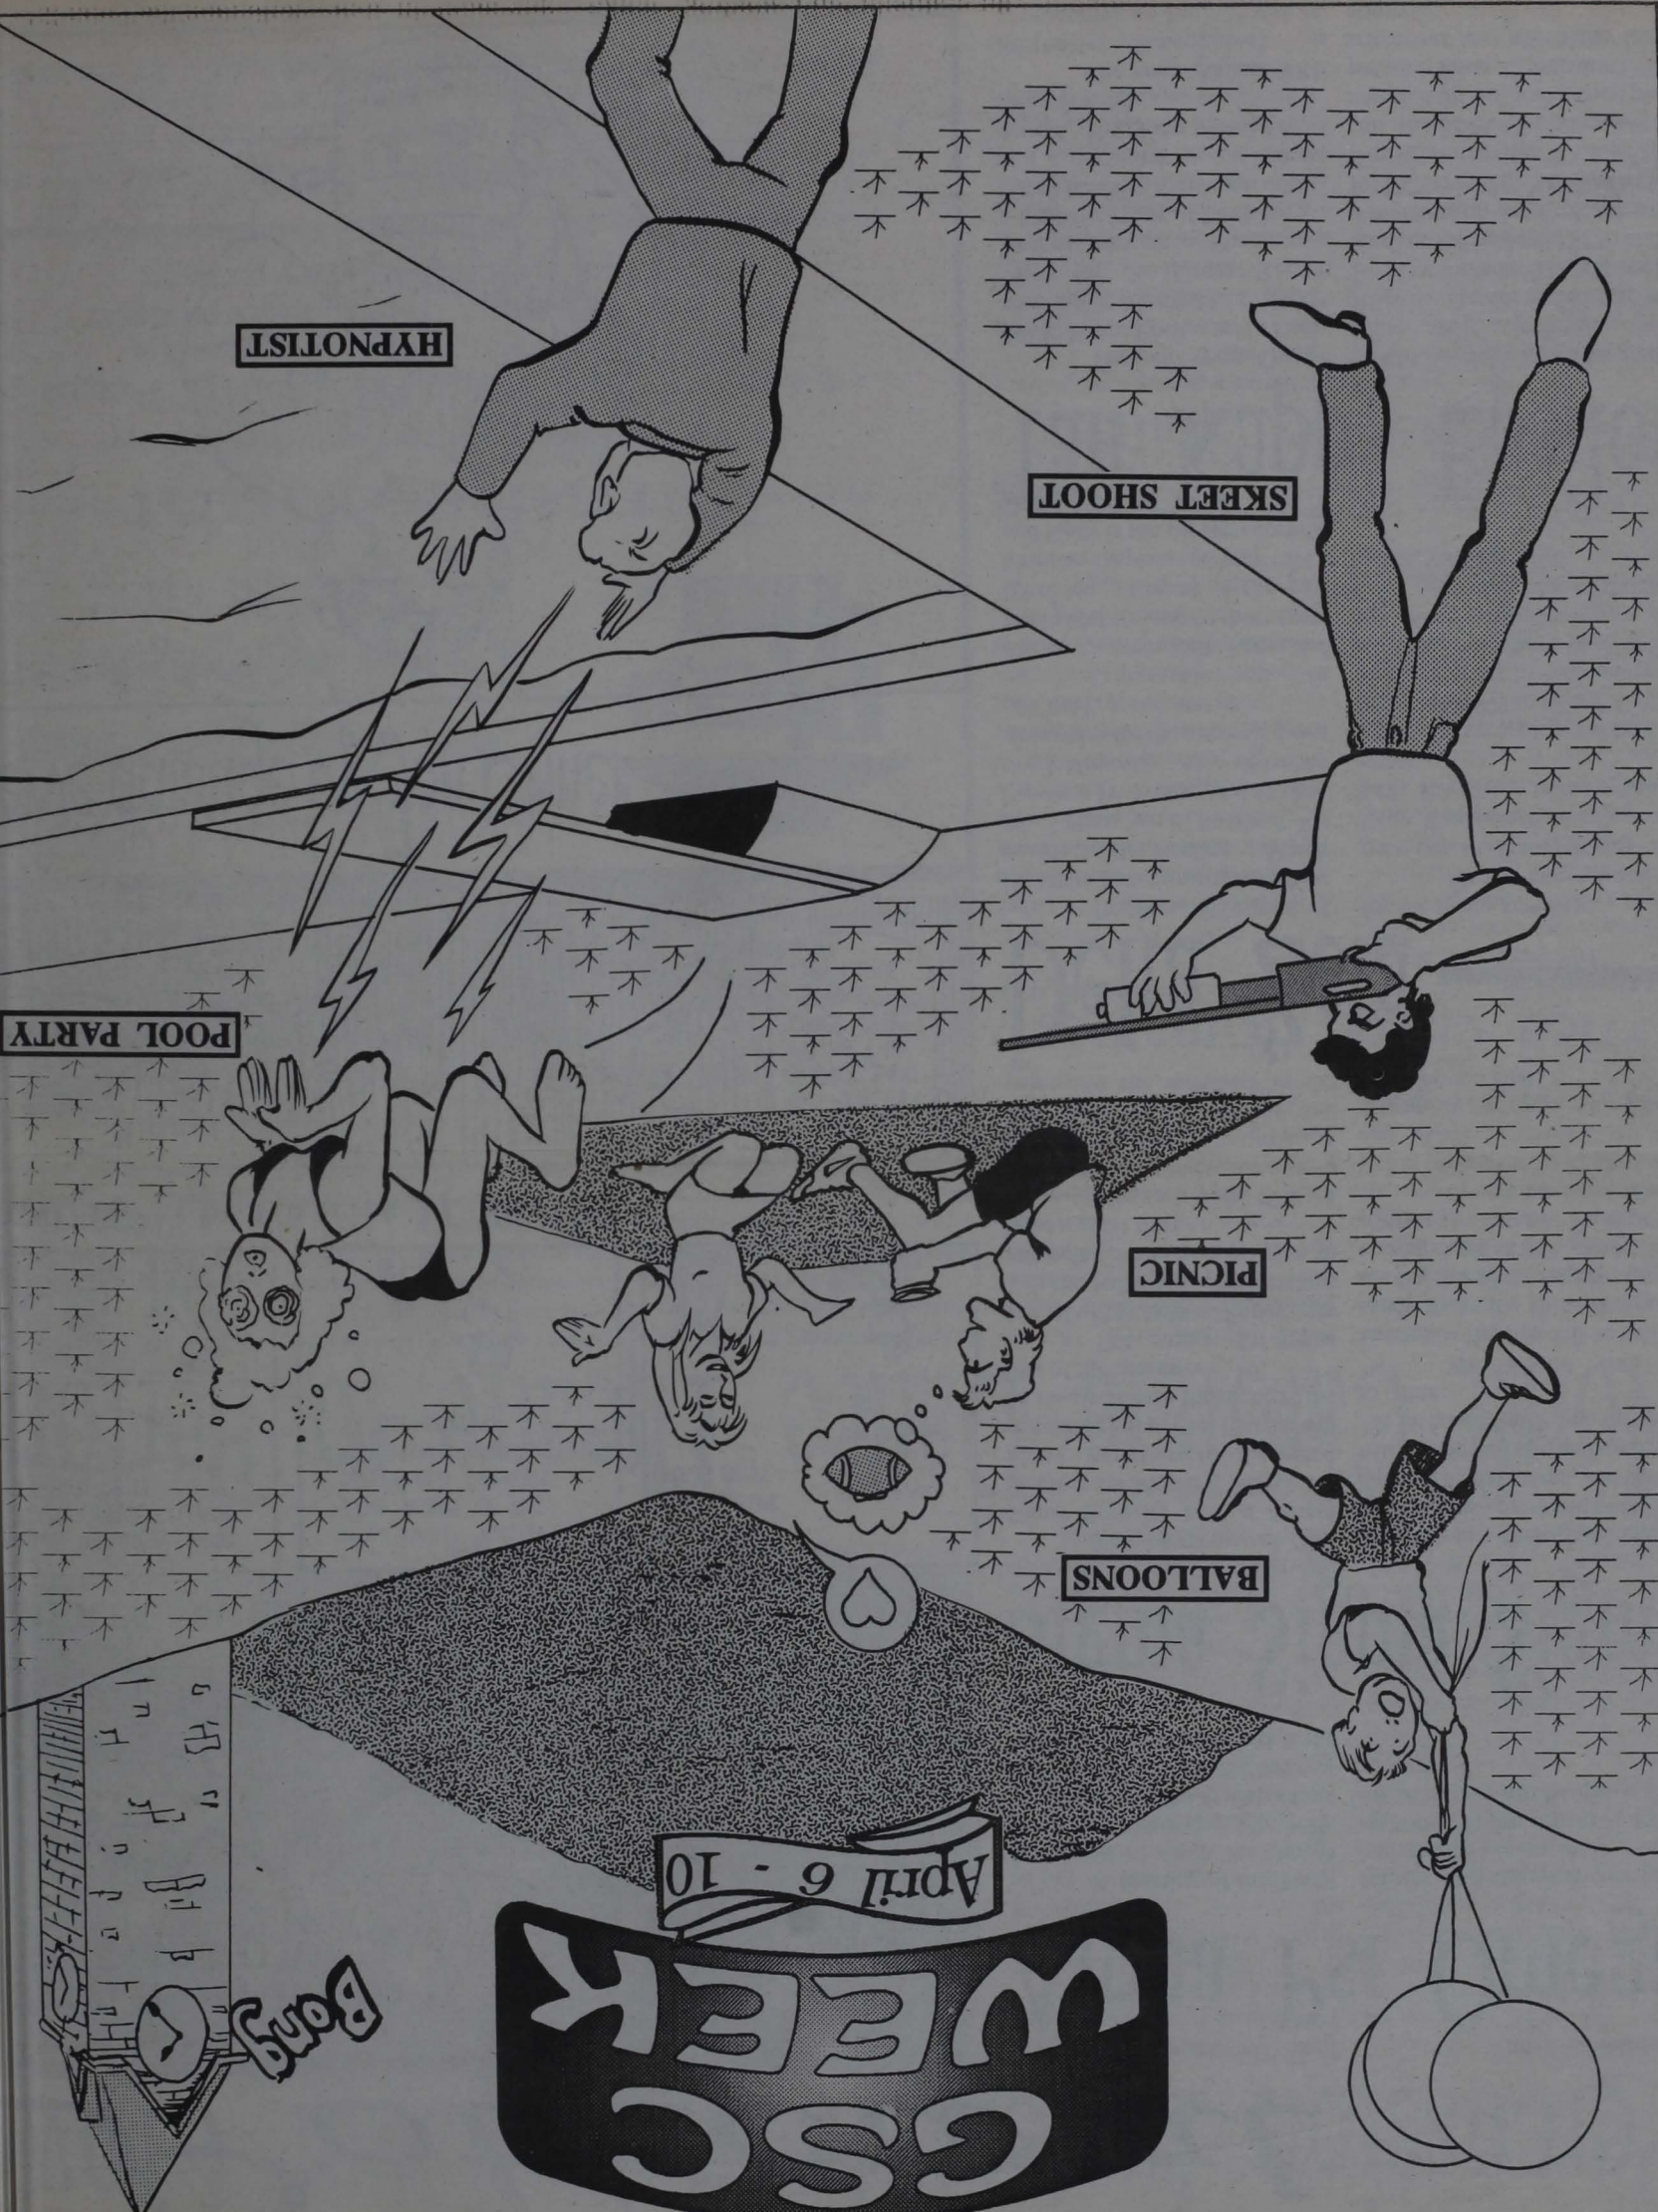

Monica, keep up the great work! We love you!

Tau Kappa Epsilon

The Iota Omega Chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon held a formal meeting on March 23, in AB 305. Plans for the Greek Retreat weekend were made. They include a historical tour of Lewisburg, a Greek meeting, whitewater rafting, and a documented self-defense course. Everyone please have a safe weekend.

The sixth Annual TKE Softball Tournament is approaching on April 25 and 26.

It will be held at Cedar Creek State Park, Cedarville, WV. Registration fee is $65 and two Red Dot softballs. The registration deadline will be April 15. To obtain a registration form, please write to: TKE c/o GSC, 200 High Street, Box 101, Glenville, WV 26351, or call 462-8299. Trophies will be awarded for first and second place teams.
